

BIRMINGHAM IRON AGE.

VOLUME 1,

BIRMINGHAM, JEFFERSON CO., ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1874.

NUMBER 6.

DUVAL & ROBERTS, EDITORS.

RIGHT FIRST, PARTY SECOND, WRONG NEVER.

DUVAL, ROBERTS & PERSINGER, PUBLISHERS.

BIRMINGHAM IRON AGE.

Duval, Roberts & Persinger, Pub's.

SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, 1 year, in advance, $2 00.
Six copies one year, 10 00.

ADVERTISING RATES:

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

One Dollar per inch for first insertion and
Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion,
for any time less than three months.

How can you stand here? Is no

ready to go with you?" she asked.

"Yes, we are all ready enough, Miss

Katharine, but the Lord help the poor

who goes out to-night."

Katharine said that another word,

but she knew how to handle both a boat

and a pair of oars; she slipped through

the door, and before any one knew it, she had unfastened a boat, was in it, and

going out swiftly on a reeling wave

toward the rocks and—him.

The light shone on white faces

enough when they found that a woman

had gone out alone, and Mr. Forsyth

gasped for breath, and nearly

fainted when he really believed that

it was true.

The rest of that long night—and it seemed as if morning would never

come—they paced up and down the

beach, while the storm raged on, for

not a man would follow the mad woman,

though Mr. Forsyth offered them

more money than most of them had

seen at once in all their lives, if they would make the attempt. He could not row himself, and so, halting, he had to endure, as best he might,

the horrors of that time, which his

heart told him would end in certain

death. One each hour will teach us

more of ourselves than a common life

time. Oh, if he had his treasure for one poor half hour now, how he would take her to his heart. They had distrusted each other for many

days, but there was love, boundless

stores of it, in the depths of their hearts for each other, he knew, and as

he wrung his hands in agonies of

despair, and cried out for his child,

the rough men felt their own hearts

breaking up, though they could not help him.

At last, as the morning began to

dawn, a life-boat was thrown upon

the shore, scattering its freight of

lifeless bodies, but it was not Katharine's

boat, and neither she nor the

captain were among the number.

There was work enough to do now,

and it was done with a right good

will. The first one who could swim

said that all the crew had left the

ship, but the captain had gone last,

and how none of them knew

though he said, after a while, that he had a kind of half recollection of

hearing the captain cry out: "My God! Katharine!" as he swung over

the ship's side, but he could tell

nothing certainly, there had been so much confusion when the ship

commenced to go to pieces.

In the middle of the forenoon the

storm abated, and another boat made

its way into the bay, with Captain

Alcott on board, but though he had thought

he saw Katharine's light before, he

believed it to be only his imagination,

and knew nothing of her now, only

what they told him, that she had gone out to save him if she could.

In an hour after he had landed, he

with Mr. Forsyth, had taken a steam tug, and was off after the woman, who was probably lying at

that moment, motionless beneath

the cruel waves.

Captain Alcott kept his own look-

out, and he had both heaven and hell

in his head during that awful search,

but he did not find her, and his reason

for him it was the merest folly to

hope for such a thing; he would never

forgive the man who stood close beside him at every turn, and whose

move a stone to pity. If he did find

her, if God would but hear and answer this the most terrible in earnest

prayer that he had ever uttered in his life, it would make him a changed

man for all that time.

We make such vows in these dire

straits which overtake us now and then, the worse for us if we do not keep them.

The sun began to get low in the West, and the wind yet nothing.

Would it be in vain? Could he give her now, just as he was certain of

How can you stand here? Is no

ready to go with you?" she asked.

"Yes, we are all ready enough, Miss

Katharine, but the Lord help the poor

who goes out to-night."

Katharine said that another word,

but she knew how to handle both a boat

and a pair of oars; she slipped through

the door, and before any one knew it, she

had unfastened a boat, was in it, and

going out swiftly on a reeling wave

toward the rocks and—him.

The light shone on white faces

enough when they found that a woman

had gone out alone, and Mr. Forsyth

gasped for breath, and nearly

fainted when he really believed that

it was true.

The rest of that long night—and it seemed as if morning would never

come—they paced up and down the

beach, while the storm raged on, for

not a man would follow the mad woman,

though Mr. Forsyth offered them

more money than most of them had

seen at once in all their lives, if they would make the attempt. He could not row himself, and so, halting, he

had to endure, as best he might,

the horrors of that time, which his

heart told him would end in certain

death. One each hour will teach us

more of ourselves than a common life

time. Oh, if he had his treasure for

one poor half hour now, how he

would take her to his heart. They had distrusted each other for many

days, but there was love, boundless

stores of it, in the depths of their

hearts for each other, he knew, and as

he wrung his hands in agonies of

despair, and cried out for his child,

the rough men felt their own hearts

breaking up, though they could not

help him.

At last, as the morning began to

dawn, a life-boat was thrown upon

the shore, scattering its freight of

lifeless bodies, but it was not Katharine's

boat, and neither she nor the

captain were among the number.

There was work enough to do now,

and it was done with a right good

will. The first one who could swim

said that all the crew had left the

ship, but the captain had gone last,

and how none of them knew

though he said, after a while, that he had a kind of half recollection of

hearing the captain cry out: "My

God! Katharine!" as he swung over

the ship's side, but he could tell

nothing certainly, there had been so

much confusion when the ship

commenced to go to pieces.

In the middle of the forenoon the

storm abated, and another boat made

its way into the bay, with Captain

Alcott on board, but though he had thought

he saw Katharine's light before, he

believed it to be only his imagination,

and knew nothing of her now, only

what they told him, that she had

gone out to save him if she could.

In an hour after he had landed, he

with Mr. Forsyth, had taken a

steam tug, and was off after the

woman, who was probably lying at

that moment, motionless beneath

the cruel waves.

Captain Alcott kept his own look-

out, and he had both heaven and hell

in his head during that awful search,

but he did not find her, and his reason

for him it was the merest folly to

hope for such a thing; he would never

forgive the man who stood close be-

side him at every turn, and whose

move a stone to pity. If he did find

her, if God would but hear and answer this the most terrible in earnest

prayer that he had ever uttered in

his life, it would make him a changed

man for all that time.

We make such vows in these dire

straits which overtake us now and then, the worse for us if we do not

keep them.

The sun began to get low in the West, and the wind yet nothing.

Would it be in vain? Could he give

her now, just as he was certain of

How can you stand here? Is no

ready to go with you?" she asked.

"Yes, we are all ready enough, Miss

Katharine, but the Lord help the poor

who goes out to-night."

Katharine said that another word,

but she knew how to handle both a boat

and a pair of oars; she slipped through

the door, and before any one knew it, she

had unfastened a boat, was in it, and

going out swiftly on a reeling wave

toward the rocks and—him.

The light shone on white faces

enough when they found that a woman

had gone out alone, and Mr. Forsyth

gasped for breath, and nearly

fainted when he really believed that

it was true.

The rest of that long night—and it seemed as

BIRMINGHAM IRON AGE.

Largest circulation in the County.

DUVAL & ROBERTS, Editors.

THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1874.

S. M. Pettibone & Co., 10 State street, Boston, 87 Park Row, New York and 701 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, are duly authorized Agents for procuring advertisements for our paper in the above cities, and authorized to contract for advertising at our lowest rates.

THE LATEST NEWS.

The Birmingham Iron Age is issued on Thursday morning, in time to go by the horse mail which leaves here at 7 o'clock and supplies the following Post Offices:

Blountsville, Balm, Village Springs, Murphy's Valley, Little Warrior, Oregon and Mt. Pinson. Subscribers at these Post Offices will get the latest news through this paper.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

We certainly live in an age remarkable for its progress, its uncertainties and its unexpected changes. In the old world, empires rise and fall, literally, in a day. Isabella was one day Queen; the next she was an exile. Napoleon in August was Emperor, and the most popular of the continent. By the middle of September he was a prisoner of war, his kingdom gone and he himself dethroned. Coming nearer home, we find that during the last few years, our own country has been in the midst of revolutions, wars, oppressions and changes beyond parallel and almost without number. During the war, we had nearly or quite two dynasties; one North, the other South. Since the war we have had nearly everything and yet nearly nothing. But hope gives us encouragement; there is light ahead. We have indications of coming changes that will equalize the States of the Union in the enjoyment of their rights and privileges. This is all the South asks, she never did demand more.

President Grant, sickened and disgusted as we have reason to believe he was, with affairs in South Carolina and Louisiana, has recently displayed his good sense and wisdom in putting an end to difficulties and troubles that would have ruined the richest and most prosperous State in the whole South—Texas. Let us honor the President for his timely action and statesman-like management. It may be that, at last, he is opening his eyes to the true condition of the South, overruled as she has been, by swarms of carpet-baggers and birds of prey from the North.

Along by the side of these indications from the President, we cheerfully note that the elections, State and Municipal, in the Great West, and also in the East, unerringly point us to a coming change. The people are tired of corrupt rings and heavy taxes to support thieves and villains.

Let us in Alabama, "fight on, and fight even" for the supremacy of the white man. It is better for the negro, as well as for the white man, that the latter should govern and rule. This difference in races—in skulls—is this imprint—is the work of the great Creator. No bayonet, no government of man, can change it.

With might and main, we intend to give our help, our columns, our pens, our tongues and our all, to this doctrine. We mean to offend none; to protect all. Shoulder to shoulder, "with locked shields," let us harmoniously enter the contest, and "fight the good fight," until our State is safe and Alabama is redeemed.

The Shelby Guide—always alive to the welfare of the State—twits the Secretary of the State Lodge of Good Templars for printing his minutes out of the State, when he could have had the work done as well and as cheap at 20 places in Alabama.

Not only Good Templars do this, but Principals of our leading schools, Probate Judges, Circuit Clerks, Railroads, many of our merchants, etc., and thus more than a quarter of a million of dollars are sent out of the State every year which should be kept at home. We print at Northern prices.

COL. ROBERT TYLER.—The Montgomery Morning News of last Saturday comes to us with the salutation of Col. Robert Tyler, as editor. We rejoice that he has again connected himself with the Alabama press. We could not well do without his valuable services in the coming campaign. Hurra for the News!

The Spring Term of the Circuit Court for this county will be held on 3d Monday after the 4th Monday of March.

SIGNS.

We do not understand the weather, nor the signs thereof. But the weather Bureau originated by that illustrious Southerner, Matthew F. Maury, and whose headquarters are now at Washington City, has learned with wonderful accuracy to forecast the weather. This is a development of science, whose light is only beginning to fall upon the eyes of the people upon the labors of man.

There are signs, however, which we do believe that we understand. These are political and religious. Corruption and rottenness in the Radical party have disgusted the American people, whose raison d'être is now being indicated by the elections all over the country. We think it is a cause of thankfulness to the Giver of all good, that at last, the North is opening its eyes.

The darkest hour is just before day. We have been oppressed, we have been humiliated, we have been "cheated" out of nearly everything but our record and our honor; and at last hope begins to beam upon us. May the glorious day roll on, when hundreds of such men as Gordon and Stephens shall raise their voices in Congress for law and for liberty. Let our young men study on, and prepare themselves by mental discipline for the great race before them; and for the grand arena of political strife and triumph. The contest is coming, in which mind and logic and truth shall outdo and undo the arbitrariness of the sword.

Other signs than the political are indicating deliverance. From our religious exchanges we notice that great revivals of religion are springing up in various sections of our land. Let the fountain be pure, and the stream will also be pure. Then, with a universal outpouring of the good spirit, and with a full return to the senses of the Northern people to the administration of justice and right towards the South, may we not confidently hope that, even yet, we shall "abide under the shadow of the Almighty," in inheriting a portion of "the best government the world ever saw?"

Who knows but a day of reaction is just at hand? Let it come and speedily come. Surely, then, we shall have a great country; great in its extent; great in its resources; great in its people; and greater and grander still in its achievements in science, government and wealth.

Another Cotton Factory.

Little by little Alabama is advancing in the march of progress, and ere long, manufactures will be introduced to such an extent that we shall become conspicuous for our enterprise in these branches of industry. We copy the subjoined from the Aberdeen Examiner, to show our readers that activity, energy and progress are cropping out:

The enterprising gaugers of Perry county, Alabama, are about to start a large cotton factory at Marion. Public meetings are being held in that behalf, and we understand that the stock is being rapidly subscribed. The farmers in the "cane-brake" are tired of reaping the ignominious part of "hewers of wood and drawers of water" to the New England millers, and propose hereafter to pocket at least the difference between the value of cotton in the lint and in the yarn, which is in itself a fair profit on planting. The farmers do not propose to wait for "better times" to inaugurate their enterprise, but wisely propose to make better times, by judiciously investing their capital and credit.

That incorrigible wretch, Mrs. Ward, of Greenville, Tenn., seems determined to conquer. She has taken out license for another year with the intention of commencing a fresh campaign. On the day on which she secured her license she came up the street with the papers in her hand, and as she passed the ladies flourished them in their faces, giving vent to her exultations in various expletives, and not using very choice language; then, retiring into her den, appeared to enjoy their discomfiture with a hearty relish. The ladies, however, are not to be discouraged by this, and said they will hold out as long as Mrs. Ward does. As it now stands it is hard to say which party will triumph.

To THE POINT.—An exchange says: "Compare the publisher of a newspaper, who has to go all around the country to collect his pay, to a farmer who sells his wheat on credit, and not more than a bushel to any person. If any farmer will try the experiment of distributing the proceeds of his labor over two or three counties, with an additional one or two or three distant States, for one year, we will guarantee that he will never, after that year's experience, ask a publisher to supply him with a newspaper a year or two without the pay for it."

They have an abundance of strawberries in the Mobile market.

Organization of the Jefferson County Council.

Pursuant to call, delegates from the various Granges met at the Grange Room in Birmingham, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, March 14th.

On motion, Col. F. G. King was called to the Chair, and R. J. Waldrop appointed to act as Secretary.

Col. King then explained the object of the meeting in a few very appropriate remarks.

On motion, it was resolved to proceed to the election of officers for the remainder of the year—and that we elect the same officers, usual in a Subordinate Grange. Also, that the officers elect enter at once upon their duties. The election resulted as follows, viz:

T. W. McAdory, Master;
W. J. Eubank, Overseer;
P. G. King, Lecturer;
Rev. G. W. Basham, Chaplain;
R. J. Waldrop, Secretary;
James Parsons, Steward;
J. M. Franklin, Assistant Steward;
C. McAdory, Treasurer;
P. P. Moore, Gate-keeper;
Mrs. Stinson, Ceres;
Mrs. N. F. Miles, Pomona;
Miss Rosa Sandler, Flora;
Mrs. P. G. King, Lady Ass't Stew.

The officers then took the seats to which they had been elected and the Council took preparatory steps to the more perfect organization of the same. Several resolutions having been offered and passed.

On motion, Resolved, That the present Lecturer, Col. P. G. King, deliver a public lecture to the people of Jefferson county, at 12 o'clock the 13th day of April next, in the Court House at Birmingham.

On motion, Resolved, That a committee of three, consisting of C. McAdory, W. J. Eubank and W. A. Smith, be appointed to prepare and report a plan by which the Granges of Jefferson county may be enabled to purchase, at reduced prices, agricultural implements, seeds, stock, &c., in such quantities as they may demand.

On motion, Resolved, That the Birmingham papers be requested to publish, in abstract, the proceedings of this meeting.

On motion, adjourned.

I. W. McADORY, Master.

R. J. WALDROP, Secretary.

THE LATE MR. FILLMORE.—Hon. Millard Fillmore died in Buffalo, N. Y., March 8, aged 74 years. He was a native of Cayuga county, N. Y., and was apprenticed to a fuller in 1833 entered congress as a whig, and served several years. In 1844 he was defeated for governor of New York, but in 1848 was elected vice president of the Union on the ticket with Gen. Taylor. The death of the latter translated Mr. Fillmore to the presidency in June 1850, and he served in that high position nearly 3 years. In 1850 he was the candidate of the Native American party for the presidency, but Mr. Buchanan was elected. For the last 17 years Mr. F. has been in private life.

Mr. Fillmore won the respect of all the world during his presidency by the faithful manner in which he performed his high duties. He proved himself all through life to be a public servant of the purest virtue and the clearest honor. He was a friend of the South, and beheld the Radical war upon our people with sincere sorrow. Of all the men of the North who have occupied the "white house," Mr. Fillmore—save Gen. Pierce—was the ablest and purest.—[Hayneville Examiner.]

THE LATE SENATOR SUMNER.—Mr. Charles Sumner died in Washington March 11. He was a native of Massachusetts, and was born in 1811. Nearly 25 years ago he appeared in the Senate as senator in company with his native state. His bitter hostility to negro slavery, united to his attainments as a scholar, his integrity in public and private life, and his close application in the line of his duties, made him prominent at a very early day. A severe speech in 1857, on the slavery question, caused Mr. P. S. Brooks of S. C. to assault Mr. Sumner in the Senate chamber, and the rash act of the Carolinian greatly aggravated the feelings of the Northern people. When the Radicals got possession of the federal government, Mr. S. obtained great influence, and this he held till his breach with Gen. Grant 3 years ago.—[Hayneville Examiner.]

The Columbus Enquirer says: The new State obligations of Alabama, prepared by authority of the Funding act, have reached Montgomery, and will be issued in a few days. Then Alabama will have money of her own, and can look with indifference upon the struggle in Congress between the inflationists and advocates of specie payment. With all the thieves turned loose, to save the expense of keeping them in jail, and a million of money of its own making, Alabama will doubtless see the "million" before any other State in the Union!

Pay the Printer and be happy.

ALABAMA ITEMS.

Hon. Thos. A. Walker is dangerously ill at his plantation near Bellevue in Dallas county.

There is a "wash up" on the Selma, Marion & Memphis Railroad, just above Greensboro. There are doubtless a number of breaks on the A. & G. road to-day. The three days' rains we have had, are enough to wash up any road.

Jasper N. Haney, lawyer in Selma, was arrested on Monday last on an indictment found by the Grand Jury for libel upon the Hon. Geo. H. Craig, Judge of the Criminal Court of Dallas county.

The Eufaula Times, edited by Capt. Macon, has resumed publication—the weekly edition. We hope soon to see his daily.

Rents are cheaper in Eufaula than they have been since the war.

Gov. Lewis has signed many of the State "obligations" and is still hard at it. We'll take that scrip at par—Send it along.

The Eufaula Railroad is washed up at Thompson's station.

Three trestles have been carried away by the flood, between Fort Deposit and Greenville, on the Mobile & Montgomery R. R.

The Alabama river rose seven feet at Montgomery on Monday, and is now on a general "bust." Doubtless the Warrior river at Tuscaloosa is sixty feet above low water mark.

The recent heavy rains have been general over this State, and a freshet in the creeks and rivers is the result. The Grand Jury in Montgomery have found twelve indictments against Jennie Yarbrough. Another prelude to hear from.

The State Executive Committee have appointed the delegates from each District. This District stands as follows:

6th District—Blount three delegates, Colbert five, Franklin two, Jefferson six, Lauderdale seven, Lawrence six, Limestone four, Marion one, Morgan five, Walker two, Winston one.

The whole number from all the Districts will be 408.

John D. Duffell, residing near Clayton, has slaughtered a porker that weighed 478 pounds net, when 18 months old. The next time that hog is killed, he will weigh more.

Three attempts were made last week in one night to burn the town of Bladen Springs in Choctaw county.

Mr. Saffold Berney, late of Greene, is now connected with the Mobile Register as news editor.

A negro woman in Dallas county, aged 103 years, drowned herself in a creek because her daughter abused her.

There have been several fatal cases of meningitis among the negroes of the Belmont (Sumter county) neighborhood.

The prospect for the wheat and oat crops about Auburn is fine.

The North Alabamian urges the Democracy of Colbert county to organize.

Livingston Lodge of Good Templars number about 115 members in good standing.

The election in Camden last Monday resulted in the election of W. H. Dorth, Intendant, and Messrs. Love, McDaniel, Barrett, Bloch, Jones, Hart and Kittrell, Councilmen.

One farmer in Henry county has already planted sixty acres of corn, and has one hundred and fifty acres of land broken up to be planted in small grain, corn and cotton.

A Mobile dealer in game and poultry sold last year 4000 deer, and up to the present time has sold this year over 2000.

A short time ago, a talented but dissipated person, calling himself Dr. St. George Douglas, became a teacher in Troy, Pike county. The Troy Messenger now contains an account of the horrible crime he committed on a young girl 11 years old, by the aid of ether. He was taken out by the enraged people, and whipped nearly to death and castrated.

The Savannah and Memphis Railroad, is making arrangements to return to the State, the bonds endorsed for that road, and to take in lieu thereof, the $4000 per mile straight.

The farmers in Montgomery county have exercised some caution this season and not left themselves totally at the mercy of the cotton worm. More grain has been planted this year than any previous and there exists not the same desire to have an all cotton crop.

A wind storm blew down several buildings in Lowndesboro last week. They have a $25,000 jail in Huntsville not strong enough to hold prisoners.

THAT "YAHOO."

Just as we expected, some fellow wants a little more ventilation of the Home Financial Agents' doings, and appeared in print last Saturday, in one of the little sheets of this city.

We will write a few words in reply to "Yahoo" and dispose of this controversy finally. We are not any harder upon Mr. Linn, in his official capacity, than he was upon us in awarding the contract for city printing.

We give here "Yahoo's" closing paragraph, and correct his mistake. If Mr. Linn is responsible for giving the printing to the Independent, so are O'Connor and Milner, both of whom were on the same committee. But I cannot see that he did wrong. When the printing was given to the Independent, neither The Daily News nor the Iron Age were in existence—the latter being advertised to appear some time in the future, as was the case last year. Am I mistaken? If so, I stand corrected.

The evening before Mr. Linn awarded the contract to the Independent, he asked us for one bid for doing the city printing for this year. We had already put in a written bid at so much per square or inch. Mr. Linn informed us that he did not want a bid in that way. He desired a bid for the printing as a whole. A jump, as he expressed it. We informed him that we would have to make some calculations on that matter of advertising and would let him know in the morning what our bid would be. He answered, "very well." The next morning, without waiting to hear further from us, he was going to the Independent office to give the contract, as a friend informed us, and we requested the latter to see Mr. Linn and inform him that we would take the contract at $250. Our friend saw Mr. Linn on his way to the Independent office, and delivered our message. He mumbled out something in reply, to the effect that would give it to Matthews, anyhow—that we were too slow about the bid, etc. In this transaction we knew not a single member of the Committee on Printing, except Mr. Linn. We do not believe he consulted the other members of the Committee. As chairman, he took the entire responsibility and acted on his own judgement. Instead of going to Matthews that morning, Mr. Linn should have reported to the Council what bids he had received, and let the Board make the award; but he would not—the first made a contract (which he had no right to do), and then informed the Board of his action, and they ratified it. We were not present at the Council meeting and don't know that Mr. Linn mentioned our bid at all, either to the other members of the committee or to the Board of Aldermen. These are the facts of the case.

At the time our bid was sent in for the city printing, the first number of this paper had not been issued; but the materials were in the office and we were at work upon the first number. It was a certainty then, and our paper appeared before a single item had been furnished the Independent for publication, by the Council. We still insist that, by the perversion and self-will of Mr. Linn the tax-payers of this city have had $50 of their money thrown away, merely to gratify a little favoritism.

"Yahoo" says that O'Connor is on four committees, Luckie, Milner, Enslon and Roden are all on three each, and Morris and Jordan are on two each. That is all very well and the gentlemen named are in their proper places on the committees; but is either one of them chairman of three committees? Is any member of the Board chairman of as many committees as Mr. Linn? There is the ground of our dubbing him "Boss" of the city. But we do not blame Mr. Linn so much as the party or parties who made him chairman of so many committees. We all believe that too much responsibility has been placed to Mr. Linn's management and that our people will yet suffer by it, to a greater or less extent. And the Board of Aldermen will find it out when too late to correct their error.

"Yahoo" is doubtless a city official in some capacity—he knows so well all the members of each committee.—We would, therefore ask him to tell us what report did Mr. Linn make to the Board on city printing, after he had closed the contract with the Independent.

To All Odd Fellows in Birmingham.

At the last meeting of Mineral City Lodge, No. 74, I. O. O. F., a resolution was adopted to request every Odd Fellow in good standing in this city to hand in his name to Secretary M. A. Bridges, of First Grand, R. A. Duval, at this office. The object is to celebrate in an appropriate manner the Anniversary of the Order in the United States.

Our Agents.

Mr. T. A. Nixon is our duly authorized agent to obtain subscriptions in Jefferson and adjoining counties.

Mr. John A. Baker is our authorized agent for obtaining subscribers to this paper in Jefferson county.

Mr. S. W. Gillespie is our agent at Callahan, Blount county, to receive subscriptions and advertisements for this paper at our published rates.

W. O. Monroe is our authorized agent at Eutaw, Greene county.

Col. Robert Tyler, (now editor of the Montgomery Morning News), positively refused to allow his name to go before the State Convention for any office. The reasons for this he gives in full, and we must coincide in his views. After all, he will probably be of more benefit to our party with his pen than with his voice. But we regret that he is so situated that he cannot permit his claims to go before the Convention.

Mr. Graham, of Nashville, will be in Birmingham on or about the 28th, with a fine lot of Watches and Jewelry for sale. See advertisement.

As the Spring-time comes, gentle Annie, ye City Authorities go to plowing the streets. We do not know what they intend to sow; unless it be the seeds of disease and death.

Last quotations of cotton in Montgomery were: Strict Good Ordinary, 14½; Low Middlings, 13½ to 14½. Market quiet.

Gold in New York, 10th—12 to 13. Money 3 per cent.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce S. H. DUPUY as a candidate for Sheriff of Jefferson County, subject to the Democratic Convention.

We are authorized to announce Mr. C. E. ELIS as a candidate for Treasurer of Jefferson County—subject to the action of the County Convention.

BIRMINGHAM P. O. DIRECTORY.

OPENING & CLOSING OF THE MAILS.

All Mails opened immediately on arrival.

Mail for North & West via Decatur, closes at 1 P. M.

Mail for North & East via Chattanooga, closes at 1 P. M.

Mail for South & West via Meridian, closes at 1 P. M.

Mail for South & East via Montgomery, closes at 5 P. M.

DEPARTS.

Blountsville Mail leaves Thursday at 11 A. M.

GENERAL DELIVERY.

Open from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

On Sundays, from 9 A. M. and 2½ to 3 P. M.

OFFICE HOURS.

From 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

STAMPS.

For sale at the "General Delivery Window."

T. W. MORRISON, Ass't P. M.

Birmingham Fraternal Lodge.

No. 384, F. & A. M.

Lodge communications on 2d and 4th Mondays in each month. Hall on 1st Avenue.

JNO. A. MILLER, Sec'y.

Mineral City Lodge, No. 74, I. O. O. F.

Regular meeting every Tuesday night, 7 o'clock. Hall over Schmidt & O'Brien's store, corner 21st Street and 2d Avenue.

BEN. F. WILLIAMS, N. G.

M. A. BRIDGES, Sec'y.

New Goods, New Goods, Just Received.

ALL THE LATEST STYLES AND Novelties of the season, at

A. A. TYLER'S MILLINERY

and Fancy Store,

on 21st Street, between 2d and 3d Avenues.

We have the finest stock ever brought to this city, and we offer, so as to keep everything in the LATEST FASHION. We will give as a Premium to any one trading with us to the amount of Ten Dollars, the Birmingham Iron Age for one year, or the Jefferson Independent for six months; and to any one trading to the amount of five dollars, any article worth one dollar that we may have in the store.

We are thankful for past favors and hope to receive a liberal patronage from our old customers and the public in general.

A. A. TYLER.

March 10-11

BAKERY.

MIERS & HENGL,

(Successors to Mackey & Hengl),

BAKERS & CONFECTIONERS

AND DEALERS IN

Fancy Groceries.

They will furnish families with bread of all kinds, at the LOWEST FIGURES.

20th Street, opposite National Bank, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

March 10-11

W. J. PIERCE & CO., GROCERS

AND DEALERS IN

Western Produce.

20th Street,

Birmingham, Ala.

March 10-11

Situation Wanted.

A GENTLEMAN of many years experience in the Dry Goods and Grocery business, in a large establishment, desires a situation in a house in Birmingham. Best references given. Apply at this office.

March 10-11

M. T. GRAHAM & CO., PRACTICAL

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

Nashville, Tenn.

Will sell on or before March 28th, Gold and Silver Watches, Jewelry, etc., left for repairs.

March 19-11

GO NORTH, EAST AND WEST.

VIA THE

Louisville and Great Southern

RAILROAD LINE.

This is the great Direct and Through Line and the only All-Rail Route from all points in TEXAS, ARKANSAS, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI, ALABAMA, FLORIDA, GEORGIA, THE CAROLINAS AND TENNESSEE, TO THE NORTH, EAST SOUTH, SOUTH-EAST & SOUTH-WEST.

It makes Quick Time with Less Change of Cars than any other.

Pullman Palace Cars

Run via this Line both ways, as follows: LOUISVILLE TO MEMPHIS WITHOUT CHANGE. NO CHANGE OF CARS.

From Memphis, Montgomery or Nashville to Louisville, our Connecting Lines run Pullman Palace Cars through to East.

em Cities Without Change, thus making a Great Through.

Continous All-Rail Route East.

Avoiding all Ferries and Transfers.

Mammoth Cave.

The greatest of Natural Curiosities, is located on this Line. Passengers can stop over and visit the Cave, and resume their journey as pleasure.

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS TO PARTIES EMIGRATING.

A Monthly Paper will be issued by this line, giving complete information as to connections, time, and accommodations. It will also contain original and selected reading matter, and will be mailed free of charge one year to any person, by addressing

C. P. ATMORE,

Gen'l Passenger & Ticket Agent,

LOUISVILLE, KY.

March 10-11

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of MILLNER & LOCKWOOD is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

J. L. Lockwood is entitled to $2,800 all outstanding accounts by assuming the liabilities.

March 3-11

SOMERVILLE & McEachin, Clarksons, Attorneys at Law.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Office on 1st Avenue, bet. 19th & 20th Sts. Feb. 20, 1874. 5-6m

R. B. ABBOTT, Practical Plasterer.

