THE CITY.
NOON, JUNE 24, 1861.

Capt. J. Williams, Esq., our friend of the Selma Reporter, is in Montgomery to-day.

Rain. There was a light fall of rain here last night, and doubtless a heavy one not far off. Every drop was needed!

Appointments Changed. By reference to another column it will be seen that Messrs. Graham and Gilliton (the younger) have altered the dates of some of their appointments to speak for the produce loan.

Figh's Spring Club. We are requested to state that a meeting of the "Figh's Spring Club" will be held this (Monday) evening, at the old stand of DICKINSON & FOSS. A full attendance is desired and expected.

The Last Chance. I want six more young men to complete the number I am allowed to carry with me to Norfolk. Those wishing to go, will call at once and enroll their names. Remember that on Wednesday's cars we depart. E. F. PIERCE, Recruiting Officer.

Rev. Henry Talbird. This distinguished Baptist preacher and President of Howard College, is at present in our city, commanding a company of brave volunteers from Perry county. As this double soldier—of the cross and of his country—formerly resided in Montgomery, we doubt not his old friends here will give him a warm reception.

More Peaches. MR. BRASSFIELD'S wagon brought more peaches to town last Saturday. A basket of excellent ones was left for us. We regret to hear that the place where these fine peaches grew—about five miles from town on the upper Wetumpka road—is offered for sale. We very much fear that some one will buy it who will not remember us as Mr. B. has.

More Troops. Since our issue of Saturday the following described troops have arrived:

One company from Perry county, Capt. HENRY TALBIRD.

One company from Marengo county, Capt. MOODY.

One company from Tuscaloosa county, Capt. McMath.

One company from Bibb county, Capt. DAVIDSON.

One company from Pickens county, Capt. CHAPMAN.

One company from ——— county, Capt. TRUSS.

Sexton's Report. Below we give a list of interments in the City Cemetary, for the week ending June 22, 1861.

WHITES.

June 18, Mr. Wolf, non-resident.
19, Miss Margarett Mongoug.
21, Leopha and Zachry, (drowned.)

BLACKS.

June 18, Child, property of Wm. Hunter.
20, Child, property of M. L. Gilmer.
Whites 3—Blacks 2. Total 5.

The above report is correct for the past week. N. H. GREGORY, City Sexton.

Editors Mail: The time is rapidly drawing near when we shall be called upon to elect two representatives from the county of Montgomery to the next Legislature. I perceive, through the papers, that several gentlemen have been proposed for these positions. As our country is now involved in a revolution, it behoves us as a people to be united. I therefore respectfully suggest the Hon. Saml. F. Rice, and Hugh M. Caffey as candidates to represent us in the next Legislature. Both gentlemen will, no doubt give entire satisfaction to a large majority of the voters of the county. CATOMA.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Eds. Mail: I notice that the papers very properly, are speaking in high commendation of the Banks of Augusta, Ga., for taking fifteen per cent of their capital in the Treasury Notes of the Confederate States, their aggregate capital being $3,075 000. The amount agreed to be taken is $461,250. I have it from the best authority that the Central Bank of Alabama, with a capital of $900,000, has taken $300,000 of Treasury Notes from the Confederate States, which is 33⅓ per cent., besides having previously taken $100,000 of Confederate Bonds, and having loaned to the State of Alabama, for military purposes, $256,000. JUSTICE.

NOBLE GIRL.—We have had the pleasure of reading the following extract of a private letter from Georgia, says an exchange, and are allowed the privilege of extending the enjoyment of it to our readers:

I must tell you of a circumstance that I heard of yesterday. A grand daughter of Dr. Church, of Athens, Miss Craig, (daughter of Col. Craig, who served with honor in the Mexican war,) about sixteen, was at school in Bethlehem, in Pennsylvania. It was known a regiment would pass through the town on its way to Washington. She observed to some of her school-mates that she would make a secession flag, and wave it when the troops were passing. They tried to dissuade her from it, fearing the consequence. She, however, made one, and concealed it in the folds of her dress. The regiment came on with flags flying and great rejoicings. In passing there was a slight pause. Miss Craig stepped out, waved her flag, and said three cheers for Jeff. Davis and the Confederate States. Not a word was spoken. She advanced nearer the troops, and with extended arms said, "now kill me, now kill me; but remember, for every drop of my blood that is shed, fifty Southerners will be ready to kill you Yankees." The teachers, as soon as possible, hurried her off to her room, locked her in and pocketed the key, fearing that violence would be offered her, but none was attempted. She has written to Dr. Church to bring her home.

A BAD PROSPECT FOR NORTHERN SHIP OWNERS.—The New York Herald, of the 18th instant, in its commercial article, remarks:

The last mails from Europe brought intelligence to our marine insurance companies with regard to the fitting out of privateers in England, which induced them to day to raise their rates for war risks on American ships from 1 to 3, 4, 5, and in some instances 6 per cent. This amounts, of course, to resigning the command of the ocean to foreign vessels. Our ships cannot compete with British vessels while paying 6 per cent. extra for a war risk; and the legitimate consequence of the resolution adopted to-day by the leading companies will be that in a few weeks the bulk of our vessels will be laid up at home.

Lines on the death of [illegible] and Sisters.

Affectionately Dedicated to [illegible] and Sisters of [illegible]

BY MRS. E. H. BARON.

Among his last words [illegible]sion, "Ah, I thought it was a dream."

It was no dream—oh, young and brave,
It was no dream to thee;
That thou so soon wouldst find a grave,
And we should mourning be.
Well may we weep, for it is meet
That tears for thee be shed;
For rarely hath a winding sheet
Befolded nobler dead.

We loved thee for thy truthfulness,
Thy high and noble worth;
Oh, God! that in such bitterness
Thy soul should pass from earth.
It seems scarce more than yesterday
Thy living form was here,
And yet to-day we crowd around
Thy cold and silent bier.

We now recall with heaving breast,
And tears that flow full fast,
Thy high and manly bearing
When thou wert with us last.
Thy hand enclasped the banner
That loving friends had given,
Thy pledge to us was uttered then,
With lifted glance to heaven.

Not one who heard thy ringing voice,
Or saw thy darkly flashing eye,
Can e'er forget the solemn tones
Of thy last sad "good bye!"
Oh world to God that on the field
Thy life blood had been poured,
And thou hadst died as warriors die,
'Mid clanging steel and sword.

Deep is thy country's need to-day,
And arms like thine could form
A mighty guard in every fray,
To shield her from the storm.
Deep vowed thy young comrades
Above thy silent clay,
To keep the memory of thy death
Through many a coming day.

A deed of mercy was the last
Thou didst perform on earth,
Our weeping eyes and aching hearts
Attest thy manly worth.
Farewell! farewell beloved friend,
We would not murmurers be,
But 'twas so hard that such a death
Should come to one like thee.

May He whose cry the universe
To its centre once hath shaken,
As the wail went up from Cavalry,
"Why, why am I forsaken!"
May He bind up the broken hearts
That would have died for thee,
Yet gave thee as an offering.
That our country might be free.

About Saving Grain.

Some days since, we had a short editorial written in view of the magnificent crops of small grain now being harvested, and of corn, which bids fair to be even more abundant, urging upon the people the importance of adopting measures to save the grain. It is now a well understood fact, that we have breadstuffs enough in the State to last two years, if not a foot of ground be cultivated till 1863. Such an abundance was never known before in this or any other country, and following, as it does, a season in which we have imported near a half a million bushels of corn, and fully a quarter of a million barrels flour into the State, beyond our home production, is suggestive of the advice we then gave.

We are glad to learn that public attention is being turned to the subject; and since the article referred to, we have received several letters, detailing the experience of planters on the subject.

It is known that in favorable situations, wheat has been kept good several thousand years. Within the tombs of Egypt, grains of wheat have been found which had been left there, away backs before the time of Abraham, and which, when planted, have germinated, and produced good crops. The two characteristics of these tombs, which we should now turn our attention to, are absence of light and absence of moisture. And even if we had not the discoveries in Egyptian tombs, to support the theory, we should naturally [illegible] to experiment in this direction.

But, again, perhaps the worst danger we have to guard against in saving corn is from the weevil. We are not aware that the natural history of the corn weevil (a very different insect from the wheat weevil of the Northern States) has ever been given to the public in a manner to reach the eye of the masses. There is one thing certain, however, about it, that is, that the eggs are laid in the corn while it is yet in the field; and that the fermentation with corn in a large heap undergoes, whether it is put in wet or dry kills a large proportion of these eggs, probably in fact all except those deposited in the outside layer of ears. Hence, in large cribs, or heaps of corn, it will be found that while it is badly weevil-eaten for the depth of three or four feet, the centre is sound and good; and this is because all the weevil in the centre have been killed by this fermentation, or have worked out near the light. It is believed by those who have had most experience, that weevil will not work in air tight, dark cribs. Experience is the best teacher. Some examples may not be out of place.

The Mexicans keep corn from year to year by digging pits in the ground and cementing the sides and bottom. Into these they put the corn, and cover it over with earth, and protect the whole by sheds from the rain. The corn is thus kept air tight, and away from light, and may be preserved years in this way. Major A. Jackson, of Brazoria county, one of the most successful farmers in the State, has a large brick crib, built about fifteen feet high, accessible only by a hole in the gable end. This is floored with brick, laid in cement. It is filled with corn, and the door closed tight. Corn has always kept sound in this crib. Dr. Niblett, of Grimes county, has an old sugar house, built on descending ground, the level of one part of which is some feet below the balance. After changing his crop from sugar to cotton, he used the house for a corn crib.—Without particularly noticing this lower part, the corn was used out down to the level of the upper part from year to year for five years, when, for some cause, he ordered the house to be cleaned out. In doing this, he found a body of corn in the lower part that had been put in there five years before, perfectly sound and good. Reference has been made in these columns to a rail crib, in which corn was covered some inches deep on the sides and top with cotton seed, which kept in this way for three years.

All these things seem to point to the idea we have taken up, that if moisture and light are both excluded, corn will keep sound for years. What will keep corn sound will keep wheat much better.

We must not neglect to add that the experience of several whom we have consulted, favor the plan of housing corn just after a rain, that is, when it is damp. This of course induces fermentation, and increases the heat, which kills the weevil. We are not, however, well satisfied that it does not injure the germ of the grain. Still another plan we have heard of being successfully pursued, is to sprinkle each layer of corn quite heavily with salt, as it is placed in the crib.

We hope these suggestions may be of some advantage to our readers, and that they may lead to the storing of a portion of our superabundant crop, so that it may be kept against a time of positive need. If so, we shall have done the State some service by putting them in print.

THE WAR SPIRIT IN GEORGIA.—The following extract from a business letter, received in New York from Georgia, is published in the World:

We are all for war here, and when the North subjugates the South there will be none left living; our women will fight. I expect to leave in a few days for Virginia. I take with me three of my negro men who will die by me. We are raising two regiments of negroes to act as guerillas in Virginia.

Judge Chilton in Prattville.

Judge W. P. Chilton, member of the Confederate Congress, and M. L. Woods, Esq., arrived in Prattville on Monday last, according to appointment, and addressed the people of this place on the duty and necessity of subscribing to the Confederate States loan. The subscriptions, it is no doubt well known, are to be paid for in bonds of the Confederate States, bearing 8 per cent. interest, the interest to be paid semi-annually. The notice of Judge Chilton's appointments did not appear until Friday last, being one day too late to be inserted in our paper, consequently very few people, only a few of those living in town, knew anything about the appointment. There were not more than fifty persons present, and three-fourths of those were mechanics and small farmers, men of limited means. Judge Chilton made one of the finest speeches we ever listened to, setting forth the wrongs of the South, and appealing in the most eloquent terms to those present to come up and give their aid to our glorious cause. Mr. Woods also addressed a few remarks to the audience. Jude Chilton's speech had a fine effect, and immediately after the speaking ceased, the small crowd present eagerly crowded around the stand and subscribed liberally to the loan. Over fifty thousand dollars in money and cotton were subscribed in less than half an hour, and we learn that persons living in town who were not present, have since subscribed.—Agents to [illegible] were appointed by Judge Chilton, Mr. Pratt being one, we believe, who are doing their best to swell the list to one hundred thousand dollars, which we have no doubt they will accomplish. Mr. Pratt subscribed ten thousand dollars to the loan for himself, two thousand for Mrs. Pratt, and two thousand for Miss Ellen Pratt, and all others subscribed liberally in accordance with their means. Dr. Willis Pope and Mr. Wm. C. Allen made very liberal subscriptions, the former putting down fifty bags of cotton, at least one half of his crop, and the latter four thousand dollars. Judge Chilton seemed to be greatly encouraged by the result of his efforts at this place, this being his first appointment. We would urge upon our farmers and planters to subscribe liberally to this loan, for no better investment can be made. Those wishing to subscribe are directed to call on Mr. Pratt.—Autauga Citizen.

REVOLUTION IN ENGLAND.—Washington, Sunday, June 16.—A letter before me, from a gentleman in England, says: "One of our largest dealers in hardware, metals, &c., states that the manufacturers at Manchester and Sheffield, as well as elsewhere in Europe, are alarmed lest there should be a revolution here among the laboring classes, should the American war continue long." He adds: "The fact is, these men now acknowledge that America has been the best customer England has had, and the prospect is that many of her largest manufactories will necessarily be closed, at any rate for a time, in view of the great falling off among purchasers in the English market."

FLORA MCFLIMSEY IN DISTRESS.—The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says, mournfully, the "signs are that the fashionable season of this year will be given the go by. So much money has been spent for war purposes, and so much more is likely to be called for, that Flora McFlimsey will have to content herself at home this summer, and give up all thoughts of Newport, Niagara and Saratoga. She will not be able even to go to "Paris," along with her friend "Mrs. Harris," and the thirty odd packing boxes, which were needed for her wardrobe and something to wear."

THE WEATHER—CROPS.—Middle Georgia is just now beginning to suffer severely from drought. The corn crop is in a critical condition, and will be seriously injured unless we have rain in a few days. The cool nights and hot, dry days have also occasioned some sickness, principally from colds and low fevers.

In lower Georgia and Florida, we are happy to hear rains have been abundant, and a large corn crop has been produced. They tell us seventy-five bushels to the acre will be considered nothing to boast of. Such a corn crop was never thought of before in Texas.

We have noticed elsewhere that recent heavy rains are reported in North and South Carolina, and we hope soon to chronicle them here.—Macon Telegraph.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Mark A. Cooper left this city last night for Virginia. He carries with him a superb bowie-knife for each member of the Atlanta Grays. These knives were manufactured under Maj. Cooper's personal supervision at the Etowah Works, expressly for the purpose. They are handsomely mounted, of excellent workmanship, and most beautiful finish.—Atlanta Confederacy.

THE LATEST WAR NEWS.

Special Dispatch to the Montgomery Mail.

NORFOLK, June 23.—The mail steamer Oregon, on her way from New Orleans, was fired at eight times by a Federal steamer. Three schooners have been captured by a squadron consisting of a large steamer with three tenders, now blockading the sound between the two cities.

LOUISVILLE, June 23.—A requisition will be sent to Indiana for four additional regiments.

It is believed the Government will not interfere with a due course of law in the case of the privateer Savannah. The case of the condemned schooner, Tropic Wind, will probably be appealed to the United States Court.

It is said that Mr. Crittenden will offer his compromise to Congress, coupled with a threat of Kentucky's secession, if it be not adopted.

Gen. Beauregard is evidently preparing to advance. Gossip reports that good judges say there will be no battle fought for some weeks yet.

The Government will soon issue orders to prevent army and navy officers performing service as slave catchers.

Andrew Johnson has arrived at Washington. He claims East Tennessee for the old Union, and intimates that Western Virginia is opposed to secession by 20,000 majority.

The Southerners occupy Fairfax C. H., Va.

NEW YORK, June 23.—It is reported that the Navy is to be doubled.

Congress is to suspend the writ of habeas corpus at an early day.

No news from Missouri—the telegraph line is interrupted by a heavy tornado.

RICHMOND, June 23.—It is reported here that Maryland has passed an Ordinance of secession. I cannot vouch for the reliability of the report, as it is said that it was done in secret session.

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss., June 23.—There is a gun-boat off Deer Island. They have taken three schooners to-day, loaded with rail-road iron and salt; one of them is the Olive Branch. There is also a war steamer off Ship Island.

RICHMOND, June 23.—J. J. Hooper has been sick several days, but has fully recovered. I saw him at the supper table to night.

RICHMOND, VA., June 22.—Col. Howell Cobb's tender of a regiment has been accepted. He returns to Georgia immediately to perfect its organization.

[This, doubtless, has reference to Col. T. R. R. Cobb's Georgia Legion. Hon. Howell Cobb went to Richmond partly for the purpose of getting that accepted.]

RICHMOND, VA., June 22.—The President of the Memphis and Charleston Rail Road, has taken $40,000 in the Confederate States bonds, and 17,000 in Treasury notes.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Wm. Porter Miles of Louisiana (?) has been appointed Consul to Tripoli, by the Lincoln Government.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—A battle between Gen. McDowell's Division and the Southern forces at Vienna is deemed inevitable to-morrow.

It is now evident that the main blow of the Federalists is to be struck from this city, with a force of [illegible].

Surprise is expressed in some quarters that Gen. Scott is now preventing the erection of batteries by the Southerners at various points along the right bank of the Potomac.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Tribune of this city, in its war gossip, says that it is probable that all the roads between the advanced points of the Southern forces, and from thence to the Federal lines are covered with masked batteries.

The Times, also, of this city, says that the battery at Sewell's Point is composed of five Columbiads, six small pieces, and three rifled cannon; and also that there are 500 men at Sewell's Point, and 15,000 at Norfolk.

MONTGOMERY:

TUESDAY NOON, JUNE 25, 1861.

Job Work.—Job work done for cash only at this office in future. We have to pay cash for everything, and therefore cannot work on any other terms.

Receipts vs. Postage.—Having strictly adopted the CASH SYSTEM for subscriptions out of Montgomery county, we shall send no receipts in future—the paper itself being the receipt—and, at the expiration of the time paid for, the paper will cease to go. The increased rates of postage is the main cause of adopting this rule. Subscribers who are in arrears, residing in Montgomery county, are expected to call and settle at their earliest convenience.

Returned.—Mr. Frazier, we have the pleasure to announce to the readers of the Mail, arrived from North Alabama last night, after an absence of four weeks. After resting a day or two Mr. F. will actively resume his editorial labors.

The Crops in North Alabama and Upper Georgia.—The wheat has turned out well and the yield will be over an average. Oats in some instances are injured by the rust.—The corn is most promising. In that region the corn was being injured by the drouth, but the rains yesterday will save it.

From our exchanges and other sources we think the prospect all over the South is good. A few more showers and corn enough will be made to supply our home demand for two or three years.

An Important Matter.—The Cotton Planter's Convention, which met in Macon, Ga., on the 11th, recommended the assembling of another, to meet on the 4th of July next. The importance of such a meeting can be seen at a glance. But little time is now given, and our planters all through the county should hold meetings and appoint delegates.

It is in the power of the cotton planters to do a great deal for their country. They have already responded liberally, and will continue to respond to any demand made upon them. Let them then meet in council from every county in every State, and we doubt not, their patriotic action will be a fit celebration of that day which heretofore we have all delighted to honor. Let their [illegible] the 4th of July, 1861, as celebrated as the 4th of July, 1776.

☞ The Lincolnites have closed their eyes to all sense of shame, and are lost to all the principles of honorable warfare.—Heretofore it has been the custom to treat privateers as prisoners of war, but these base Hessians having over-turned the constitution, and set at defiance the laws they were sworn to support, now contemptuously set aside the law of nations, and act according to the passions and prejudices of their own depraved hearts. When at the outset, they declared their intention to treat privateers as pirates no one believed that they would act so cowardly and so vindictively. But in attributing to them even the semblance of an honorable feeling it seems we were all mistaken. The Privateer Savannah, lately captured by the United States Brig Perry, has been sent on to New York, her crew transferred to the "Minnesota," placed in irons, and every indignity and insult that the malice and hate of these devils could conjure up, has been heaped upon them. Our day of triumph will yet come, and our revenge will be ample. For every Southern soldier Lincoln's hirelings will butcher, ten of theirs will have to pay the price. Let vengeance be the watchword.

No Partyism.—Such is the confidence felt in our new Government, and such the unanimity of feeling among the people, that, partyism has in a measure been crushed.—We find the different candidates for office throughout the State, recommended by their friends, as a general thing, not on account of Breckenridge, Douglas or Bollism, but on the higher and noble grounds of fitness and capacity. This is as it should be.—"Old things have passed away."

While we are rejoiced at such a state of things, we are pained to know, that partyism sticks out in some of the positions assumed by one of the candidates for Governor—the Hon. John E. Moore—a reference to his letter, to some of his North Alabama friends, declaring himself a candidate for Governor will show this to be so. In that letter he makes reference to his having been a candidate before the Democratic Convention which nominated Gov. A. B. Moore, and says that he was the choice of a majority of the members of that Convention, and assumes therefrom that he was the choice of a majority of the people of Alabama. He may at that time have been the choice of a majority of the Democratic party, but does that have anything to do with his candidacy at this time?

His bringing up old party reminiscences, and referring to old party regulations, certainly does not look very much like a desire to allay those unfortunate political prejudices which so long have divided our people.

☞ Our cotemporary, the Mercury, announced yesterday that the times are too hard for it; that it must yield to necessities and stop its daily issue. It promises a weekly paper, with the hope that the return of peace will bring the opportunity and means of resuming its daily issue. Thus two of our Mobile papers have fallen before the tempest which A. L. has raised.—Mobile Tribune.

The Contrast Complete.—Who shall be Governor?

The Hon. Thomas J. Judge, has withdrawn from the contest for the Governorship. His manly and patriotic letter appears in our columns to day. No man more fit for the office, lives within the limits of our great State.

Thus every man of the old Opposition party who had been presented as a candidate for that exalted office, has declined to engage in the "scramble" for it, with the two Democratic seekers, who, though not old in years, are not very young in the mysteries of getting and holding office. The contrast is striking and complete; gentlemen of the old Opposition party can afford to decline, and live without office; but the Democratic aspirants persist in the scramble for the Governorship, and seem resolutely determined to force the people to try the issue, whether the office shall go to the Democratic Circuit Judge from East Alabama, or to the Democratic Circuit Judge from North Alabama.

We take an appeal to the people of this enlightened State—to the people of all the old political parties. We appeal to them to take the election of their Governor into their own hands; and to select a man who is not quite so eager for the office, as Judge Shorter and Judge Moore appear to be. Now is the golden opportunity to secure general harmony and promote the reign of peace and patriotism in our State. Now is the time for the old dominant Democratic party to make its generous, and patriotic, and decisive concessions to the public peace.

Thus far the favorable feeling of the great mass of the old Democratic party, towards the candidates who were of the old Opposition party, has been suppressed. It is only after Messrs. Watts, Jemison, and Judge have declined the canvass, that the silence of Democratic papers generally begins to be broken; beyond doubt, there is a very strong and general feeling among the Democratic masses to elect as Governor, some sound and able man of the old Opposition party; thus, we find in the last number of that staunch old State Rights Democratic organ, the Watchtower at Talladegda, the following manly utterances in favor of the Hon. Thomas H. Watts.

We publish to-day an able letter from Hon. Thomas H. Watts, declining to be a candidate for Governor. It is just such a patriotic letter as we expected from noble Tom Watts. We would rejoice to see him elected Governor in August, by the unanimous vote of Alabama. No man in her borders more deserves the compliment.

Mr. Watts in giving his reasons for declining, says:

"I am free to confess that one reason which has induced me to arrive at the conclusion here announced, is that of the seven or eight newspapers having my name at the head of their columns as a candidate for Governor, only two have heretofore advocated what, in times past, were called Democratic principles."

Here we think he reasons from false premises. Many of the Democratic papers, (we use the word in reference to their former position,) have favored a State Convention to secure harmony, and have, as yet, committed themselves to no candidate. Hence their silence cannot be construed into hostility to Mr. Watts.

The Watchtower thus shows the strong feeling for Mr. Watts amongst the Democrats of the Mountain region. That feeling is almost unanimous in such counties, as [illegible] bers, Talladega, Macon, Russell, Montgomery, Autauga, Dallas, Lowndes, Butler, and the river and western counties generally.

It is true Mr. Watts has declined to be a candidate. But in these times, that should increase the confidence of the people in him. It shows he is no office-seeker. But whilst he does not seek office, and declines being considered a candidate for it, he is too noble a patriot to refuse to serve the people, if they think proper to elect him, after he has declined to be a candidate. In electing him, under the circumstances, the people would give a striking proof of their own independence, and of their appreciation of those sterling virtues which distinguish Mr. Watts, and fit him for the noblest civil service to which a patriot people could call a worthy son.

Mr. Watts is a native of Alabama; he is a man of great ability, of unquestioned capacity as a statesman, a fine scholar, and a christian gentleman. His election as Governor will silence partyism, and make his native Alabama more than ever the object of affection at home, and respect and admiration abroad.

Gunpowder for the South.—Apprehension has been frequently expressed lest the supply of powder at the South might prove inadequate to the demands of a protracted war. The apprehension, we think, is groundless; for, independent of whatever supply of the manufactured article or of the raw material may now be on hand, the elementary substances of which gunpowder is made, can be extracted in exhaustless amounts from our own soil and forests. It is well known by our older citizens that in early times the settlers made their own powder from materials easily obtained. The numerous caves of this region abound in nitrous earth, and in many of them nitre has been made in large quantities. If crude sulphate cannot be obtained in sufficient quantities in our cities, the sulphurets of copper and iron in East Tennessee can furnish an unlimited supply. Our willow, linwood and other trees can furnish the best charcoal.

In this connection we will state that an enterprise has already been set on foot, having in view the production of gunpowder material. Messrs. G. W. Rice, John F. Anderson and John D. Borin, have leased the celebrated Santa Cave, in Jackson county, Alabama and are making extensive preparations for the production of nitre on a large scale. It is also the intention of these gentlemen to extend their operations to include the manufacture of powder. This enterprise we regard as judicious, patriotic, and we doubt not will prove highly remunerative.

The powder mill near Nashville is in vigorous operation, and we expect to hear of many similar establishments springing up magically throughout the South, so that, instead of experiencing a want of this necessary element of warfare, we will in fact have enough and to spare.—Chattanooga Advertiser.

How to Make Ball Cartridges.—Prepare a stick four inches long, perfectly round, and a little smaller than the ball; cut small slices of paper, an inch and a half long, and wide enough to go one and a half times around the stick; prepare a mucilage of water and gum arabic; roll the paper on the stick one time, then put on the mucilage and press it firmly by enrolling it; then trim the stick one-eighth of an inch and put mucilage in the end of the paper; insert the ball and stand it on the point in a cup of flour, of fine dirt or sand, and let it remain until it is dry. This mode is much more convenient and better than the ordinary mode of tying the paper to the ball.

A CARD.

From the period of my nomination as a candidate for the office of Governor, by the people of Lowndes County, on th 22d of April last, I have not been an inattentive observer of the signs and indications in different portions of the State, connected with that election; and upon full view of them all, and after mature reflection, I have determined to withdraw my name from the canvass.

Under the circumstances now existing which I shall not attempt at this time to detail, were I to continue in the field, justice to myself, and to my principles, would require that I should canvass the State; and to canvass the State, might subject me to the imputation of stirring up strife, and fomenting divisions among the people, at a time when they should be united in the great struggle going on for Liberty and Independence.

I feel assured that if I were to continue a candidate, I should receive a large and enthusiastic support—a support of which any man might justly feel proud—mainly from the true and original friends of Southern Rights and Southern Independence, without regard to former party amuences. But as I stated in my letter in response to the Lowndes nomination: "I have made no appeals, used no solicitations, to be placed in the position of a candidate for Governor; and I will not consent to go into any degrading scramble, even to insure the office itself."

In withdrawing from the canvass, I acknowledge my obligations to the many friends in different portions of the State, who have so generously tendered to me their warmest confidence and support.

THOS. J. JUDGE.

Montgomery, Ala., June 24th, 1861.

A Picked up Communication.

The following is a copy of a manuscript picked up in the streets of this city:

The Editors of the New York Herald:

GENTS:—As an old subscriber, and for some years prior to your late antagonism to the South, one of your many admirers, I feel privileged to remonstrate against the more than silly threatenings of those who would contribute to your columns such evidences of real ignorance as the extract herewith enclosed (cut from yours of the 25th), but too plainly discloses.

Can it be that a man of Mr. Alexander Stetson's intelligence so little understands the spirit which animates a people inspired, as we are—of a people who, relying on the justice of their cause, and more than all, on the favor of the Ruler of all—as to believe for a solitary moment, that we are ever to be brought to the "grovelling condition" which his communication prognosticates? This cannot be the sentiment of cooler moments; nor, believe me, can anticipations so unreasonable ever be realized, short of the utter extermination of four-fifths, yes, nine-tenths, of the entire South; and rather than that our people should be reduced to a condition so abject—rather than that they should ever bow the knee, to other than to Him to whom all allegiance is due—rather, I say, than this, may they everlastingly perish all!

I, Messrs. Editors, was one of those who, for a time, stood firm against, and resolutely breasted, the storm of secession; believing, as I did, that true wisdom prompted action more deliberate, and in the necessity for making all reasonable demands of the North after a conference of the South, such as might wisely determine what these demands were to be.

"I loved the Union for the sake of the Union;" I loved it for the blessings innumerable which I believed it had conferred upon me and mine, though long sensible of, and feeling as keenly as any, the many wrongs which the South had so patiently suffered from the extremists of the North.

To these feelings, these instincts of love, I always, with a pertinucity which I now wonder at, and wondering know not, how to account for!

And this change, Mr. Editor, as with thousands of others, has been wrought by the idle threatenings of Northern prints, coupled with the evident policy, looking, as it does, to coercion for remedy, of the miserable—the deluded demagogues in power at Washington.

An extremist in nothing—a conservative in all things—I have, despite myself, been thus brought to feel that the South should now, never sheathe her sword until she has resolutely conquered an honorable peace; and relying firmly upon the omnipotent aid of the God of the just, I firmly believe that the temper of his people is, that she never shall; and in this determination be assured that she is firmly and indissolubly united.

Led by such a man as the author of the enclosed Proclamation, and invocation to an all seeing Divinity, can it be that she will ever be enslaved? Heaven grant that this may never, never be!

With the hope that you may publish the Proclamation above referred to, of our beloved President, W. S. J.

The Southern Climate and Yankee Soldiers.—In his work on military surgery, just published, Dr. Gross says: "The number of sick that may be expected to be constantly on hand during any given campaign is estimated, on an average, at ten per cent; but this proportion must be necessarily exceeded, especially in an invading army, with raw, undisciplined and unacclimated troops. This was eminently true even in the Crimea, in a climate comparatively healthy, within a few miles of the sea. We may well imagine what would be the effects of the climate of the South upon the Northern troops, if they were to pass far, during the hot season, beyond Mason and Dixon's Line. Disease, in its worst form, would be sure to seize and thin their ranks at every step. Fever—typhoid, typhus, remittent and intermittent and yellow—dysentery, diarrhœa, scurvy, pneumonia, and inflammation of the liver would accomplish more, infinitely more, for the Southern cause than all the weapons of war that could be placed in the hands of the Southern people. Typhoid, typhus and yellow fever, dysentery, diarrhœa and scurvy, would, in all human probability, soon become epidemic, and occasion a mortality truly appalling. The Southern soldier, on the contrary, thoroughly acclimated as he is, would suffer considerably little."

A Pipe for Lincolnites to Smoke.—The Concordia Rifles, who arrived here yesterday, are commanded by Capt. Zeb York, a man able to buy the Washington administration. Capt. York and Mr. Hoover, of Concordia, raised the company at their own expense.—They pay their men $15 a month, give $20 a month to the support of each man's wife in necessitous circumstances, and $5 to each soldier's child. If any individual or corporation an beat this, we want to know it.—N. O. Delta.

War Meetings.

We will meet and address the people of Macon county at the following times and places, as agents for the Government, to solicit contracts for the delivery of cotton, wheat, &c., to be paid in the bonds of the Confederate Government.—Let the patriotic planters and farmers of old Macon show their faith by their works:

The War—Stand up to your Country—Support your Brave Boys who Fight your Battles.

The Congress of the Confederate States having requested each of its members to exert himself to obtain subscriptions of raw produce, to be paid for in bonds of the Confederate States, bearing interest at 8 per cent., the undersigned will address the people and receive subscriptions at the times and places as follows:

Montgomery, Monday 24th of June.

Tuskegee, Macon county, Friday, 28th June.
Union Springs, Macon county, Saturday, 29th June.

Tallassee, Tallapoosa county, Friday, 5th July, prox.
Wetumpka, Coosa county, Saturday, 6th July, prox.

It is hoped that every man who feels an interest in his country's independence, will come out (if not providentially hindered) to these meetings. Distinguished speakers, who are willing to labor in this glorious cause—to sacrifice comfort, property, even life itself for its success, have promised to be with me when they possibly could, and address the people also at these meetings. Among them I name Hon. Thomas H. Watts and Hon. Samuel F. Rice.

I need not urge upon the people the importance of these meetings, and the necessity of standing by our gallant sons and brothers, who have gone forth to pour out their life-blood, if need be, in defence of our rights. W. P. CHILTON,
Member of Confederate Congress.

I hope the patriotic papers which circulate in the neighborhood of these appointments will extend this notice. W. P. C.

A CARD.

To the Voters of Montgomery County:

FOR sometime my name has been before you, for the office of Sheriff of this county. Relieved from service at Fort Morgan, with a prospect of a peaceful settlement of our difficulties, I again urged the consideration of my claims. War having commenced, I believed it my duty to again take up arms for my native South, and will leave here to morrow in the ranks of the Montgomery True Blues for the seat of war. My devotion will cost my all—perhaps life itself—I cheerfully pledge it. Should I survive the campaign, I will need the emoluments of the office to support my wife and children. If I fall, I bequeath them to my country. I leave my cause in your hands. If elected and living, I will fill the office to the best of my ability. Respectfully,

JAMES Y. BRAMH.

Montgomery, April 29th, 1861.

THE undersigned would respectfully inform his friends and the traveling public, that he has leased the above Hotel for a term of years, and has made extensive improvements for the comfort of his guests, and is now prepared to receive a continuance of that liberal patronage which has always contributed to the popularity of this well known Hotel.

The house has been thoroughly renovated, refitted and re-furnished, and is now, in point of comfort, second to no hotel in the South.

One of Jackson's Patent Annunciators has been added to the house, giving a bell to every room, which adds much to the convenience of guests.

The Bar and Billiard Room have been enlarged and re-furnished, where a supply of the choicest Wines and Liquors can always be found.

The Table is always supplied with every delicacy the market affords, with attentive servants.

White Sulphur Springs,
MERIWETHER COUNTY GEORGIA.

THIS celebrated Watering Place will be opened on the 4th of May, and every comfort provided within or reach, for the accommodation and pleasure of visitors. We have spared no pains or expense in putting the establishment and grounds in good order, and hope to merit an increase of the liberal patronage heretofore bestowed.

The mineral properties of our waters are unrivalled in the beneficial influences over all the diseases when Chalybeate, Red Sulphur, or White Sulphur Waters are needed. The hundreds of invalids suffering from Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Kidney Diseases, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Cutaneous Affections, Constitutional or Accidental Irregularities, &c., who have found almost miraculous relief, are widely dispersed through the Southern Confederacy, that we deem it unnecessary to say anything more of their merits.

To the pleasure seeker, we recommend our climate, mountain air, healthful amusements, choice fruits and good society, as worthy of notice.

A splendid line

FOUR-HORSE COACHES

will run daily from West Point to the Springs, and through tickets can be secured at the rail road offices in Montgomery, Columbus and Atlanta. All packages and all mail matter, prepaid to West Point, care of Jesse L. Adams, will arrive at the Springs daily.

☞ Good Hacks and careful drivers will be found at Griffin, ready to accommodate all who come that way.

MONTVALE SPRINGS,
NEAR KNOXVILLE, EAST TENNESSEE,
IS NOW OPENED.

THIS resort for health or pleasure seekers, as its name indicates, is located in a sequestered valley, almost enclosed by mountain spurs of the Alleghany, known as the Chilnowee, and rise up on every side, and embosom a valley which cannot be contemplated by the lover of nature without much enjoyment.

Of the beneficial effects of this water on cases of

Dyspepsia, Chronic Liver Complaint,

And diseases most common in Southern latitudes, no more certain and effective remedy exists.

The hotel accommodations consist of a LARGE and COMMODIOUS BUILDING, with spacious piazzas on each story, running the entire length of the building, and numerous.

GOTHIC COTTAGES,

all tastefully arranged on the lawn in front of the main hotel and accessible to both spring and hotel.

The lawn is handsomely covered with grass and beautifully shaded with majestic forest trees. No watering place presents more attractions than Montvale, and the proprietors respectfully invite the attention of those who seek a retreat in summer, either for health or pleasure.

Visitors will go to Knoxville, and thence 24 miles by stage, which connects with the trains.

J. J. HARMAN respectfully announces to his former visitors, and the public generally, that he has entered into a co-partnership with Mr. J. S. NICHOLS, of Savannah, Ga., for the ensuing season at this

CELEBRATED WATERING PLACE.

Thankful for the patronage heretofore extended to him, he would solicit a continuance of the same for the firm, who will endeavor at all times to provide for the table, bar, &c., every luxury attainable.

Our Cooks will be the most experienced that the South can produce, together with an efficient force of attentive servants. There will be an excellent BRASS AND STRING BAND of superior musicians attached to the Hotel.

The medicinal virtues of these many and varied Mineral Waters are now too well known to require an extensive description. In addition to the Red, White and Black Sulphur Springs—many of them combined with Iron and Magnesia—is an inexhaustable well of the purest Freestone.

Our accommodations are very extensive. We have many pleasant cottages separate from the main hotel, where families can be as quiet and retired as in their own homes.

HARMAN & NICHOLS.

☞ Catoosa Springs are in Catoosa county, Ga., two and a quarter miles from the Western and Atlantic Rail Road. A fine Omnibus and good Hacks will be at the platform on the arrival of each train.
