TOWN OF MARATHON.

The lots in the town of Marathon were sold in this place during the present week.

The highest price given was 800 dollars and the lowest $3. The aggregate sale amounted to about $27,000.

Most of our readers will recollect that this town was laid out by government at the place called Melton's Bluff near the head of the Shoals in Tennessee river.

A plan of the town was exhibited at the Register's office by which the lots were sold.

The following letter from a house in New-York to a gentleman in this town, was politely handed us for publication.

The subject of the letter is vitally important to the permanent interests of this country and we hope will be read and attended to by the purchasers and ginnerers of Cotton.

It speaks a language that materially affects our character abroad, and as it comes from high authority & at a very reasonable time too, the Ginnerers of Cotton should take the subject of it to themselves, and in pursuing such a course as would advance their own interest, retrieve the character of the Territory.

The merchants and buyers too, are in fault for if they would discriminate between Gins and pay according to the quality of the Cotton, Ginnerers would feel an interest in rejecting the trash which is frequently offered.

We lately called the attention of our readers to this subject and suggested the propriety of soliciting Legislative interference to regulate Cotton Gins.—A spirited memorial would doubtless be attended with success and do credit to the Territory.

"We regret to say that the quality of nearly all your cotton is so terribly bad that we have not been able to obtain an offer for it.

There has never been so much trash together in this market as we have received this year from Huntsville, and for our own credit's sake, we have to beg that we may in future have some of the good with the bad, qualities. Prime Huntsville Cotton (of which we have received none this season) would command 33 cts and we may quote the worst qualities as low as 25 cts. And this surely is enough to induce the purchasers in your places to discriminate—sentence of condemnation will be passed on the Huntsville Cotton in every market unless the quality be more attended to by the planters and Huntsville Merchants. Letters from Liverpool have been received which state that the Cotton is but little better if any better than the common India Cotton!! And we find that those who have shipped it once will not buy it a second time!!"

USURY.

The following complimentary article from the Enquirer furnishes a pleasing evidence of the hearty approbation, the late law of this Territory, has received by well informed and unprejudiced men in Foreign states. A departure from ancient customs founded in ignorance and superstition and continued, more from the influence of habit, force of example, than from any conviction of justice or policy, is a mark of independence, in a government, and evinces a laudable spirit of improvement in its members. Although the act of our Legislature, repealing all laws against usury be singular, & we might almost say unnecessary in a new country like this, in which there are few or no lenders, we find the idea is not a novel one, nor confined to the United States.

The subject has claimed the attention of commercial societies in Great-Britain and will be brought before Parliament at their next session.

"It appears from a late Enquirer, that the legislature of Alabama, following the example of Mississippi, have repealed the laws regulating interest on loans.

It is well worthy of remark, that in the Atlantic states, nothing of this sort has been effected. The attempt made in the legislature of Virginia in the session of 1816-17 failed.

The report of a committee of the legislature of New-York, proposing a repeal, was not adopted. The recommendation of this subject, by the governor of South-Carolina, to the consideration of the legislature of that state, it would seem, has produced no effect. In the other states, it does not appear, that there has been any movement whatever. How is the promptitude of these two infant states, in adopting the modern principles, on the subject of interest, to be accounted for? Are we to suppose, that the silly doctrine of "Nolunus mutare," which is nothing but an appeal to prejudice and pride, has not had time to take root in a country, of such recent political origin? a country where the inhabitants but lately assembled, could speak the truth, without acknowledging that they had been in error, and repeal a barbarous and impolitic law, without fixing a sort of stigma on their statute book.....The solution of the question will be admitted by those who are of opinion, that there is at least as much intelligence among the enterprising settlers of these new countries, as there is among an equal number of the stationary and quiescent inhabitants of the Atlantic States, and if this solution be admitted, the inference gives character and importance to the examples of Mississippi and Alabama.

In Great Britain, the modern doctrine appears to be gaining ground. A committee, appointed by parliament at its last session, having taken evidence of such facts as they deemed material, have reported in favor of a repeal of the laws against usury.—From the little that has already transpired through the papers, there can be no doubt, that the report will be most ably supported.

There are three facts stated in this report, corroborating so completely the propositions and arguments heretofore published in the Enquirer, that I am induced to present them again to public notice. But for this coincidence, I should not have intruded into your columns.—The first is, that the laws restraining interest have failed of their effect: the second, that the excess of the market rate of interest of late years beyond the legal rate, has been aggravated by the enormous charges attending the mode of negotiation adopted to evade the laws: the third, that the market rate of interest is now below the legal rate.

Now, whether this depression of the market rate of interest, results from a great accumulation of capital since the peace, or from a diminution of the means of employing capital advantageously, is immaterial. We are to look at the fact. That is sufficient, whatever be the cause and if in the year 1816 interest was often from 12 to 15 per cent and is now below five per cent the statute pretending to regulate interest does not regulate it, and affords no benefit to any class of British subjects except money dealers, who evade the law, brokers who act for them, but not at their expense, and the members of the bar, who are retained in litigated cases.

The opinion of the committee last mentioned, is not introduced as having any authority or even influence on this question: but the facts stated by them, in the face of the world, if true, are decisive.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19..... We have seen some conjectures in the newspapers respecting the delivery of the Spanish posts in Florida, which it has been announced are to be restored to the Spanish government, that have led us to some enquiry into the subject.

The post of St. MARKS will not be surrendered, but to a force competent to hold it. It is a military post, remote from any population, surrounded by hordes of desperate Indians and negroes: it is the only barrier against their ravages and incursions. To evacuate it on the mere demand of any Spanish agent deputed to receive it, or to a force competent to hold it, would be to evacuate it to the Indians for we have the authority of the late Spanish commander of it, for saying, that the Indians controlled him, and not he them. Self-preservation is the first dictate of nature: and there is nothing in the law of nations, more rigorously construed, which requires a nation to prostrate any part of its population at the mercy of an infuriated and savage enemy. We have daily accounts that the Seminole Indians remaining unsubdued are embodied in force: this check withdrawn, and they might sweep our borders. On the appearance of a force adequate to garrison the post, it will be promptly given up.

With respect to PENSACOLA, that post stands on a different footing.—There are not fifty warriors west of the Appalachicola, and the population of the frontier is sufficient to keep them in awe. The population of Pensacola alone is abundantly competent to preserve it from falling into the hands of the Indians. That post, therefore, will be surrendered, without condition, to any agent of Spain duly authorized to receive it.

It is thus seen, that the U States do not desire to hold the Spanish posts; one of which is surrendered without condition, & the other without any condition, but that it shall not be surrendered to a force, nominally Spanish, under a control actually Indian. In a word, it is to Spain, and not to the Seminoles, that both the posts are to be surrendered. [Nat. Int.]

A dispassionate and argumentative vindication of the recent conduct of the Bank of the United States, appears in the Franklin Gazette, in two numbers for which, in justice to the Bank, we shall find an early place. The issue thus joined between the newspapers and the Bank, and the parties heard, it will be for the public, possibly for the government, to decide between them.

It is with no little satisfaction that we perceive from Cohen's Baltimore Price Current of Bank paper that the apprehension of inequality of exchange between the large towns, in consequence of the measures of the Bank of the U S has not been fully realized. The paper of the Boston, N. Y. & Philadelphia banks, it appears, are at par at Baltimore: and we are much obliged to the brokers, on finding that the paper of the District of Columbia is only from one half to one per cent below par. That is about the price which is demanded here for drafts on Baltimore. [Nat. Intel.]

EMBRYO INVASION OF MEXICO.

A gentleman now in this city, and late from New Orleans, reports, that the fortified camp established near Trinity river, in the province of Texas, continues to receive, almost daily, volunteers: that if the force augments, for one year longer, in the proportion it has for some time past, there can be no doubt they will have a concentration at this point adequate to strike at once for the liberation of Mexico, and fully equal to cope with the Spaniards: that Gen Lallemand is chief in command, and has under him many veteran French officers: that they spend much time in the open air, practising the use of arms: and that they are well organized, inured to fatigue and keep up a very exact discipline.

If this information is correct, (and we have no reason to doubt it,) Mexico is destined, at no distant day, to assume an imposing attitude and become a formidable empire, and this, very probably under the direction of some military aspirant who, with the sinews of war at command, might laugh to scorn the powers of combined Europe. [Ib.]

We solicit light from every quarter on South American affairs—from our souls we wish for the establishment of the principles of free government in every part of it.—We have unbounded confidence in the disposition of the people of Buenos Ayres, and do not question their means or ability: but we more than question those who at present direct its concerns. We shall not be satisfied with assertion—we shall give proofs. The object in all the measures of this government, relative to that country, should be to advance liberty—we have no interest in its independence merely, if governed by despots. The establishment of an independent monarchy would be a bad change for us. A short time will give us more light. [Mid. Censor]

Judge Bland, as commissioner from the American government, had arrived, we are glad to learn, in good health at St Jago in Chili. A severe engagement took place on the 27th of April, between the Lautaro, an English East Indiaman, fitted out at Valparaiso, and the Spanish frigate Venganza. The capt of the Lautaro threw himself, with 25 men on board the Spanish frigate, to whom she struck: but the Lautaro unfortunately fell off and these brave men being unable to hold her in subjection, the frigate, with a brig in company, made their escape. The gallant commander of the patriot ship George O'Brien died (probably massacred) on board the Venganza.

The victory of Maibo, has caused the Viceroy of Peru, to "tremble in his shoes," and so far brought him to a sense of humanity and civilization, that he has offered to exchange prisoners, and proposed an armistice on condition of the patriot armies being withdrawn from the frontier provinces of Peru, and the royal forces being left unmolested in Talcahuano, in Chili. We presume this proposal will not be acceded to.—General San Martin was at Buenos Ayres, and was talked of as successor to Pueyrredon, who was becoming more unpopular in consequence of increasing suspicions of a corrupt understanding between him and the Portugues government.

A Portugues prize was lately captured by a privateer commissioned by general Artigas, which had on board a splendid uniform coat for Monsieur Pueyrredon. [Ib.]

SOUTH AMERICA.

We have royalist accounts of the battle of Maipo. They corroborate those of the patriots. The viceroy of Lima writes the governor of Panama, that "nothing has been heard of the Spanish army after its embarkation from Talcahuano, and that he is apprehensive it has been unsuccessful. Private letters from Lima, agree that it has been completely vanquished."—A letter from Lima, addressed to Kington, Jam) states that "on the 21st April, an American sloop of war (the Ontario, arrived at Callao from Valparaiso, with the disagreeable news of the total destruction of the royal army by the Insurgents of Chili." "The battalion of Burgos, and that of the Infante, were entirely annihilated; they were the best troops in the expedition. Gen. Osorio escaped, but the distance to Talcahuano, their only refuge, being 150 leagues, it is thought impossible that he can reach there without being taken. All Lima will be in mourning, for there are but few families that have not some relative to deplore the loss of. The P. S. adds that Osorio was taken: that the "royalist troops, which consisted of 5300 men, have all either perished, been taken, or voluntarily passed over to the Insurgents. The train of artillery, military chest, baggage and camp equipage, all taken. Gen Osorio had $200,000 in the chest." [Ib.]

A new victory meets us in Venezuela. An expedition equipped by Admiral Brion, valiantly attacked and carried Lagaira, an important maritime town on the coast of Caraccas.—Ten gun boats and a large battery in the town became the prize of the victors. The Patriots will also have it in their power to extend their influence into the neighboring country, raise troops, and open another depot for the reception of their prizes.—Victory seems to perch upon the banners of Independence. [Enquirer.]

ROBERT GIBSON—who had been twice tried and twice condemned for the murder of John M Peatross but in each case, a new trial was granted to him, in the 1st case on account of the plea of his indisposition, and in the 2d case because of certain papers which had been illegally introduced into the jury room, was a third time led to the bar of the circuit court of this county on Tuesday last. No counsel on his side, and no argument on the other.—The jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.—Ib.

A file of soldiers for the state produced at a single birth.

A friend in Chatham county, under date of the 3d inst informs us, that, on the 27th ult Mrs. P. Horton of that county was delivered of three hearty male children. They have been named George Washington, Andrew Jackson and Napoleon Bonaparte: and, of course, according to the Shandean system, have all the chances of becoming great men that distinguished names can give them. They weighed, in the aggregate, 11.1-4 pounds, that is to say, George Washington 4, Andrew Jackson 3 3-4, and little Napoleon 3 1-2. Who knows but at some future day, as with the Horatii and Garamiti, the scale of battle may hang upon the prowess of these three brothers, and the victorious arm of him decide the fate of a nation, who, at his birth might have been cradled into a quart mug.—N. C. Observer.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—The Judge of the District Court of the United States for Maryland district, has issued warrants against several gentlemen of this city on a charge of being concerned in fitting out a Patriot privateer from this port.—The information was given on oath, and the parties arrested have given bail to appear at the next court.

NEW-ORLEANS, August 11.—We learn that the two insurance companies in this place have sustained a loss of more than $40,000, in consequence of the robbery of 72 slaves out of a vessel from the Chesapeake, by a piratical boat off the Berry Islands. This is only a solitary example of the injury inflicted on the commerce of New Orleans by the numerous picaroons which swarm in the Gulf of Mexico, the West India seas, and along the Atlantic shore of Florida. It has lately been ascertained that there is a band at Galvezton, which exist by piracy and smuggling. One of their cruisers, commanded by Lamaison, was brought into the river a few days since, by the Firebrand; at the same time, an open boat, with the noted Peter Lafitte on board, was brought in by Sailingmaster Quin, in a boat of the Ketch Surprise. It has been reported, that the banditti, who robbed the slaves above mentioned have been caught and carried into the Havana: if this report be true, we are exceedingly glad of it. But we are inclined to receive it with distrust: we suspect it has been put in circulation for the purpose of lulling the vigilance of them, by Commodore Patterson.

Whilst the singular activity of the naval officers on this station, in pursuing and capturing these marauders, entitles them to the respect and gratitude of the community, it is lamented that their means are inadequate to afford complete protection to the coast. To accomplish that object, would require the naval force at present on this station to be more than doubled. With half a dozen of small fast sailing schooners at the disposition of Com Patterson, it is not hazardous much to say, that in two months the hiding places of these banditti would be broken up, their vessels taken or driven away, and the navigation between New-Orleans and the Atlantic ports become as safe as it ought to be, and as it is the imperious duty of the general government to render it. QUALIFICATIONS FOR OFFICE.

A writer in the Berks and Schuylkill Journal gives the following as the proper qualifications for public life:

"In selecting representatives for our general as well as state government, the following circumstances should be attended to.

1. Qualifications in knowledge, integrity, and industry.
2. An irreproachable private character.
3. Former services in the state or county.
4. Family connection. A wife & children are the best securities a man can give for his good behaviour. If a man will not trust a woman with his happiness, a state should not trust that man to legislate for her.
5. Regard should be paid to a man's conduct in his line of business. A lazy, careless, or dishonest lawyer, doctor, merchant, or mechanic, will certainly make a bad legislator.
6. In selecting candidates we should look out for the most suitable men. Modest men will not seek a nomination, and impudent men do not deserve the honor."

IRUN, (SPAIN) JULY 21.

During the incertitude of the government relative to the hostile disposition which the United States have uneasinessly manifested towards Spain, it appears certain that the fine squadron which is equipping in the port of Cadiz (composed of the ships ceded to us by Russia, and such of our own as have escaped destruction) will not sail for South America until the government can determine the footing of our relations with North-America. This squadron consists of eight ships of the line, several large frigates, and a proportionate number of corvettes. The crews are complete. The force is almost wholly armed and equipped, and commanded by the best naval officers of the country.

From Campbell's Measures of Hope.

Unfading Hope, when life's last embers burn, When soul to soul, and dust to dust return, Heaven to thy charge resigns the awful hour, Ah! then thy kingdom comes, in mo' pow'r! What the each spark of earth born rapture fly The quivering lip, pale cheek and closing eye? Bright to the soul thy seraph hands convey The morning dreams of life's eternal day Then, then the triumph & the trance begin, And all the Phoenix spirit burns within! * * * * * Eternal Hope when yonder spheres sublime Pealed their first notes to sound the march of time, Thy joyous youth began—but not to fade, When all the sister planets have decayed, When the last flame of livid ether glow, And heaven's last thunders shake the world below, Thou, undisrayed, shall o'er the ruin smile, And light thy torch at nature's funeral pile.

TOWN OF HAVANNAH.

THE undersigned trustees for the proprietors of the site where the town of Havannah is to be laid off, give this public notice, that lots in the above mentioned town will be offered for sale on the 26 and 27th days of October next.

Havannah is situated in Lauderdale county Alabama Territory, on the North side of the Tennessee River immediately above Colberts reserve within nine miles of the town of Florence, and about eight miles distant from Colberts ferry.

The town of Havannah is included in that section of country which was recently sold at Huntsville when forty two townships brought to the Government the unprecedented sum of 5,000,000 dollars. The simple fact that within this district, land sold for purposes of agriculture from 30 to 78 dollars per acre furnishes an incontestable evidence of the fertility of the soil and the value of its productions. The climate too is of an agreeable temperature, subject neither to the excessive heats of the South nor the chilling blasts of the North; yet the fruits and growth of the latter arrive at great perfection here and the most profitable species of agriculture of the former are produced in the most luxuriant abundance.

Of all the sites for towns in the late sales the town of Havannah has incomparably the highest claim to precedence in a commercial point of view.

Considering the situation of this place, as it respects its commercial advantages, and the rising importance of the north side of the Tennessee river within the limits of this Territory, and the remarkably rich settlements in the adjacent counties of Murry, Giles, Lawrence and Wayne in Tennessee, all of which must necessarily depend upon this point as being near the head of navigation on the Tennessee for Steam-Boats, Barges, and Keel boats, for their supply of Foreign articles. we say taking these local advantages into consideration, many persons who are to be extensively engaged in mercantile and agricultural pursuits by their repeated solicitations have induced the proprietors to lay off a town on this site.

The purchaser of cotton the staple of this section of country will find it emphatically to his interest to locate himself at Havannah where he can ship his purchases at any season of the year, which will arrive in market several months earlier than the cotton from Madison county or any place above the Muscle Shoals. Thus this place embraces important advantages both in export and import trade.

Havannah is situated at a point on the Tennessee river, which is the nearest possible route from the most populous settlements in Kentucky and Tennessee to Mississippi the southern parts of Alabama Territory and West Florida. It may be here remarked that a Ferry will be established here by which the river can be crossed with as much ease as at any other point whatever—situated immediately at the lower end of an island known by the name of Long Island, no convenient place for crossing is offered after you leave the Military ferry till you reach this point.

Much has been said about the value of lands East of Lauderdale, in Limestone and Madison counties. but when we reflect that the productions in the vicinity of Havannah will anticipate the other in market by several months, and that they are in a degree dependent upon this place for their foreign supplies, the undersigned confidently believe that the situation will attract the attention of discerning, enterprising men.

Havannah has the advantage of being supplied with pure and wholesome spring water which cannot be surpassed by any in the western country. The situation of the town is high, with a fine view of this majestic river, & the variegated scenery of a picturesque surrounding country.

Persons disposed to vest a share of their capital in town property, after a careful examination of the map of the southern country, will readily discover the propriety of the selection of this place, for a town which is near the head of navigation, on a large majestic river, furnishing the greatest facilities to the commercial and agricultural pursuits of a country equalled by none in America for the fertility of its soil and value of its productions. An agreeable and healthy point possessing these advantages cannot fail of speedily rising into importance. Every facility will be offered to mechanics who wish to settle in a new place where the population of all the surrounding country is increasing with unheard of rapidity and whose wants must be many and urgent.

A plan of the town will be left at the Register's Office in Huntsville, at Peter Cheatham's, Columbia T. Capt. B. M. Patterson's Pulaski T. Major J. D. M'Connell's Fayetteville Ten Big Spring Franklin county Alabama.

Terms of sale, one third in one year, one third in three years and the remaining third in four years from the sale.

Town of Courtland.

The subscribers give notice that about 100 lots in the town of Courtland will be offered at public auction on the premises, on the 29th day of October next, and the ensuing days.

Courtland is pleasantly laid out on the East side of the stream known by the name of Big Nantz, in Lawrence County Alabama Territory, and about seven miles from the Tennessee river. The site of Courtland is very beautiful for a town and commands a charming view of a surrounding country, unparalleled for fertility, beauty and luxuriance of its productions. Situated on the Western boundary of Range 7 and adjoining the Eastern boundary of Range 8, Courtland is precisely in the centre of the county in an east and west direction and from its adjacency to the largest bodies of choice land, it must always be in the centre of business and of population. The undersigned are acting as trustees for a respectable company who designing to make the county of Lawrence their permanent residence, associated together for the purpose of procuring for public uses the most eligible site in the county. After much examination and reflection the proprietors are convinced that the seat of Justice for the county of Lawrence, will unquestionably be located at Courtland. If in the selection of a place for a Court house, weight of population wealth and business, salubrity of climate, beauty of situation, and convenience to one of the best springs in the Territory, have their due influence, the above named town commands a decided preference.

No lands heretofore sold in the Alabama Territory have brought so high prices as those in the county of Lawrence, or have been purchased uniformly by so respectable and wealthy gentlemen, who intend making it their immediate residence.

The township in which Courtland is situated sold for upwards of $500,000, averaging more than $22 per acre, and there was but a single quarter unsold in the whole of it—The adjoining townships west are not inferior in quality.

Thus Courtland situated in the centre of the most extensive and valuable body of land in the Territory, bought up, by gentlemen of fortune and education, who will make it their immediate residence, will speedily present an unexampled instance of refinement and wealth, in a country which but a few days since bore no trace of the civilized inhabitant.

There are in the vicinity of the above named place many branches and streams which afford convenient mill seats, and there will be erected within two miles of the town a saw mill within the course of the ensuing winter.

The communication between the upper and lower parts of the Territory, will probably pass this town. And the route from the Eastern states to New Orleans, will certainly go through Courtland intercepting the national road at Russell's settlement.

The invariable unhealthiness of all sites on the Tennessee River near the Muscle Shoals, will inevitably prevent any competition with Courtland in commercial business. It is there the people of this immensely wealthy county will transact their legal business, and there they will go to sell their cotton, and buy their supplies of foreign articles.

Every species of Mechanical industry will meet with the most extensive, encouragement, in a county populating so rapidly with wealthy emigrants.

A liberal donation of lots will be made to the county to be appropriated or the erection of a Court House and other public buildings, provided this place is selected as the seat of Justice.

A convenient lot will be given for an Academy, and a suitable place for a church.

A plan of Courtland may be seen at Robert P. Curran's counting room, Franklin Ten—John M. Tilford's Murfreesborough—at the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Nashville—and at the Register's office in Huntsville.

Terms in three equal annual instalments, approved security will be required.

NOTICE—To the legal representatives of the late John Clayton, grandson and devisee of the late John Beazley, of the county of Charlotte, and commonwealth of Virginia, of whom Hiram Hague and Sally his wife, late Sally Clayton, are believed to be one—Please to confer with Hiram Hague and Sally his wife, late Sally Clayton, and to take notice that John R. Mahone, of the county of Chesterfield, who shows the obligation of said Hiram and his wife Sally, to convey (under $2,000 penalty), to the said John R. Mahone, a certain tract or parcel of land, being the land willed to the said Sally Hague, late Clayton, by her grandfather John Beazley, of the county of Charlotte, and adjoining the lands of Lipscomb and others, containing 23 1-2 acres, and No. 1 in the recorded survey of Beazley's estate, in the friendly suit in chancery, Beazley and others against Beazley's executors and others, in C. C. C. hath—to wit the said John R. Mahone hath agreed in writing to obtain for Gabriel Beazley, to whom he hath sold No. 1 aforesaid, another lot of the same tract of land (No. 2) willed by his grandfather John Beazley to the aforesaid John Clayton the grandson, containing 24 acres; and as there is no penalty to this obligation, and that which the said Mahone attempted to do with the said Beazley he may procure to be done by a third person, viz: take advantage of a poor man's signorance to oppress and grind him contrary to the laws of God, but unhappily, from human infirmity in making and evading laws, not contrary to the letter of the laws of man, and of which there is from the same causes oft times no remedy now this is to give notice, that if the said representatives of John Clayton, deceased, will by letter or advertisement in any Richmond Virginia paper, let Gabriel Beazley (who bought of Samuel Clayton the two lots in question, and also Polly Hart's No. 3, adjoining,) know who and where they are, they shall receive from G. B. or from the person to whom G. B. stands bound to convey a title, (G. B. having Samuel Clayton's obligation to make him a right, which right was not in said Samuel Clayton, and for which obligation it is feared his estate is not responsible,) a just and full consideration for their title, in and to the said land, free of all expense in making the deed, which will be transacted by their representative in Congress, and Frances Scott Key, Esq. of Georgetown, Columbia counsellor at law, and

THE POOR MAN'S FRIEND.

The above-mentioned Mahone was once a waggoner, and is now believed to be a negro trader. He travelled with a grey riding horse and a mulatto servant, supposed not to be his own. said he was going to be married somewhere to the south: in Georgia, perhaps near Milledgeville, Alabama or Mississippi. He abuses the privilege of his calling in impudence, for which he has received a lesson lately that he will not soon, if ever, forget. He seems a friend to ardent spirits, whose cause he upholds in this world—may they not uphold him in the next! as assuredly they will do, unless he turneth away from the wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right.
