MILL WORKERS GO ON A STRIKE

Dwight Cotton Mills First Of Alabama Textiles To Meet Labor Tie-Up

ALABAMA CITY, Ala., July 13. —Seventeen hundred employes of the Dwight Manufacturing Company cotton mill have walked out on strike.

They demanded a 30-hour work week, minimum wage of 33 1-3 cents an hour, elimination of the so-called "stretch-out" or discharged for union activities.

Textile union representatives will meet at Birmingham next Sunday to consider a statewide cotton mill strike. About 38 union chapters have voted to strike.
