BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

REV. R. M. SAUNDERS, PRESIDENT, and Professor of Mental, Moral and Natural Science.

MRS. M. J. T. SAUNDERS, ASSOCIATE PRINCIPAL, Teacher of English Literature and Mathematics.

E. TARRANT, Professor of Ancient Languages.

MISS M. E. FAIRWEATHER, Principal of Primary and Preparatory Department.

W. K. GRABER, Professor of Instrumental and Vocal Music.

MISS ALICE V. TOOMER, Assistant in Music.

MADAME ADELE DELOFFRE, Instructress in French Language and Literature.

Boarding Department—Mr. and Mrs. Saunders.

Matron—Mrs. Maria Hamilton.

THE next session of this Institution will commence on the 1st Monday in October.

The Principal and Trustees having been unremitting in the effort to provide every facility for the acquisition of a symmetrical education, present with confidence, the claims of the Institution to the enlightened appreciation and generous support of Southern parents.

Every Department has been thoroughly organized, and efficient and experienced teachers employed to take charge of each.

The Department of Music continues under the supervision of Prof. Graber, a refined gentleman, an accomplished artist, and successful teacher. The study of the "Theory of Music' has been within the past year introduced in the Musical Course—a step which, it is confidently hoped, will do much to prevent the general abandonment of music, of which parents so justly complain when their daughters have gone out from the instruction of Masters.

To meet a demand of the South which has hitherto been supplied by the North, arrangements have been made to organize a Normal or Teacher's class, the object of which is to educate young ladies, especially for the profession of teaching.

In order to render the study of the Modern Languages, particularly the French, something more than a mere compliance with the general expectation that it shall enter into every liberal course of study, the services of an accomplished French lady have been secured, whose extensive acquaintance with, and long and successful experience in teaching the French Language and Literature, and an almost equally critical knowledge of the English, place the success of this department on the firmest possible basis. The pupils are thoroughly taught the structure and philosophy of the language, and learn to write and speak it correctly and gracefully. In view of the fact, that we, as a nation, hope soon to establish direct and familiar relations with France, special attention should be given to the study of the French Language.

A Department of the Arts of Design, similar in its salient features to the European Schools has been recently established under the direction of one of the first artists in America, and its success thus far has been equally commensurate with the importance of its legitimate objects of study. Designing, which is the highest and one of the most important applications of imaginative and industrial art, will be taught as far as practicable in all its branches. A room has been beautifully and opulently furnished with statuary, casts, paintings, shells, vases, stuffed birds, &c., &c., so that every assistance will be afforded for the successful prosecution of art studies.

For a catalogue, or further information, apply to Hon. J. J. Ormond or Rev. R. M. Saunders, Tuscaloosa, Ala. J. J. ORMOND,

☞ The Yankee press talks and threatens as fiercely as ever, and their Congress adopts the most ferocious and inhuman measures. They tell us they have hitherto treated us with humanity, but that henceforth they shall handle us with gloves off. Confiscation, hanging, organized African insurrection, are to be our future portion. We are used to their truculent talk. They must not suppose, because it is not retorted in kind, that the silence of the South arises from any other emotion than contempt. We cannot bandy words with these animals, whose bark is worse than their bite.—When they put in execution some of their present inhuman threats, the South will reply, by taking an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. Woe to these demons when they unfurl their "death's head and cross bones," in anything but figures of speech!

Rats Deserting a Sinking Ship.—A Northern paper states that numbers of the people of Maine and other States are moving into Canada to avoid the impending draft of soldiers in Yankee land.—We learn from other sources of information that a similar exodus from Philadelphia and New York is going on. Natives as well as aliens are converting their possessions into geld, and embarking for trans Atlantic countries in steamers and sailing packets, not only to avoid conscription, but to avoid the privations and suffering threatened by the superabundance of shinplanter currency, and the general suspension of business in Lincolndom.

Lieut. Gen. George B. McClellan—Young Napoleon.

He is fallen. We may now pause before this splendid prodigy which towered amongst us like some ancient ruin.

Grand, gloomy and pestered, he sat upon his seat, an unsceptered hermit, wrapped in solitude because of Halleck' appointment. A mind bold, independent and decisive; a will despotic in its dictates; an energy that distanced pursuit, and a conscience pliable to every touch of interest, marked the outline of this extraordinary character—the most extraordinary, perhaps, that in the annals of this war ever rose, or ran, or fell.

Flung into life in the midst of a revolution, he commenced his course a stranger by birth, a soldier by education, and a railroad man by occupation. He knew no motive but interest; he acknowledged no criterion but success. He worshipped no God but abolition, and with an Eastern devotion he knelt at the shrine of Lincolnism. Subsidiary to this, there was no creed he did not profess, there was no story he did not promulgate. In the hope of office, he upheld abolition; for the sake of office, he bowed before abolition. The captain of a railroad, he became the adopted child of the republic, and, with a parricidal ingratitude, on the ruins both of the railroad and the republic, he reared a pedestal off of which he fell.

A professed Christian, he butchered his own kindred; a pretended patriot, he impoverished the country; and, in the name of Napoleon, he grasped more than he could hold.

Through this pantomime of his policy, fortune played the dickens with his caprices. Even evident defeat assumed the appearance of victory. His flight from Richmond confirmed his destiny—ruin itself only elevated him out of his place. But if his fortune was great, his genius was transcendant; decision flashed upon his counsels; but it was not the same to decide and to perform. To inferior intellects his combinations appeared perfectly impossible, his plans perfectly impracticable; but in his hands simplicity marked their development, and failure followed their adoption.

His person partook of the character of his mind: if the one never yielded in the cabinet, the other certainly did in the field.

Such is a faint and feeble picture of the young Napoleon, the first (and it is to be hoped the last) emperor of the Yankees.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Oxford, Ala., July 30th, 1862.

Dear Reporter:—Knowing as you do my passionate love of the country, and my undisguised partiality for the noble people of Calhoun, you will not be surprised to learn that I am really "rusticating" most gloriously, ensconsed as your "assistant" is in the embrace of the green woods, at the residence of my best friend, S——, of whom you have often heard me speak in connection with my oft repeated wish to unbend my mind, and rest my tired faculties amid the engendering mountains of this Switzerland region of our beloved State. The dear old mountains soar as lofty as ever, and impress me equally with their stern grandeur as they did when first I beheld their cloud crested summits. They seem to me as old acquaintances, and my eyes rest long and lovingly upon them, because I wish a more vivid transcript of their majestic loveliness upon the canvass of imagination when I depart hence.

The region of country about Oxford is the finest portion of Calhoun county, both in respect to the richness of the soil and the wealth of the planters generally. But I regret to say that the corn crop here has suffered very much for the want of rain. Indeed, there will not be half the quantity made that might have been looked for had the drought been less severe. This is the case, I am told, in the greater portion of this county. Still there is no cause for panic on the score of bread, there being such a breadth of land devoted to corn, in the absence of the usual cotton crop. Besides, there has been much late corn planted, which will probably do well, so that all things being considered, the people will have enough to feed themselves, fatten their stock, and have a surplus to spare for our army besides. The corn fields skirting the railroad between this and Selma are not so promising as I had hoped. The rain that has fallen during the past month has been confined to narrow belts of land.—However, in low moist land, I noticed some very good corn—as good, I think, as ever I saw.

Col. John T. Morgan's regiment is encamped here, and I understand that his men are making fine progress in the drill exercise. They are a gallant set of fellows, and ride the best of horses. I saw one company on parade this morning, and was pleased to witness the grace of their horsemanship, and the ease with which they picked up their dropped off hats without dismounting from their saddles.

I will write you from Jacksonville next, as I will probably leave here on to-morrow morning. I should have left to-day but did not, having no power to resist the importunities of "mine host," who is a friend of Long Syne. He is feeding me on all that is rich, rare, and hard to come at in Selma, and you must know that I am indeed recruited. He has a large and splendid orchard of choice fruit, containing apples, pears and peaches, and I have not failed to do justice to this part of the many good things he has put before me. I am loath to leave Oxford, for under this roof I have experienced such "a feast of reason and flow of soul" as to make it forever "a green spot in memory's waste." But enough; I will not jade the reader, but write anon.

The Total Loss in the Battles Before Richmond.—The New York Times says that the following statement, which comes from an official source, may be relied upon as a perfectly correct enumeration of the Yankee losses during the six days' battles before Richmond:

Corps.	Killed.	Wound'd	Miss'g	Total
Franklin,	245	1,313	1,179	2,737
Sumner,	170	1,068	348	2,086
Keyes	62	507	801	777
Heintzlman,	180	1,051	1 033	2 073
Porter,	873	3,760	2,779	7,352
Cavalry	19	60	97	176
Engineers	2	2	21	23
Total,	1,505	7,701	5,038	15,224

☞ The Talladega Watchtower of the 29th says: Adjutant James E. Shelley, of the 10th Alabama Regiment, arrived at home a week ago, and we are glad to say, in a much better condition than was anticipated. His wound is a very severe one, the ball having entered just under the right lung, and came out near the spine. He is at his father's and doing well. His numerous friends are much rejoiced at the prospect of his speedy recovery. No purer patriot or more chivalrous soldier ever entered the Confederate army. We earnestly hope he may soon be restored to health, and long live to enjoy the liberties he so gallantly defended.

Chinese Dispensation of Justice.—A letter dated Shanghai, May 3d, states that the keeper of an eating house in that city, had, a few days before, charged a visitor with eating a quantity of rice not paid for, when an angry dispute arose. A mandarin was sent for, who ordered the victim to be ripped open to ascertain whether he had swallowed the food. It was done, and no rice found. A false charge had been made; and to put things to rights (according to Chinese ideas,) the head of the accuser was quickly taken off, when the magistrate was ready for another job.

The Interview between the Border State Representatives and Lincoln.

On Saturday, the 12th inst., the representatives of the "border" States assembled by invitation, at the Presidential mansion in Washington, and were addressed by Lincoln "from a paper which he held in his hand." He commenced by sadly reproaching them for not voting for the gradual emancipation resolution, sent to Congress in March. He then urged emancipation on them, and said:

If the war continues long, as it must if the object be not sooner attained, the institution in your States will be extinguished by mere friction and abrasion—by the mere incidents of the war. It will be gone, and you will have nothing valuable in lieu of it. Much of its value is gone already. How much better for you and for your people to take the step which at once shortens the war, and secures substantial compensation for that which is sure to be wholly lost in any other event! How much better to thus save the money which else we sink forever in the war! How much better to do it while we can, lest the war ere long render us pecuniarily unable to do it!—How much better for you, as seller, and the nation, as buyer, to sell out and buy out that without which the war could never have been, than to sink both the thing to be sold and the price of it in cutting one another's throats!

I do not speak of emancipation at once, but of a decision at once to emancipate gradually. Room in South America for colonization can be obtained cheaply and in abundance, and when numbers shall be large enough to be company and encouragement for one another, the freed people will not be so reluctant to go.

He then alluded to his disagreement with General Hunter's proclamation, and the "powerful party that supported it," and added:

Yet, in repudiating it, I gave dissatisfaction, if not offence, to many whose support the country cannot afford to lose. And this is not the end of it. The pressure in this direction is still upon me, and is increasing. By conceding what I now ask, you can relieve me, and, much more, can relieve the country in this important point.

He then advised them to go home and deliberate on his request, which they did, and, a few days after, the conclusion of the majority was made public. They are sensitive about interfering with an institution peculiarly under the control of the States, and then they are appalled by the sum to be paid for the slaves, which would be $1 200,000,000, even at $800 per head, the compensation contained in the emancipation act for the District of Columbia. They are alarmed at his sentence about the Hunter proclamation, and say:

We will not allow ourselves to think that the proposition is, that we consent to give up slavery to the end that the Hunter proclamation may be let loose on the Southern people, for it is too well known that we would not be parties to any such measure, and we have too much respect for you to imagine you would propose it. Can it mean that by sacrificing our interest in slavery we appease the spirit that controls that pressure, cause it to be withdrawn, and rid the country of the pressure on the slavery question? We are forbidden so to think, for that spirit would not be satisfied with the liberation of 700,000 slaves, and cease its agitation, while three million remain in bondage. Can it mean that by abandoning slavery in our States we are removing the pressure from you and the country, by preparing for a separation on the line of the cotton States? We are forbidden so to think, because it is known that we are unalterably opposed to any division at all. We would prefer to think that you desire this concession as a pledge of our support, and thus enable you to withstand a pressure which weighs heavily on you and the country. Mr. President, no such sacrifice is necessary to secure our support.

They announce their willingness to leave it to a vote of the people in their respective States, but say:

Before they ought to consider the proposition, it should be pronounced in such a tangible, practical, efficient shape as to command their confidence, that its fruits are contingent only upon their acceptance. We cannot trust anything to the contingencies of future legislation. If Congress, by proper and necessary legislation, shall provide sufficient funds, and place them at your disposal to be applied by you to the payment of any of our States, or the citizens thereof, who shall adopt the abolishment of slavery, either gradual or immediate, as they may determine, and the expense of deportation and colonization of the liberated slaves, then will our States and people take this proposition into careful consideration, for such decision as in their judgment is demanded by their interests, their honor, and their duty, to the whole country.—We have the honor to be, with great respect,

O. A. Wickliffe, Chairman; Garrett Davis, R. Wilson, J. J. Crittenden, John S. Carlile, J. W. Crisfield, J. S. Jackson, A. Grider, John S. Phelps, Francis Thomas, Charles B. Calvert, C. L. L. Leary, Edwin H. Webster, R. Mallory, Aaron Harding, James S. Rollins, J. W. Menzies, Thomas L. Price, G. W. Dunlap, Wm. A. Hall.

The minority of the body fall still more abjectly at the foot of the gorilla. They promise to urge his measure in their States. Their response concludes thus:

Few of us though there may be, we will permit no man from the North or from the South to go further than we in the accomplishment of the great work before us. We, in order to carry out these views, will, so far as may be in our power, ask the people of the border States calmly, deliberately and fairly to consider your recommendation. We are more emboldened to assume this position from the fact, now become history, that the leaders of the Southern rebellion have offered to abolish slavery among them as a condition to foreign intervention in favor of their independence as a nation. If they can give up slavery to destroy the Union, we can surely ask our people to consider a question of emancipation to save the Union.

LATER FROM THE NORTH.

New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore papers to the 24th inst. have been received. The news by them is important. The fact of General Halleck's appointment to the post of Commander-in-chief of the land forces of the United States is thus officially announced:

Executive Mansion, July 11, '62.

Ordered, That Major General Henry W. Halleck be assigned to the command of the whole land forces of the United States, as General-in-chief, and that he repair to this capitol as soon as he can with safety to the positions and operations within the Department now under his special charge.

Abraham Lincoln.

The new federal commander-in-chief.

Henry Wager Halleck is one of the four Major-Generals who were first appointed in 1861 to that rank in the United States army. Gen. Halleck is about forty two years of age, and was born in Weston, Oneida county, New York, where his grandfather—one hundred years old, and hale and hearty—lately resided. General Halleck's father was the Hon. Joseph Halleck, who died about three years since. General Halleck entered the Military Academy as a West Point cadet in 1825, stood third in the class, and was brevetted second lieutenant of engineers July 1, 1839. He was Acting Assistant Professor of Engineering at the Military Academy from July, 1839, to June, 1840. In 1841 he was the author of a military work on "Bitumen and its Uses," &c.—In January, 1845, he was appointed first lieutenant, and during the year he was elected by the Committee of the Lowell Institute, at Boston, to deliver one of the regular course of lectures, the subject being "Military Science and Art." These lectures he compiled in a neat volume during the following year, adding thereto a lengthy introduction on the "Justifiableness of War." The work contains much valuable elementary instruction, as well as abundance of historical illustration, and is written with ability. In 1848 he was brevetted Captain for gallant conduct in affairs with the enemy on the 19th and 20th days of November, 1847, and for meritorious service in California. He was Secretary of State of the Territory of California under the military governments of Generals Kearney, Mason and Riley, from 1847 to the end of 1849. He was chief of the staff of Commodore Shubrick, in the naval and military operations on the Pacific coast in 1847 and 1848, and was a member of the convention in 1849 to form, and of the committee to draft, the Constitution of the State of California. In July, 1853, he was appointed Captain of engineers, and resigned August 1, 1854.

General Halleck was appointed a Major General in the United States army in August last, at the instance of Lieut. Gen. Scott, then about to retire from active service. His commission bears date the 19th August, 1861. At the time of his appointment, General Halleck was the leading member of a prominent, law firm in San Francisco.

Major Gen. Halleck, in person, is below the medium height, straight, active and well formed, and has a brisk, energetic gait, significant of his firm and decisive character. His nose is delicate and well formed, his forehead ample, and his mouth by no means devoid of humor. His eye is of a hazel color, as clear as a morning star, and of intense brilliancy. He bears a most striking resemblance to some oleaginous Methodist parson dressed in regimentals, with a wide, stiff rimmed black felt hat sticking on the back of his head, at an acute angle with the ground. His demeanor in front of his tent is very simple and business-like. No pomp, no unusual ceremony, and no lack of order. When on horseback, his Wesleyan character is more and more prominent. He neither looks like a soldier, rides like one, nor does he carry the state of a Major General in the field, but is the impersonation of the man of peace.

Infamous order of Gen. Pope.

Gen. Pope is imitating and excelling Butler. He has issued an order which will, by depriving them of their protectors, lay the families of Confederate citizens in Virginia towns at the mercy of the Yankee troops. The following is his last order:

Headq'rs, Army of Virginia, July 23, 1862.

General Orders, No. 11.—Commanders of army corps, divisions, brigades, and detached commands, will proceed immediately to arrest all disloyal male citizens within their lines, or within their reach, in rear of their respective commands. Such as are willing to take the oath of allegiance to the United States, and will furnish sufficient security for its observance, shall be permitted to remain at their homes, and pursue in good faith their accustomed avocations. Those who refuse shall be conducted South, beyond the extreme pickets of this army, and be notified that if found again anywhere within our lines, or at any point in rear, they will be considered spies and subjected to the extreme rigor of military law. If any person having taken the oath of allegiance, as above specified, be found to have violated it, he shall be shot, and his property seized and applied to public use.

All communication with any person whatever living within the lines of the enemy is positively prohibited, except through the military authorities and in the manner specified by military law; and any person concerned in writing or in carrying letters or messages in any other way will be considered and treated as a spy within the lines of the United States Army.

By command of Maj. Gen. Pope.

Geo. D. Ruggles,
Col and Chief of Staff.

Gen Pope has also issued orders to the different Generals commanding divisions in his army corps, requiring them to seize all the horses and mules in their vicinity, especially in Culpepper county, not absolutely needed by the inhabitants of the surrounding country. They are also directed to seize all stores not absolutely needed for the maintenance or subsistence of the inhabitants.

From Washington.

The Federal forces re-occupied Murfreesboro, Tenn., on the 18th inst. Wm. Pugh, the Union Postmaster there, who was seized by the guerrilla Forrest, and carried off with the avowed purpose of hanging him, was subsequently released, and has returned to the discharge of his duties.

This forenoon the President, Secretary of War, and Major General Halleck were long in consultation at the War Department. For a portion of the time Gens. Pope and Burnside were with them.

The patriotic members of Congress who went home to raise troops, in response to the President's call, are doing their duty well. Hon. Mr. Diven, of New York, reports that the entire quota of the two counties of Chemung and Schuyler, in his district, is now raised.

Executive Order.

War Department, July 22.

First. Ordered, That the military commanders within the States of Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas, in a orderly manner, seize and use any property, real or personal, which may be necessary or convenient for their several commands, as supplies or for other military purposes; and that while property may be destroyed for proper military objects, none shall be destroyed in wantonness and malice.

Second. That military and naval commanders shall employ as laborers, within and from the said States, so many persons of African descent as can be advantageously used for military or naval purposes, giving them reasonable wages for their labor.

Third. That as to both property and persons of African descent, accounts shall be kept, sufficiently accurate and in detail, to show the quantities and amounts, and from whom both property and such persons shall have come, as a basis upon which compensation can be made in proper cases. The several departments of the Government shall attend to and perform their appropriate parts towards the execution of these orders.

By order of the President.

(Signed) Edwin M. Stanton,
Secretary of War.

From M'Clellan's Army.

A letter dated Harrison's Landing, July 20, gives the following information about the "grand army":

Two deserters were brought to headquarters yesterday afternoon, but nothing new could be learned from them. They corroborate the fact that the main lines of the rebels are at least ten miles from here, and occupy the same ground that we once did—that of Fair Oaks, Gaines' Hill and the Trent estate. They tell the same old story: that thousands of others are willing and ready to desert whenever a favorable opportunity turns up. In our judgment, that is so long in coming that the bare possibility of it ever offering

These deserters, too, tell us of the dreadful suffering arising from the want of proper nourishment. Yet, somehow, notwithstanding this destitution, they seem to retain their health and strength, and when the fighting is going on they do not seem to be in the least debilitated either by hunger or thirst.

Pay of New York Volunteers.

A private enlisting in the State of New York, under the new call for volunteers, if the war should close within twelve months, would receive, besides his regular rations and clothing, the following amount of money:

State bounty,	$50
Government advance bounty,	27
One month's advance pay,	13
Pay per year,	156
Government bounty at close of war,	75
Total,	$321
Rations $9 per month—one year,	108
Clothing, about	20
Total one year's pay,	$449

General Exchange of Prisoners Agreed Upon.

We take great pleasure in saying that we have been authorized to state an agreement for an immediate and general exchange of prisoners has been consummated between Major-Gen. Dix, on behalf of the Federal authorities, and Major-Gen. Hill, on behalf of the rebels. The detailed terms of this agreement are not yet known at headquarters here, but the Government is prepared to carry them out without the least delay.

I see that the papers are trying to make a good case out of our retreat, and call it "strategy." We know better here. The only redeeming feature about it is the invincible valor with which our troops fought against great odds, whipping the enemy in every engagement. Cover it as you may, it was a disastrous necessity, which was very near resulting in the annihilation of our army. Who is responsible?

The same writer continues:

I tell you, this army is exhausted, and cannot recover from the physical effects of that retreat in one month! It is disheartened and lacks confidence in somebody, although it does not know whom. An advance now, without heavy reinforcements, would be inevitable defeat.

☞ Murfreesboro, the scene of Colonel Forrest's late operations in Middle Tennessee, is about the centre of the State, on the line of the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad, and about thirty miles from Nashville. It is a beautiful little city, regularly laid out, well improved, and in the heart of a rich and productive country.

DIED,

On the morning of the 28th inst., in the twenty-first year of his age, and after a long and painful illness, which he bore with christian patience and resignation, EDWARD, second son of A. W. Ellerbe, Esq., of Liberty Hill, Dallas county, Alabama.

At his residence, in Bibb county, of typhoid fever, ISAAC GEORGE, Esq., in the thirty-third year of his age. He was an eminently worthy and respected citizen, and beloved by all who knew him.

OBITUARY.

Another soldier has fallen—another victim of this unhallowed and ruthless war has resigned his commission and laid down his life. When shall the angel of death sheath his sword and the grave say "'tis enough."

Mr. JAMES EDMONDSON died at the residence of his father, in this county, on the 15th of July. He was by birth a Virginian, but emigrated to this State in the year 1853, and for the last four years has resided in Louisiana, and was a member of Capt. Davidson's company, Crescent regiment, Louisiana Volunteers. He nobly responded to his country's call, and hoped to live to see her yet numbered among the independent nations of the earth, but in the midst of his usefulness he was attacked by that disease so fatal to the soldier (chronic diarrhœa), and consigned to the hospital at Jackson, Miss. From that point he returned home in the hope of regaining his health, but, alas, only to die. Many years before his death he gave himself up to his Savior, and united with the church at Shady Grove (the Baptist, and his afflicted family have the consolation of knowing that they sorrow not as those who have no hope, for he left behind him a bright evidence that their loss was his eternal gain. He expressed the utmost willingness to die, and often prayed the Lord to bless the kind ladies who had administered to his wants both at the hospital and at other points on his way home, and calmly and peacefully resigned his spirit into the hands of Him who gave it. May his afflicted family be enabled to say, "It is the Lord, let him do what seemeth good in his sight." The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away. Blessed be the name of the Lord." He leaves an aged father, four sisters, and a brother, who like himself, has risked his all upon his country's altar.

A FREE PRESS AND H. J. RAYMOND.—Henry J. Raymond, editor of the New York Times, replied to the toast of the press at the opening banquet of the Chrystal Palace Exhibition in New York. In the course of his remarks he said:

"I cannot but feel that the highest compliment which can be paid to the power of the press and the general beneficence with which that power is exercised, is to be found in the fact, that it is the first source of influence at which ambition always strikes in its march to arbitrary sway.

Whenever any usurper on either continent seeks to subvert constitutions, abolish laws, destroy public liberty, and make his own will the sovereign public law, the first thing he does is to crush the press."

Lincoln has done all that Raymond then regarded as distinguishing "any usurper."

Arrival of a Prisoner.

A citizen of Savannah, who has been a prisoner in the enemy's country since February last, arrived home yesterday, via Baltimore, Washington and Richmond He complains of much ill-treatment while a prisoner; no clothing was allowed him except blankets, the food was the worst kind, and the place of confinement most uncomfortable.

There was considerable excitement at the North about the prospect of a draft, and the lower classes, as a general rule, are opposed to a continuance of the war. The politicians and contractors were very noisy and active, and insisted that the rebels can and must be crushed out.—Gold, our informant says, was quoted in premium, but on greenback transactions among the people it could not be obtained for less than forty five or fifty per cent.

There were but few soldiers at Washington, apparently only sufficient to garrison the works around the city. An immense number of fugitive slaves were collected in Washington. Some 1,500 were in a building near the capitol, and several cargoes had been shipped to Hayti, two of which, it was currently reported, had been taken to Cuba by the Yankee captains and sold.

The people of Maryland, he represents, are as true as steel, and only kept in subjection by Federal bayonets.

There were some 1,500 troops at Fredericksburg, and immense quantities of army stores were being collected at that point. The cavalry scoured the country up and down the river, on both sides, daily.—Savannah Republican, 26th.

MOBILE, July 31.

A special dispatch to the Advertiser and Register, dated at Tupelo, 30th, says: Information received at headquarters states that Colonel Armstrong, commanding the cavalry of the Army of the West, has taken Courtland, Alabama, capturing 159 prisoners and a train of cars. Our loss was two killed and eight wounded The citizens of Courtland were frantic with joy.

We have reliable information that 15,000 Federals, during last week, passed through Tuscumbia eastward, destined for Chattanooga.

A special dispatch to the Tribune, from Grenada, Miss., 30th instant, says: Passengers from Memphis report that our guerrillas have burned several Federal transports on the Tennessee river near Eastport.

Northern dates of the 26th July state that the notorious Jim Lane has gone to Kansas for the purpose of raising a brigade of negroes.

Stonewall Jackson is reported at Louisa, with 24,000 men, and Ewell at Gordonville, with 6,000, proposing, it is feared, an advance on Washington.

Fremont is assigned to a new command.

MOBILE, July 31.

A special dispatch to the Advertiser and Register, dated Tupelo, July 30, says: Three Federal captains and five lieutenants, captured at Courtland, arrived here to-night.

Gen. Armstrong's official report states that on the 25th he attacked the enemy in Courtland, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, and took 133 prisoners, including eight commissioned officers. The non-commissioned officers and men were paroled. The enemy's loss was three killed and seven wounded—ours less. He also captured twelve wagons with the horses attached and equipments, a large amount of arms, the camp and garrison equipage of four companies and a quantity of supplies, including five hundred bushels of corn in sacks. The railroad depot, telegraph line, bridge and trestle-work were destroyed.

Gen. Armstrong defeated the enemy the same day at Town Creek, taking sixteen prisoners.

Rosencrantz's division is at Tuscumbia.

LYNCHBURG, July 31.

A special dispatch to the Republican, dated Narrows of New River, 28th inst., via Dublin, 29th, says:

The gallant Major Bailey, commanding four companies of cavalry, in all about 150 men, sent to the rear of the enemy by Col. McCausland, stormed Summerville the county seat of Nicholas, on Friday at daylight, and captured the entire garrison, including one Lieutenant Colonel, named Star, and three other commissioned officers, and six-two non commissioned officers and privates, killing a large number. A few of the privates were paroled. Not being able to bring away the large quantity of commissary, quartermaster and ordnance stores found in the place, Major Bailey burnt them.

He brought to this place a large number of Enfield rifles, horses and mules.

The telegraph office was destroyed, and the Government operator captured.

This affair is regarded as the most brilliant of the war in this section, and its success has spread the wildest consternation and dismay throughout the Yankee army in this neighborhood.

THE CENTENARY INSTITUTE.

THE TRUSTEES of the Centenary Institute take pleasure in announcing that the exercises of said school will be resumed on the FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER NEXT.

Dr. Rivers, whose reputation as a successful Teacher has long been established, will remain at the head of the Female Department.

Rev. John S. Moore succeeds Rev. D. C. B. Connerly as Principal of the Male Department. Mr. Moore is a member of the Alabama Conference, a Master of Arts of the University of Virginia, and well known to our community as an experienced and successful teacher; and we feel much gratified in being able to announce his name in this connection.

We are determined, so far as we can, to keep a school where our sons and our daughters may be well and thoroughly taught. The education of our children is a necessity under any and all circumstances, and we confidently recommend the Centenary Institute under the above named teachers as worthy the confidence and patronage of parents and guardians.

THE subscriber offers for sale the SALINE WELL HOTEL in Newton, Greene County, the terminus of the Northwestern Railroad. The water of the well in medicinal virtue is equal if not superior, to any in the Confederacy, as proved by its analysis, the certificates of Physicians, and the great number of invalids relieved by it. It seems specially adapted to diseases most common in a Southern climate. The property affords advantages equal to any in the South for an extensive Watering place, or a Physician's Infirmary. The House pays very well as a hotel all the year, and more applicants desire board during the summer than can be accommodated F. H. HAWES.

WRIGHT'S SOUTHERN INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS

ARE OFFERED TO THE PEOPLE OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA AS A

FOR THE

Toning and Fortifying of the System against Diseases, either occasional or Epidemic; and for the Cure of all Ailments having the name of Intermittent, Remittent, Nervous, Inflammatory and Putrid Fevers, Measles, Small Pox, and Erysipelas; Inflammation of the Brain, Throat, Stomach, Lungs, Liver, Intestines, Kidneys and Bladder; Pains in the Stomach, Back and Side; Consumption; Dropsy of the Head of the Chest, of the Abdomen and of the Limbs; Scrofula, Scurvy and Syphilis; Cancer, Gravel, Loss of Appetite; Sick Headache, Spitting of Blood; Rheumatism, both acute and Chronic; Diarrhœa, Dysentery, and Colics; Syncope, Apoplexy and Paralysis; Dyspepsia, Hypochondria, Tetter, Erysipelas, Coughs, Leprosy, Consumption of the Heart, Ulcers and Sores of every description; Hysterics, Weak Nerves, and Lowness of Spirits; Suppression; and other delicate Female Complaints.

WHAT ARE THESE PILLS?

Composed of the simple extracts of four plants, common to most of the woods in Central Alabama and Mississippi, these pills combine in a remarkable degree the four great curative powers known to modern science, assisting Nature to expell all disease from the system without crushing its elasticity or poisoning its courses by the introduction of nauseous drugs or mineral agents.

There is not a remedy used by the medical profession or known to the scope of science, that combines in such perfection and with such harmonious results, the four great agencies of health—the Sudorific, the Diuretic, the Expectorant and the Cathartic.

This is not a "patent medicine." These pills have been used for many years, they have been analyzed by chemists, they have received the full endorsement from the most eminent medical practioners, and they have never failed of success.

No pretensions of originality are made in their favor; no assertions of astounding discoveries in some impossible manner are set forth; no effort has been made to elude or humbug any one. All that is claimed is, that these pills have been proven to be a remarkable remedy, operating with certainty up on the whole system, prompt in their effect, agreeable in their nature, and as harmless for evil as bread and water.

HOW THEY ARE MADE.

Wright's Southern Indian Vegetable Pills have been hitherto solely and are now mainly prepared to fill special orders from physicians, druggists, planters and other regular customers, who use them altogether on account of their knowledge that they are made of pure, simple and efficacious ingredients, and by cause of their confidence in Dr. Wright as being free from the temptation of offering anything to the trade that is not pure and genuine. The new process of distilling the paints and purifying the essential elements from all foreign matter, (which was mainly the discovery of that great chemist, Dr. Torrey,) has alone enabled him to make these pills at a cost sufficiently reasonable to place them before the public as a general remedy. The following certificate from the well-known analytic chemist, Dr. Preston, is a sufficient guarantee of their purity:

DR. JOHN WRIGHT—Sir:—At your request I have subjected to the test of analysis a quantity of your Southern Indian Vegetable Pills, selected at random and take great pleasure in certifying that I found them to contain nothing deleterious to the human system; on the contrary they possess the Sudorific, Diuretic, Expectorant, and Cathartic properties in a remarkably harmonious combination, and my opinion is that they are the greatest universal remedy known to the world.

Respectfully, A. D. PRESTON, M. D.

Send for a circular of these pills. It contains full and interesting facts, with important suggestions to the sick and suffering, complete directions for the use of the pills, and a special card to females which every one of the sex ought to read.

Wright's Southern Indian Vegetable Pills

are manufactured expressly for, and in the CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA, under the personal direction of Dr. John Wright, in his Pharmaceutical Laboratory, New Orleans.
