Notice.

THE attention of the public is requested to the following statement. On the evening of Saturday the 19th instant, the house of the subscriber, on Swift Creek, was entered during her absence, by JOHN BRYAN, and a free mulatto girl named DICEY MOORE, the daughter of Lydia Moore, was forcibly taken and carried away in a chair by the said Bryan. It is believed that he has a forged bill of sale for the girl, purporting to have been executed by her mother, and it is feared that he has carried the girl to the South, with the intention of selling her. Dickey Moore has lived with the subscriber since she was fifteen months old, and the fact of her freedom can be proved beyond the possibility of a doubt. She is now about 17 years old five feet high, with a yellowish complexion, thick bushy hair, and wears rings in her ears.

Bryan is about 6 feet high, has blue eyes, is a little round shouldered, and a long nose.

The editors of Southern papers are requested to give the foregoing an insertion in their respective papers, as possibly it may save from a state of slavery, this girl who has an unquestionable right to her freedom.

OUR RELATIONS WITH SPAIN.

Washington, May 10.—The following Message was yesterday transmitted to both Houses of Congress by the President of the United States:To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.I communicate to Congress a correspondence which has taken place between the Secretary of State and the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of His Catholic Majesty, since the message of the 27th March last, respecting the treaty which was concluded between the United States and Spain, on the 22d February, 1819.After the failure of his Catholic Majesty for so long a time to ratify the treaty, it was expected that his Minister would have brought with him the ratification, or that he would have been authorised to give an order for the delivery of the territory ceded by it, to the U. States. It appears, however, that the treaty is still unratified, and that the Minister has no authority to surrender the territory. The object of his mission has been to make complaints, and to demand explanations, respecting an imputed system of hostility, on the part of citizens of the U. S. against the subjects and dominions of Spain, and an unfriendly policy in their government, and to obtain new stipulations against these alleged injuries, as the condition on which the treaty should be ratified.Unexpected as such complaints and such a demand were, under existing circumstances, it was thought proper as to the course to be pursued, to meet them promptly, and to give the explanations that were desired, on every subject, with the utmost candor. The result has proved what was sufficiently well known before, that the charge of a systematic hostility being adopted & pursued by citizens of the U. States, against the dominions and subjects of Spain, is utterly destitute of foundation; and that their government, in all its branches, has maintained, with the utmost rigor, that neutrality, in the civil war between Spain and her colonies, which they were the first to declare.
No force has been collected, nor incu-sions made, from within the U. States against the dominions of Spain; nor have any naval equipments been permitted in favor of either party against the other. Their citizens have been warned of the obligations incident to the neutral condition of their country; the public officers have been instructed to see that the laws were fully executed and severe examples have been made of some who violated them.In regard to the stipulation proposed, as the condition of the ratification of the treaty, that the United States shall abandon the right to recognize the revolutionary colonies in South America, or to form other relations with them, when, in their judgment, it may be just and expedient so to do, it is manifestly so repugnant to the honor, and even to the independence of the United States, that it has been impossible to discuss it. In making this proposal, it is perceived that His Catholic Majesty has entirely misconceived the principles on which this government has acted, in being a party to a negotiation so long protracted, for claims so well founded and reasonable, as he likewise has the sacrifices which the United States have made, comparatively, with Spain, in the treaty to which it is proposed to annex so extraordinary and improper a condition.Had the Minister of Spain offered an unqualified pledge that the treaty should be ratified by his sovereign, on being made acquainted with the explanations which had been given by his government, there would have been a strong motive for accepting and submitting it to the Senate for their advice and consent, rather than to resort to other measures for redress, however justifiable and proper. But he gives no such pledge. On the contrary, he declares explicitly that the refusal of this government to relinquish the right of judging and acting for itself hereafter, according to circumstances, in regard to the Spanish colonies, a right common to all nations—has rendered it impossible for him, under his instructions, to make such engagement. He thinksthat his sovereign will be induced, by his communications, to ratify the treaty; but still he leaves him free either to adopt that measure or to decline it.
He admits that the other objections are essentially removed, and will not, in themselves, prevent the ratification, provided the difficulty on the third point is surmounted. The result, therefore, is that the treaty is declared to have no obligation whatever; that its ratification is made to depend not on the considerations which led to its adoption, and the conditions which it contains, but on a new article unconnected with it, respecting which a new negotiation must be opened, of indefinite duration and doubtful issue.Under this view of the subject, the course to be pursued would appear to be direct and obvious, if the affairs of Spain had remained in the state in which they were in when this minister sailed. But it is known, that an important change has since taken place in the government of that country, which cannot fail to be sensibly felt in its intercourse with other nations.— The minister of Spain has essentially declared his inability to act, in consequence of that change. With him, however, under his present powers, nothing could be done. The attitude of the United States must now be assumed, on full consideration of what is due to their rights, their interest, and honor, without regard to the powers or incidents of the late mission. We may at pleasure, occupy the territory, which was intended and provided for the late treaty, as an indemnity for losses so long since sustained by our citizens; but still nothing could be settled definitively, without a treaty between the two nations? If the U. S. were governed by the views of ambition and aggrandizement, many strong reasons might be given in its favor. But they have no objects of that kind to accomplish: none which are not founded in justice, and which can be injured by forbearance. Great hope is entertained that this change will promote the happiness of the Spanish nation. The good order, moderation, and humanity, which have characterised the movement, are the best guarantees of its success. The U. S. would not be justified in their own estimation, should they take any step to disturb its harmony. When the Spanish government is completely organized, on the principles of this change, as it is expected it soon will be, there is just ground to presume that our differences with Spain will be speedily and satisfactorily settled. With these remarks, I submit it to the wisdom of Congress, whether it will not still be advisable to postpone any decision on this subject, until the next session.

JAMES MONROE.

SPANISH CONSTITUTION.

The following sketch of the Constitution of Spain, of 1812, so often referred to in the addresses, &c. of the national army, may be found in vol. 1, page 153, of Nile's Register."Spain belongs to the Spaniards, and not to any particular family. The nation alone can establish fundamental laws. The Catholic, Apostolic and Roman religion, to the exclusion of every other, is the one that the nation does and will profess. The form of her government is that of an hereditary monarchy. The Cortes will enact the laws and the king cause them to be executed. They enjoy the rights of citizens who have been born of Spanish parents, as also foreigners who have married Spaniards, or have come with a capital to get themselves naturalized, or to trade in the country, or to teach some useful art. Citizens alone can be preferred to municipal offices. The rights of citizens can be forfeited by long absence from the kingdom, and by undergoing afflictive and disgraceful punishments.The king's person is inviolable and sacred—he has the power of sanctioning the laws enacted by the Cortes;— can declare war and make peace; is to appoint all civil and military officers, out of a list of individuals proposed by the council of state, conducts diplomatic affairs, watches over the application of the public funds, &c. &c.

RESTRAINT ON THE ROYAL POWER.

The king cannot oppose the meeting of the Cortes at the periods, or under the circumstances pointed out by the constitution, nor restrain the freedom of their deliberations when met, nor suspend them, etc.; and such as shall advise him to do so, shall be held and treated as traitors. He cannot undertake a journey, marry, alienate any thing, abdicate the crown, lay on taxes, nor exchange any town, city, etc. without previous consent of the Cortes.Ferdinand VII. is acknowledged by the Cortes, king of Spain; and upon his demise, his legitimate descendants.[The settlement of the succession, the Cortes appear to have reserved to themselves.]The king is minor until he shall have completed his 18th year.The king's eldest son is styled prince of Asturias, and as such will, when 14 years old, swear before the Cortes, that he will observe the constitutional laws, and be faithful to the king. During the latter's minority, a regency shall be established, which shall take care that he be brought up in conformity to the plan adopted by the Cortes. The regency will be presided by the queen mother, if alive, and composed of the two oldest deputies of the permanent deputation of the Cortes; which deputation shall continue the whole year in function—and of two counsellors of state, according to their seigniority.The Cortes will grant a yearly sum sufficient for the maintenance of the king and his family, and also country seats for his amusement, &c.The king's sons may be appointed to all offices, except those of judges or deputies of the Cortes. They cannot leave the kingdom without the consent of the latter.There will be eight secretaries of state—two of whom for North & South America. They should be responsible for the transactions in their respective departments, and the Cortes will determine what appointments they are to receive.A council of state will be established, composed of forty members, four of whom to be grandees of known merit and virtue; four to belong to the clergy, out of whom two bishops; twelve Americans, and the others to be taken from the deserving of the other professions.The counsellors of state are to be appointed by the king out of a list of candidates proposed by the Cortes.— The latter to be convened every year on the first of March, and to continue sitting three months unless the session should be prolonged upon the king's demand, or for some very urgent reason; but in no case for a longer term than one month.As to the election of the delegates to the Cortes, it is to be managed as directed by the constitution; (the dispositions relative thereto being very much detailed, and framed with great judgment and a laudable foresight.)There will be one deputy for every 70,000 souls.The king will open the Cortes, or, in his name, the president of the deputation; which must be permanent to enforce the execution of the constitutional laws of the Spanish monarchy."'Tis remarked by VOLTAIRE that those periods only are worthy the attention of the philosopher and the historian, which produce extraordinary revolutions in the character and manners of nations—which change the face of civil society—exhibit new developments of moral and physical energy, and furnish new and powerful impulses to intellectual operation. How splendid then the theme for the pen of the historic muse, furnished by the late glorious revolution in Spain—a revolution excited by oppression, carried on by the irresistible force of public opinion, with a sacred regard to individual rights, and completed without bloodshed. Struggles for liberty have, most generally, spread death and desolation among the habitations of men—rapine has unfurled his banner; widows and orphans have mourned—and the pen that has recorded them has been dipped in blood. But here none of these horrid spectacles chill the heart: all is peace and joy—a scene pleasing beyond expression to man, and hailed with the holiest rapture by angels above. *Georgia Jour.*On Tuesday last the Marshal of this district, accompanied by a detachment of troops, captured 53 men belonging to an expedition, which has for some time past been secretly organizing, in order to make an irruption into the province of Texas. About six miles above town, on this side of the river, they were discovered in a boat, and immediately began to make off towards the woods. Fifty three were taken and brought to town the same day.— They were without arms. After hearing testimony the district judge of the U. S. ordered the proceedings on the part of the general government to be discontinued against all of them except four, against whom it is alleged there is evidence sufficient to commit them for trial. The remainder are detained under the vagrant law of the state of Louisiana.—*Orleans Gaz.*The Theatre at Washington City was destroyed by fire on the morning of the 19th ult.

CHARLESTON, May 9.

Very Late from England.

By captain Berry, of the fine new fast sailing ship FAMA, arrived at this port yesterday afternoon, in 35 days from Liverpool, and 29 from land to land, we have been favored with Liverpool papers to the 25th of March, & a London paper of the 1st of April; and our mercantile friends have politely furnished us with extracts from their Liverpool letters, and a Liverpool commercial paper of the 3d of April; together with Lloyd's List, to the 29th of March.The disturbances in Ireland still continued, but the operations of the malcontents was mostly confined to the destruction of private property, or the annoyance of obnoxious individuals.Letters have been received in England from her majesty the queen, dated at Rome as late as the 16th of March.
She complains that she had received no official intelligence of the death of the late king, and that the British ministers abroad treat her with much indignity. She was about to set off on her journey to England.COBBET was defeated in his election for Coventry, and was driven out of the town, at the close of the poll, by the mob.The Admiral Hawke, a new 74, was launched at Woolwich, on the 16th of March, amidst an immense concourse of spectators.The trial of HUNT, and nine others, for a conspiracy, to alter the government, by riotously assembling at Manchester, commenced at York, on the 16th March. Many of the papers are filled with reports of the trial. The jury were out 5 hours, when they bro't in a verdict, that Hunt should be bound over to keep the peace for six months in the sum of £2000; the others in 1000 and £500 each.It is said that the coronation of KING GEORGE THE IVth is not to take place until August next.In the Westminster election, at the first close of the poll, the votes were, for Sir F. BURDETT, 5327; Mr. HOUB-HOUSE, 4879; Mr. LAMB, 4465. The two first named were declared duly elected.The trial of Sir FRANCIS BURDETT commenced at the Leister Assizes on the 23d March, and terminated the same evening in the conviction of the Baronet.A decree has been published by the new Spanish government, forever abolishing the odious tribunal of the Inquisition.

STATE OF THE MARKETS.

(Extracts of Letters.)

LIVERPOOL, April 1.

"In Uplands and Orleans, if there is any change at all, there is a trifling decline. At 11½ for fair Uplands there are more buyers than sellers.— Brazil sorts are without alteration, and the fair Sea Islands disposed of by public sales on Thursday, went off at a decline of 1d per lb. and had the whole been pressed on the market, a further reduction must probably have been submitted to—no change of moment in the price or demand for Surats and Bengals.No change in rice—it is wanted.— 200 barrels of Turpentine offered today did not sell, it was short of two thirds soft, and was taken for 11 6d per cwt."New rice, was warehoused free of duty, 21s a 22s per cwt.; Tobacco, Carolina and Georgia, 3½ a 5½d per lb.; Flour in bond, 32 a 34s; Staves, hhds.
16 a 20; Pitch Pine, hhds. 3s 4d a 3s 6d—duty 6s 5d per 50 feet.

THE TURKS.

In the New-England Galaxy, a paper which, notwithstanding the dullness of the times, manages to keep up its full share of interesting matter, we find the following account of the Turks. If the facts are as stated, those that are termed barbarians are christians in practice, while we who are christians by name are barbarians in reality.

Metropolitan.

Notwithstanding their religion differs from ours, still I cannot help respecting it! They worship the same God that we do; they esteem our Saviour as a great prophet and law-giver; their prayers are evidently offered with a sincere heart, and considering that it is the religion of their ancestors, how can we blame them for preferring itto ours? Did you but know in what contempt they hold a re-negado, you would agree in opinion with me, that the combined powers of the whole christian world would not be able to persuade a virtuous mussulman to change his faith.Honesty, so often sought, and rarely found among the enlightened and religious communities of Europe and America, in this part of Asia and in the Turkish dominions west of the Hellespont stands unrivalled.Whether a sense of virtue or moral obligations to each other contained in the pages of the Koran, is the cause, I am unable to say; but all travellers who have visited this country, and are divested o prejudice, will do them the justice to say, that theft is a crime almost unknown throughout the realms of the Grand Seigneur.A merchant of Smyrna having occasion to send about five hundred pounds sterling a distance of about four days journey into the country, requested his brokers to find a suitable person! The first they met in the streets, although one of the lowest porters, he engaged for that purpose.The gold was given him in a bag, and without even enquiring his name, or residence in the city, he was directed to hand it to the merchant in the village, whose name was given him on a piece of paper; and on his return he should receive the amount agreed on, and about five dollars as a compensation for his trouble.On the eighth or ninth day he returned to the city, stating that he had delivered the money, when he received his pay, and went to seek employment in the streets.After an elapse of nearly a month, a letter from the merchant announced that he had not received the money, and expressed surprise at the circumstance. This excited considerable alarm, particularly as it was almost impossible to find the messenger, having a second time neglected to take his name.After three days search, however, he was found, staggering through the streets with a heavy burden on his back; and being informed of the cause why they sought him, he laid it down and exclaimed, "God forbid that I should wrong any man, even a Christian;" but, he continued, "I will go back at my own expense and see who has got the property; otherwise my reputation will be ruined!" This speech had a curious effect from a man whose whole real and personal estate would not in all probability have amounted to fifty piasters.He departed, and arriving at the village, examined with the scrutinizing eye every Christian he met, till at last the Greek, to whom he had given the gold, presented himself.—
"You have injured my reputation, like a dog as you are, (said the porter) and have taken from me that which belongs to another! but, thank God, you are found at last! I will take you to the agha, and have you hung, that the world may be rid of such a scoundrel!" The Greek on his knees begged forgiveness: "I was in distress, (he said) when I saw you, and having occasion for the money, I assumed the name of my neighbor! It was my intention to have paid him before he would

GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7.

By a recent arrangement the Eastern Mail arrives on Wednesdays, in consequence of which, the GAZETTE will, in future be issued on Thursdays.

By the report of the Physicians for the week preceeding Saturday the 3d inst: Deaths none.

At this time our city is very healthy, and we have much reason to believe will continue so.

After the Message from the President of the United States to Congress, on the subject of our relations with Spain, there can be but little doubt but that that matter will be suffered by congress to rest where it now does; in the expectation that the Cortes will do what is just in relation to us, by causing the treaty to be ratified, and the faith of the Spanish nation to be redeemed from the reproach which has been cast upon it by the refusal of its sovereign to ratify the treaty. An attempt was made, yesterday, to obtain an expression of the opinion of the House of Representatives in favor of a different course; but, the previous question being then called, and the call being sustained by a majority of the house, the motion was overruled. There appears, indeed, no probability that congress will, under present circumstances, no urgency demanding it, authorize the President to cause to be occupied any part of the territory in possession of Spain.—Nat. Int.

The termination of the present session of congress is fixed by a joint vote of the two Houses, to take place on the 15th inst.

The STEAM SHIP, FULTON, arrived at New-Orleans on the 15th ult. in 12 days from New-York—she sails again for New-York, (to touch at Charleston and Havana) on to-morrow.

We have received information, the authenticity of which cannot be questioned, that "the Provisional Government of the Constitutionists at Isla, (the head quarters,) have in their Gazette formally acknowledged the Independence of South America."

It is true that this act is liable to a reconsideration when the national government shall be established; nevertheless, the fact is sufficient to convince us that a further prosecution of the war in South America is not the wish of the people of Spain, and that the government will be influenced in future by the wishes of the people, there can be no doubt.

We are even ready to believe that if the Constitutionists are disposed to make terms with Ferdinand at all, one of the stipulations will be the acknowledgment of the Independence of the South American colonies.

We also state positively, that orders had been given at Madrid, to dismiss all the transports so long employed at Cadiz. Thus is all idea of the expedition to South America officially abandoned.—Norfolk Herald.

St. Louis, (M. T.) April 1.

The town was illuminated on Thursday evening according to the notice given by the Board of Trustees. It was entirely general, the whole town not presenting above four or five instances of exception. To these no sort of molestation was offered, and the evening passed off without a single occurrence to interrupt the harmony of the town, or to mar the festivity of the scene. Among the names which appeared in transparencies were those of the "Eight Senators" and "Fifteen Representatives" from the non-slaveholding states, who supported the right of Missouri at the risk of their own personal popularity. Mr. Lammian's name occurred most frequently. Some were in favor of burning the effigy of an adversary Senator (Mr. King) in retaliation for the indignity offered to him at Hartford; but the idea was discouraged, and it was not done. "Our faithful delegate," Mr. Scott, was duly noticed. To enumerate all our friends from the South and West who deserve the gratitude of Missouri, would be to repeat the list of their names as published last week.

Among the transparencies was noticed at Dr. Heely's a beautiful representation of the American Eagle, from the beak the words "Missouri and no restriction"—Underneath was the Irish Harp, and the motto "Erin go bragh."

The election for Governor of the state of New-York terminated on the 27th ult. The votes taken in the city amounted to 843, of which number there were 89 for Dewitt Clinton, and 754 for Daniel D. Tompkins, leaving a majority for the latter of 665 votes.—The result in the other parts of the state was not known up to the date of our last accounts.

LOUISVILLE, K. April 26.

Capt. Voorhies, of the steam boat Frankfort, reports the following particulars of an Indian Massacre, which took place on the river, at little Prairie, below New Madrid:

"Little Prairie, April 26.—Three Seminole Indians (2 men and 1 boy) murdered a Capt. DAVIS, of Nashville, who was laying to on a sand bar, with a flat boat. Capt. Davis was scalped and thrown into the river; his body was found and buried on Mr. Walker's plantation. Capt Davis had one white man and two blacks on board of his boat; the white man was tomahawked in a dangerous manner, but escaped from the savages & concealed himself among some willows; the black men were out, hunting when the murder was committed. On their return to the boat, they were seized by the Indians, who seeing fire-arms in their possession retreated, having first shewn them the scalp of captain Davis, their master.—The people on board a flat boat a short distance below, state they saw the murder committed. An express was immediately sent to New-Madrid, where a party of men were raised and went in pursuit of the savages; they found a party of nine, but could only take three of them; among whom is their chief, who declares the innocence of those taken, but says the murderers shall be brought in and delivered up.

Lumber Trade,

I tender my services to the public, and inform them that I will receive on consignment, for sale—or for shipping to the West-India islands, various kinds of Lumber—such as yellow pine plank and scantling, white oak hogshead staves, red oak do. do. (with heading) hogshead hoop poles, &c. &c.

The advantages which would most unquestionably result to merchants in the state (and particularly in the interior, where lumber of every description can be procured at a low price, and the facility with which shipments can be made, and the proceeds realized in a short time) must be quite obvious to every one—and possesses in fact advantages (at present) greatly over the staple article of the country.

Having established regular agents and correspondents in the different West-India Islands, it will be in my power at all times to give the market price of the above mentioned articles—or to make shipments and realize the proceeds upon the shortest and most advantageous terms. Also, every information given respecting dimensions, &c. on application to the subscriber.

feel any claim as to the remittance. But spare my character; here is your gold, and here are 500 piasters for yourself!" The Turk allowed him to depart, took the money to the right owner, and returned with his pockets better filled than they had ever been during the whole course of his life.

The perfect resignation with which the Turks submit to the dispensation of Providence, cannot but be pleasing to every one. If they are fortunate, God is praised; if the reverse, they say "His will be done."

The Turk never effects insurance on his commercial adventures; but often, previous to dispatching his vessel, makes a solemn promise that, should he be fortunate, a sum of money shall be bestowed in charity, which promise is never broken. But should she be lost, and, as often happens, his whole property with her, he exclaims, "God's will be done," and seeks in the streets the means of accumulating another, in the laborious employment of a porter.

His friends continue to show him the respect he previously experienced, remarking, "our brother has been unfortunate, but it was the will of God! why should we treat him otherwise? We are all liable to lose our possessions, and it would be censuring the decrees of the Almighty, were we to neglect him!" How can we but admire these principles, notwithstanding they emanate from the breasts of those differing from us in religious tenets?

THE NEW TARIFF REJECTED.

The bill to increase the duties on certain imported articles, was yesterday rejected in the senate, after three or four hours debate. Though the particular motion by which the bill was lost, was carried by a single vote only, we have reason to believe that the majority would have been greater had the question been a direct one upon the merits of the bill. Several gentlemen, we understand, one or two of them from the North, who voted against postponing the bill, would have voted against its enactment, either in the shape in which it passed the house of representatives, or as it was proposed to be modified by the committee of the senate.

The debate which will be published, will disclose the views of those who opposed, as well as of those who advocated, the additional duties. It may not be improper, however, in the mean time, to state, that the opponents of the bill avowed no hostility to the manufacturing interest—all agreed as to the policy of affording a due protection to domestic manufactures; the difference of opinion was as to the degree of encouragement which is necessary. The leading motive avowed by those who opposed the bill was the belief, that the high duties proposed, would have the effect of excluding foreign fabrics to such an extent as to depress materially, if not destroy entirely, the commerce and the navigation of the country, and consequently cripple our naval strength, annihilate the revenue from imposts, and render internal taxes necessary for the support of the government. Some believed that the existing duties were sufficient. These opinions, it is true, were met with force and ability, by the friends of the bill; but they prevailed. It appears to us that a system less indiscriminate, embracing a small augmentation of duties, would have received the sanction of both houses.

The Supreme Court of this state closed its first session yesterday: we understand that there were between two and three hundred cases disposed of, some of them involving important law questions; we are happy to have it in our power to say, that the bar were highly gratified with the decisions of the bench, and we believe we can truly say that but few states in the Union, can boast of greater legal talents than this state.

Williamsbury.

THIS beautiful and healthy situated summer retreat, is fifteen miles below Mobile, on the east side of the Bay; its northern and southern environs are contiguous to streams and refreshing rivulets, and the whole place is interspersed with bold springs of the most pure and transparent water. It is thus rendered as salubrious as the umbrageous foliage of its scenery, and the undulating waters of the bay and gulf make it romantic.

The Oysters and Fish which may be taken in the neighbourhood of this place, are inferior to none caught in the bay, and the abundance of wild game, such as deer, turkey, &c. &c. with which the whole country seems to abound, render it the most desirable spot for sportsmen.—A number of families have already settled in Williamsbury, and others are making arrangements to pass the summer there. Persons wishing to avail themselves of a retreat so enviable, from which may be seen in clear weather, both MOBILE and Mobile point, will apply to GEO. TY-LEE, on the premises, or to the proprietor in Mobile.
