Camp near Corinth, Mississippi, April 21st, 1862.

ALA. DEPT. ARCHIVES & HISTORY MRD

Dear Friend with great pleasure I avail myself of this opportunity to drop you a few lines. We got here last Thursday Evening. it took us several days to get here, we had to come such a way around before we could get here. We got all of our things here safe only we got some of our Eggs Broke and we had to change cars in such a hurry at Kingston that we left our Confederate hats in the cars. I never hated anything as bad in all my life, But it is war times and we can't help it, George is well, and likes the camp life tolerable well. I do not feel well today, but I hope that my health will improve, and we fondly hope that this may find you all well. I give your Brother William the things that you sent to him, and he is well, But he don't look as well as he did. Several of our Boys are sick, and we haven't got but a few men that is able for duty, But we are going to move our camp tomorrow, in about one mile of Corinth, where we will have Good Water. I think then that the health of the Regiment will improve. Well Tom Bob is a prisoner, he was detailed to help carry the wounded men of the Battlefields, and him and seven of our Boys were taken, when our Men fell back the Yankees took them prisoners, But our Colonel says that he will get them back again in a short time, the Yankees are willing to Exchange Prisoners, we will get them back. Twenty nine of our Boys was wounded and Nat Burns is supposed to be killed, the Boys says that he fell Badly wounded. I saw the most of our wounded Boys and there wounds looked vary bad, the most of them are gone home on furloughs. Sam

McAlister is in the Hospital in Mobile. I saw him as we come through, and he is badly wounded, he was shot through the thigh with a Minnie Ball, and he has got the Measels, poor fellow he is in a bad condition But I hope that he will soon get well, there is nine hundred and fifty yankee prisoners in Mobile I went and saw them, and some of them are a rough looking set, they are throwing up Breastworks here and preparing for another Battle But I don't think that the yankees will ever fight us anymore here, I think they are tiard of it. It is said that we lost twenty five hundred men, and the yankees lost twenty thousand. The yankees lost four Generals and we lost tow, General Johnson and General Gladden was killed. There is several thousand men about here, I never saw so many men together in all my life, there has been a great deal of Rain here, and we have a Muddy time, But we enjoy ourselves toleral well, for it is War times. There is so many men camped about here that the camps looks like a large Town of white Houses. Thomas you had better step over some Saturday Evening and see us, and see us cooking a pot of meat and dumplings, and take Supper with us, and we will have a candy pulling, for it is war times out here. Give my best Respect and Sincere good wishes to your Mother and Sisters and tell them all howdy for me, and George sends his best Respects to you all, I think that we can whip the yankees out by fall and come home, and have some more parties. You must write to me and write all the news, and I will write you all the news in the camps---But be sure to write, it is wet and cold and I will close. I Remain yours truly, Wm. T. Moore

To Mr. Thomas Anderson,

Tell all my friends to write to me, direct your letter to Corinth Mississippi.

Camp Jones August 22, 1821

Dear friend I drop you a few lines to let you know that I am well and well Satisfied with a camp life. we had a pleasant trip from Gadsden here and we have a Butifull place for our camp. we are close to plenty of good water, and close to a Butifull Town And plenty of fine Ladies who cheer us up as we pop along the Streets with there Smiles and charms, But I expect to Marry in old Cherokee. we are vary well fixed. we have good Tents, and we have plenty to Eat, we have a vary agreeable company, and good officers who treat us kindly: we had Preaching in our camp Sunday Morning and Evening. we are drilling and learn vary fast. we were Mustered in to the Service last Saturday Evening and will draw our arms in a few days. I Saw a Regment from Mifippi last Saturday on there way to Richmond. I do not know how long we will stay here perhaps a good while. the Ladies of Huntsville visit us Every Day and Seem to take a deep interest in our wellfare. I want you to write to me as soon as you get this And write to me all the News generally and then I will have Something that is interesting to write to you. Give my love and Sincere good wishes to all the family and all my friends and accept the same yourself. I remain, yours truly.

Co. K of Blount County, James Skinner, Captain.

ALABAMA DEPARTMENT OF ARCHIVES AND HISTORY

Of the above named Captains, Capt. McKenzie was slightly wounded in the battle of Shiloh, and killed in skirmish at Corinth, June 17, 1862.

Capt. Hanby's shoulder was partly shot away in the Battle of Shiolh, from which he still carries a useless arm, and now lives in Jefferson Co.

Capt. Hollingsworth was promoted to Gen. Tracy's staff, and died at Gadsden.

Capt. Kirkpatrick resigned in 1863 because of old age and inability to serve, and died at Kirk's Grove after the surrender.

Capt. R. B. Rhea was badly wounded in the shoulder in the battle of Shiloh and still carries a paralyzed arm. He resides in Attalla.

Capt. Millsaps resigned for diability in 1863, partially recovered and raised a Cavalry company and served until the surrender. Died in Chattooga County Georgia a few years since.

Capt. Cunningham was promoted to Gen. Tracy's staff and died later at Gadsden

Capt. Savage was wounded at the battle of Shiloh, his sword and belt being shot off, and was severely wounded at Kennesaw Mountain in 1864. Surrendered with his Company at Greensboro N. C. April, 1865. Resides in Birmingham.

Capt. Skinner resigned in 1863 came home and moved to Mississippi. Lost.

Joe Wheeler was the first Colonel of the Regiment, and served as Colonel for a year and was assigned to the Cavalry and promoted to Brigadier General in 1862.

E. D. Tracy of Huntsville was Lt. Col of the Regiment and promoted to Grigadier General in 1862 and transferred to Mississippi Department, and killed at Port Hudson in 1863.

Samuel K. McSpadden was Major of the Regiment, was promoted to Lt. Col and then to Colonel, and was captured at Resaca on the 4th night of May, 1864, and was confined in a Northern prison at Johnson Island until the surrender in April 1865. Being an eminent lawyer, after reconstruction he was elected Chancellor of the N. E. Chancery Division two consecutive terms, discharging the duties of his office faithfully and with credit to him self and to the satisfaction of the bar, and died at Centre, Ala., just before the expiration of his second term. Left Mrs. Charlcie McSpadden, his widow, and as his only child and heir, Mrs. Loula Cardon, Centre, Alabama.

Captain Kimbrough was promoted to Major and then Lt. Col. and was in command of the Regiment during the last year of the war, and surrendered in command of it at Greensboro, N. C. in 1865. He now resides at Emory, Texas.

THE NINETEENTH ALABAMA INFANTRY.

The Nineteenth Alabama infantry was organized at Huntsville, August, 1861; served at Mobile and Pensacola until February, 1862, when it joined the army at Corinth; made a brilliant record at the battle of Shiloh, where it lost 219 killed and wounded; was in the Kentucky campaign and prominent at Murfreesboro, December 31st to January 2d; was engaged in the fighting incident to the retreat of the army from Tullahoma to Chattanooga, June 27 to July 4, 1863; added increased luster to its reputation at Chickamauga, September 19th and 20th, and was warmly engaged at Missionary Ridge, November 23d to 25th. The Nineteenth was in the Georgia campaign from May until September, 1864, taking part with great credit in the numerous battles of that heated campaign, including the fighting around Dalton, May 7th to May 9th; Resaca, May 13th to 15th; Cassville, May 19th to 22d; Kenesaw, June 9th to 30th; Peachtree Creek, July 20th; the great battle on the Decatur road, July 22d; Ezra Chapel, July 28th; Jonesboro, August 31st and September 1st, and Lovejoy's Station, September 2d to 6th. The regiment went with General Hood into Tennessee, and fought with gallantry at Franklin, November 30th; at Nashville, December 13th to 16th, and also at Bentonville, N. C., March 19 to 21, 1865.

Among the killed were: Capts. William R. McKenzie, May 29th, at Corinth; R. J. Healey, at Murfreesboro;

H. L. Houston, at Atlanta; Capt. Nathan J. Venable, at Marietta; Capt. Ed. Thornton, at Jonesboro; Lieut. Joseph B. High, at Chickamauga.

Its field officers were: Cols. Joseph Wheeler and Samuel K. McSpadden; Lieut.-Cols. Edward D. Tracy, afterward brigadier-general and killed near Port Gibson, May 1, 1863, George R. Kimbrough and Nick Davis. Its majors were James H. Savage and Solomon Palmer.

NINETEENTH ALABAMA—(INFANTRY).

The Nineteenth was organized at Huntsville, August 14, 1861, and at once ordered to Mobile. It remained there about three months, then was at Pensacola a fortnight. Ordered to Corinth, the regiment was brigaded under General Gladden of Louisiana, with the Twenty-second, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Alabama regiments, to which the Thirty-ninth was added after the battle of Shiloh. In that battle the Nineteenth received its appalling baptism of blood, losing 110 killed and 240 wounded of the 650 that followed its colors into the action. Gen. Frank Gardner soon after succeeded to the command of the brigade, and led it into Kentucky, where it did not come in collision with the foe. It retired with the army, and fought at Murfreesboro, with a loss of about one hundred killed and wounded, about one-fourth of its strength. Gen. Deas of Mobile succeeded to the command of the brigade, and led it at Chicamauga, where it again lost very heavily. The casualties were few at Mission Ridge, and the Nineteenth wintered at Dalton. In the almost cessant battle from that place to Atlanta, the regiment lost largely in casualties, particularly at New Hope and near Marietta. The brigade being under Gen. Johnston of Perry, the Nineteenth was badly cut up in the battles of July 22 and 28 at Atlanta. It suffered lightly at Jonesboro, but, having followed Gen. Hood into Tennessee, the Nineteenth lost severely in prisoners at Franklin, with few casualties. It went to North Carolina, and was engaged at Kinston and Bentonville, losing largely in the latter battle. Consolidated with the Fortieth and the Forty-sixth Alabama regiments at Salisbury (with M. L. Woods of Montgomery as colonel, and Ezekiel Gully of Sumter as lieutenant colonel), the Nineteenth surrendered at that place, 76 strong.
