AMERICAN RED CROSS

39

Aug. 4th 1918

Mother Rush.

Note considerable improvement in my condition as indicated by the fact that this is executed with my right hand.

Bulletin No 3.

My right hand emerged from its bandage today much to my joy and comfort. Shoulder and arm still in tight bandage which still prevents very free action of my hand and so for the time being my letters will have to be limited in length.

A few corrections — (1) It was Dr. Grady of Montgy and not Mc Call which I spoke of. Do you remember him? (2) My wound is through the scapula (shoulder blade) and not the collar bone.

The wound is healing rapidly and and I'm feeling fine. I have been evacuated to a base hospital in South Central France - My address remains the same as usual.

Hope your thumb is all well now. Awfully sorry to hear about it. I had good laugh over the way you wrote about it.

Please remember that this is a very simple wound and I am neither in pain nor uncomfortable, and I'll soon be entirely well.

Love, a world of it and a kiss.

Pence.
