Lowndesboro. Ala.
12th February. 1888.

My dear Sir.

An obituary in the Montgomery papers announces the untimely death of your gallant and distinguished son, my esteemed young friend, Col. Bolling Hall Jr. I will not presume to invade the sacred privacy of the domestic circle at a time of such deep affliction, But only ask to be allowed to drop a tear upon the grave of the departed hero, and to assure you of my deep sympathy and condolence.

I am, dear Sir,
Very respectfully & truly
Your friend.

Braxton Bragg.
