A Pup in a Press-room.

State Printer Putnam, who has been sojourning in this city for a few days past, returned to Carson last Sunday noon. He was presented a fine New foundling pup, about four months old, while here. For safe keeping this juvenile son of his mother was placed in the Enterprise press-room last Saturday night. As he was now the property of a printer, he felt it a duty to see that the pup was kept as safe as possible. He was, therefore, after inspecting the pup, he gave him a job for some time with much interest. He went to it and stuck his nose between a pair of cog wheels. Leaving between the wheels a piece of skin off the end of his nose about the size of a trade dollar, he retired to a corner and sat down for a time to reflect upon his first lesson. After he had for some time prayed and mused, his wound, his attention was attracted to the bed of the power press, which seemed to be shooting in and out in a playful manner. After this he started, and, encouraged by seeing it retreating from him, he went almost instantly knocked down by the swift return of the bed. Here he thought, he had found a foe worthy of his steel.

At it he went, tooth and nail, and was as regularly knocked down as each paper was struck off for about three hours. He then sat down and watched the "thing" the rest of the night, hobnobbing his head up and down, and cured of hating with it. Being shut up in the room and left to his own devices till noon on Sunday, he found an entry in the book on his side and made that his home. Being black as ink himself, the condition of his coat was not discovered until his master had taken him about of the train for Carson. It was then found that he was as full of ink as one of the ink-balls used by printers in the early days of printing. Being an affectionate and playful little cuss, the consternation which he created aboard that train can well be imagined. At last it was found necessary to wrap and tie him in a bundle of newspapers, and thus the printer's dog rode away with his new master, a newspaper-carrier to begin with.

The Iron Trade.

We find a condensed report of a speech recently made by the Hon. A. S.

Colyar, in the Nashville Journal of Commerce of last week, from which we extract the following interesting statistics, which go to show that there is no danger of the iron trade being overdone. 'This is an important matter to Alabamians;

Late developments show that the United States is going to be the great iron producing country of the world.

In the first place, her own wants for iron will exceed all other countries.

During the years of 1871 and 1872, there were built in the United States, each year, 7,000 miles of railroad, and the whole amount of railroad in the United States now is about 70,000 miles. The whole world beside has not reached 40,000 miles. In 1869 we had 55,000 miles, and the whole world besides had 61,000. But in four years we have overcome the difference, and are now considerably ahead. Railroads make the greatest demand for iron. To lay the track and equip the railroads of the United States, including rails, track supplies, locomotives, cars and sundries, allowing in all 150 tons per mile, and it required 22,000, 250,000 tons. The annual repairs, ten per cent, added to its annual requirement, will be for railroads alone in the United States, 2,479,000 tons. This is more than the entire production of pig metal in the United States, in 1872.

But in addition to iron for roads, we need in the United States, as the census shows:

Gas and water pipe, 100,000

Tons. Ship building, 40,000

Stoves, 250,000

Mowers and reapers, 33,000

Other agricultural implements, 150,000

Miscellaneous castings, 100,000

Sewing machines, 20,000

Nuts and bolts, 250,000

Nails and tacks, 350,000

Substantial iron, 150,000

Total, 1,833,000

This, added to the demands of the railroads, makes 4,311,500 tons. Therefore, if we were making our own iron, we would need new furnaces enough to make 3,011,000 tons annually, as we are now making only 2,300,000 tons.

But as railroads at present indicate more clearly than anything else the progress of the people, I want to compare the United States with other countries.

The United States has built, 70,000

Germany, 12,000

Great Britain, 15,000

France, 10,000

Russia, 7,044

Austria, 5,855

Italy, 2,300

Spain, 3,401

Sweden and Norway, 1,047

Belgium, 1,301

Netherlands, 880

Switzerland, 821

That the United States is going to be the great iron producing country of the world, no thoughtful man can doubt.

We have both the coal and the iron. The separate now is that we have more than thirty-five times as much coal as Great Britain, and that our ores are equal to those of England, is not controverted.

The people of this country have exhibited a personal and individual enterprise no where else to be found.

The contest for the iron supremacy is conceded to be between the United States and Great Britain, with a complete surrender of the question by many of England's best informed men.

Mr. A. Lottian Bell, in giving his deposition, but a few months ago, before the committee appointed under a resolution of the British Parliament, to ascertain what had increased the price of coal, said: That in the production of iron had increased 1,800 per cent; that the production of coal was not equal to the demand, and that as a fact, coal was now shipped to New Castle.

After showing clearly that the trouble about coal in England did not come from the obstinacy of the companies nor the strikes of the men, but because of an inadequate supply, he said there could not be a doubt but that the United States would soon be the great iron producing country of the world.

Somebody wrote to the editor of a village paper to ask how he would "break an ox?" The editor replied as follows: "If only one ox, a good way would be to hold him, by means of a long chain attached to his tail, to the top of a pole forty feet from the ground, then hoist him by a rope tied to his horns to another live-on-pole-driver, and if that don't break him, let him start a country newspaper and trust people for subscription. One of the two ways will do it sure."

The Northern Pacific Railway Company claim 1,178,000 acres of land in Washington and Oregon, and 612,000 in Dakota.

Laughlin succeeds sorrow.

KEITH, WILKINS.

Duty of Democrats and Conservatives.

There is an article, at once so sensible in its reasoning and pertinent to the times, published under the above caption, in the West Alabamian, that we do not feel we can do anything better than to invite the attention of all Democrats and Conservatives our circulation may reach, to its prudent and patriotic suggestions. The West Alabamian says:

In our last issue we noticed briefly the duty and utility of circulating Democratic newspapers more extensively among our people, with the view of promoting the supremacy of our principles, and of establishing all time and finally, in Alabama, the doctrine which depend the prosperity and almost the existence of our State. Now, at the beginning of the year, is the time to press this subject upon the attention of our people. It is a subject worthy of the consideration of our State Executive Committee at Montgomery, and anything they may do in this direction will receive the approval of the masses. Since the war, a large number of Democratic papers at the South have been discontinued. Many persons, owing to their straitened circumstances, and to the complex and unsatisfactory condition of political affairs, take no political papers. No where is the subscription list of the local journals as large as it ought to be. We have not a single Democratic journal in Washington City, and our people receive but few political documents from that quarter. We are called upon, therefore, for extraordinary effort in this matter. We have able Democratic journals in our State, and it seems to us that our Central Executive Committee at Montgomery, with the view of preparing and educating the public mind in certain quarters in reference to our State election in 1874, ought now to co-operate in some plan calculated to put the people who can read and think and are deeply interested in that election, in full possession of all the facts bearing on the great questions upon which vote next November. We must appeal to the intelligence of our State. The law has given the right to vote to thousands who neither read nor care. The most excellent arguments are utterly lost upon them. Many of them have deter

OUR POLICE FORCE.

We agree with a number of our citizens—men of families and property-holders—that our force of night police is insufficient. There should be at least four on night duty. One will answer during the day. It is utterly impossible for two night-watchmen to guard the entire city, or even half of it.

While on this subject, we would say that it is a general wish to have Mr. E. G. Taylor in service again. He was tried and proved faithful during the cholera epidemic. He is a sober, quiet, intelligent citizen, and capable of doing his duty to the satisfaction of the community. We know that the city has never had a more faithful, efficient watchman, and we know that the entire community desire to see him on duty again.

P. S.—Glad to learn that Mr. Taylor is now on duty. As he was removed without the shadow of an excuse, we are rejoiced that he is replaced on his post.

Our Greatest Need.

In last Thursday's Independent friend Matthews had a sensible leader with the above caption. He thinks it is time for our people to cease looking for millionaires to come among us and build factories and, and that our mechanics and people generally, should combine in co-operation, associations and help themselves. When we do this—when capitalists abroad see that we have the energy, the enterprise and the will to invest what little capital we may have, in factories, etc., then will they turn their serious attention hitherward, and not until then. "God helps those who help themselves" is a truism not to be forgotten. Let us help ourselves all we can, then seek aid from abroad.

NUMBERS.—What a great convenience to all of us it would be if our business houses were numbered! Why can't the city authorities have it done as they do in other cities? Let the good work begin on 1st Avenue, at Odum & Samuels' corner—No. 1; Chas. Hochstadt, No. 2; W. L. & A. J. Sivley, 3, and so on to O'Connor's corner. Then commence at Allen & Co.'s corner, which is 2, the opposite (Bank) corner being one—the old Bank office it will be observed, is already numbered, 4. The cost of numbering will be but a trifle, while the great convenience which will be the result will doubtfully compensate for all the trouble that may be incurred in the numbering. Start it, somebody! it will be for the good of the whole community.

PUT THEM UP!—Why don't our City Fathers have the names of the streets put up at all the corners? Was there not an Ordinance passed some months ago requiring sign-boards to be put up at the corners of the streets and avenues? It is difficult to give strangers directions to find a desired place so long as our houses remain unnumbered and our streets and alleys unnumbered. Wake up, gentlemen! Make use of a part of those $50,000 of Bonds for the benefit of tax-payers. They are interested a little. Wake up! wake up!

A stranger, a young man about 20 years of age, six feet high, weight about 180 lbs, with black hair, thin, black mustache, little beard on the chin, dressed in a homespun, black coat and brown pants, mysteriously disappeared from McCalla, in this county, on the evening of the 9th inst. A mare that he was riding, was found the next morning at Mr. Morris', near McCalla, saddle turned under her, and foot-pole entangled in the reins of the bridle. The mare is a dappled "clay-bank" star in the forehead, blazed nose and wear on left flank. The young man said he came from three miles west of Birmingham, and was on his route to Tuscaloosa and Meridian.

OVERLOOKED.—In our list of "Birmingham Industries," last week, we unintentionally overlooked a few of our good citizens. First among them was our talented friend, Geo. S. Cox, Esq., who although listed on the list by no means "least." Next the house of N. F. Miles, up 2d Avenue, was omitted—it is a family grocery and provision store. Then Mrs. Hall's millinery establishment did not appear—situated on 2d Avenue. And our "industrious friend" Barney the Butcher, who manufactures Mineral and Soda Waters and a superior quality of Ale—good as "Bass." Mr. Barney's establishment is next to Caffee & Day's old stand—2d Avenue.

Calmes Lodge I. O. G. T., elected and installed the following officers, for the present quarter: B. A. Thompson, W. C. T.; Miss Laura Basham, W. V. T.; H. L. Watlington, W. Sec.; T. A. Nixon, W. F. Sec.; Mrs. L. A. Miles, W. T.; N. F. Miles, W. Chap.; J. F. Bates, W. M.; Miss Ella Cheek, W. O.; H. Constanline, W. Sent; Mrs. L. H. Watlington, W. A. Sec.; Miss Anna Sulzberger, W. D. M.; Mrs. H. L. Stevens, W. R. H. S.; Miss Ida Wood, W. L. H. S.

The Demopolis Journal is represented as publishing the statement that coal is selling in Birmingham at $1.50 per ton. If the Journal man will inform us who has it here at that price we will "lay in" a few tons for future use and speculation. Four dollars and half is the lowest price we have been able to buy coal at here.

The prettiest Prints in Birmingham can be gotten at J. H. Dargis's, No. 3 Dargis Block, 2nd Avenue.

The Fire Department.

The "Foreman" of Pioneer Fire Company rushes into print through last Tuesday's News, and informs us and the citizens of Birmingham that the engine over which he presides "is as good a one, to its size, as ever rolled on wheels." The Chief of the Fire Department has informed us differently, and we know that engine when we were a boy. It was purchased by the "boys" of No. 4, in Mobile—called, "Merchants, No. 4." Some thirty-five years ago. After the machine was worn out in Mobile, they were glad to find a purchaser up the country. It would make a splendid garden-engine now, to water cabbage, etc; but it will not answer the wants of a city the size of this, growing, expanding rapidly. We have said not a word disparagingly of the company controlling that engine. They need a good, efficient machine, with plenty of hose—they need the aid and co-operation of carriage, hooks and ladders, etc. The men composing our companies would be efficient and render splendid service in time of need if they only had the means to operate with. One good steamer is worth a prairie full of such engines as we have now. We do not doubt that a half dozen Babcock's Fire Extinguishers would be far more valuable here than all the fire apparatus the city has now at its command.

The Foreman's denial of our assertion only makes the matter worse. It may be a "pet" with him; but our citizens know we are almost wholly at the mercy of the "devouring element" whenever it shall startle us. Our city authorities are strangely obstinate in refusing the request of the worthy Chief of the Department for an appropriation to put the fire department in a state of efficiency. More hose are wanted now; hook and ladder apparatus are indispensable, and above all a good steamer is desired.

No expenditure of money can be made by the city, at this time, better than for the purposes indicated by the Chief of the Fire Department. Our three fire companies ought to hold a joint meeting at once and petition the Board of Aldermen for all needed apparatus to render the companies effective. Failing in this, let them disband, until they are able to buy machines and apparatus of their own. There need be no dallying in this matter. Come up at once to a demand for what is yours by right—for that which the city must have, or say, at once, they need no organization as firemen. It amounts to about that, as the matter now stands.

With the proper means of arresting destruction by fire, our property-holders would sleep sounder—our firemen would have something to be proud of and to show—insurance rates would be lowered—our Councilmen would have the satisfaction of knowing that they had done their duty and have merited the plaudits of our entire community.

The Tax Assessor of Conecuh county had his tax blanks and posters printed in Charleston, S. C. There are many other Tax Assessors in this State who have them done there or by Culver, Page & Hayne, Chicago, when they could be done as well, and much cheaper, at home. We would be glad to duplicate any of their bills, less the expense of transportation.—Shelby Guide.

Yes, and thousands and tens of thousands of dollars have been, and are still being sent out of our State yearly, by our Judges of Probate, Circuit Clerks and lawyers, to Charleston and Chicago, for blanks costing more than they will be furnished at home. We have sent circulars from the Home Job Office to, more than twenty-five Probate Judges around us, offering to print all their blanks at 25 per cent less than Culver, Page, Hayne & Co. charge for them in Chicago, to say nothing of transportation charges. There is a mystery about this Chicago patronage which is not all a mystery, and which will be revealed several weeks before the full elections occur.

We guarantee to all officers as well executed blanks and as good paper, for 25 per cent less than the Chicago drummer says they can afford them in that city of wickedness.

We are glad to see that shade trees have been set out in several parts of our city—especially in front of the Arcade Building, 26th Street, and on two sides of the Bank. They are rosewood, mahogany, or some other kind of wood with which we are not familiar.

Every subscriber is interested in inducing his neighbor to take this paper, because the more subscribers we have the better paper we can print. Just present its claims to your neighbor, then, and ask him to pay only $2 a year—6 months, $1.

A RINGING SURGE.—Our Cottonmen are called together by the sound of an old pot-metal bell, purchased when Birmingham was a little village. There is no concord in this sound—no musical tone—no sympathy—nothing but a thug, bang, bang, bang, dub! If the city is not able to buy a good, large, fine-tuned bell, let them start a subscription for the purpose. We'll guarantee a good sum can thus be obtained. And when a good bell is received, let it be placed on a tower above the City Hall, and put a watchman up there to look out for fires and strike the half-hours of the night. That is one of the people's wants.

According to the City Clerk's Report published in the $300 of fish-bul "organ" of the city, our corporation is in debt just $2,770 15. Salaries have cost the city $2,745 86, and Police $2,663 00. But the item of all is for the Hospital—$603 22! And we don't know that but one nigger ever got into it.

LIGHTNING RODS.—Are useful things, sometimes; but they are carried to extremes in Birmingham. One house on 20th Street has no less than seven, pointing to the clouds. Another, on the edge of the city, in a hollow, has three, and the house is a portable one. It seems to us the lightning would have to get down in the mud to find it. No lightning-rod man wanted here.

We received yesterday the first number of The Birmingham Iron Age—a large and neatly printed weekly, edited by F. A. Dargis and Charles Roberts. We wish it success.—Morning News, 14th.

Thank you for your good wishes. May you live long and prosper and grow better with increasing years.

Mr. F. Boring Terrell, editor of the News, is a ripe scholar and a fluent writer, and ought to have a larger sheet in which to publish his readable editorials. The hardest work of an editor is to edit a small paper.

Can't say we like his new party doctrine—to create a new party from the two we have. You can't extract the least bit of principle from the Radical party.

KETCHAM.—Our friend Ketcham, editor of the Montgomery Ledger, was here a day or two this week. Grasping his honest hand we inquired where he was "stopping." He replied at Cheatum's. Inquiring further, we found he meant Ketcham's, the Relay House. Once more he made the same mistake, and we took occasion to lecture him severely for his forgetfulness. Ketcham keeps a good hotel, himself, in the Capital City—but no dog. There is no better man in Alabama, than Ketcham, and we are glad to learn he picked up a number of subscribers to his excellent daily, while here.

Speaking of the Relay House, it is one of the most home-comfortable hotels in the South. It is roomy and airy, and everything is done up "brown"—the meats are as sweet as "Buck's," and the "Ward" robes nice and tidy. Dead-beats will not stop there for fear the ever-vigilant landlady will "Ketcham."

What has become of the leading members of the Young Men's Christian Association which was to have been organized last Spring? A state was made—several meetings were held—a room was secured, and the Christian young men presented their most praiseworthy intentions to come out and vanish like a midsummer night's dream.

Christian young men of Birmingham, arouse yourselves! Gird on your armor, once more and determine that you will win the prize. Towns of but 500 or 400 inhabitants have Christian Associations in successful operation. Why may not our Christian young men succeed.

We solicit advertisements from every merchant, business and professional man in Birmingham. We believe they will derive a benefit by advertising in our columns, and they will thereby materially assist us in building up a good paper for this city—just what they have been so earnestly wishing for, for many a day. We can make it mutually beneficial, gentlemen. Try us. Come with us and we will do you good.

Wednesday of this week was Ash-Wednesday—the commencement of Lent. Penitence, or penitence and fasting will now rule among the members of the Episcopal and Catholic churches. Beginning on Wednesday, this fast is to last until Easter—40 days and nights.

We should dislike very much for our umbrellas to be left that long.

In the Report of the Mayor's Court in the Daily News of Tuesday, it is stated that "a row occurred in the office of the Independent on last Sunday morning," for which the city is $10 fined.

We thought our friend "Peppercorn" was an orderly old gentleman, and would suppose all rows in his establishment.

The News of this morning has an editorial on the organization of a Board of Trade in this city. Several efforts have been made in that direction, which ended only in failure. We would suggest that the next attempt be made by merchants only. A Board of Trade would be productive of much good to our merchants and to the city; but if there is not quite a unanimous feeling in the matter the attempt to organize will prove another failure.

MARRIAGE.—At the residence of the bride's father, on the morning of the 18th inst., Mr. J. T. Miles and Miss Elizabeth J. Hudson.

May peace, plenty and happiness ever be theirs.

It has been suggested that two-cent postal cards be issued, on which the receiver of a message might send a reply without cost to himself.

OBITUARY.

For the Iron Age, DIED, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. George Barton, on Sunday, the 15th inst., the Rev. BENJAMIN TARRANT, at the advanced age of eighty-one years. The subject of this notice was born in South Carolina, but removed with his father, the Rev. James Tarrant, to Jones' Valley in 1819. He was one of a large and respectable family, and was a member of whom reside in this county at the present day. He served his country in the war of 1812 and was a pensioner of the United States at the time of his death. He had also been a member of the State Legislature, during the time that the Capital was at Tuscaloosa.

But his greatest distinction was that of a Methodist preacher, in which capacity he served his church for the space of about thirty years. Having been converted from infidelity when more than fifty years old, he became a zealous and widely known minister of the Gospel and was distinguished for his zeal and usefulness in calling sinners to repentance. With his own hand he reared more than one hundred members into the Church and was present at the conversion of thousands. His last sermon was preached at the Turkey Creek Camp Meeting in 1872, and he died at his home, surrounded by his family, on Sunday, the 15th inst. He was a man of gentle and unassuming character, and with an unflinching trust he walked through the valley and shadow of death, not fearing any evil.
