Talks Set Tonight On Dauphin Bridge

The question of a Dauphin Island Bridge project will be revived at the AmVet Club on Cedar Point Rd. Monday night.

Rep. Frank W. Boykin (D, Ala.) and John E. Toomey, chairman of the Dauphin Island Bridge committee of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce are scheduled to speak to a mass meeting of citizens, called by the Fowl River Civic Club.

J. L. Sheppard, president of the club said a general invitation had been extended to all civic and community groups in the south part of the county to attend the meeting. Individuals interested in the proposed bridge also are invited to be present.

The bridge project has been sought for years. Shortly before the war sponsors thought the project was near execution, but the conflict brought cancellation of the program.
