Somebody harnessed the Editor's onliest knife yesterday and he is now disconsolate.

Offutt has received Godey for July and all the other late magazines. Call and get a copy; he has but a few left.

There will be a called meeting of the Representatives of the Fire Department at 8 o'clock this Thursday, evening. A full attendance is desired.

One of the water works pipes on Court street failed to stand the pressure yesterday, and collapsed. Some time was lost in repairing the damage. But we are bound to have water in us and that, too, in a very few days.

While the City Health Officer is so busy in the abatement of nuisances in back yards, would it not be well for him to have an eye to the filthy water in the Artesian Basin? Some more perfect mode of drainage than that in use should be adopted, to prevent the water becoming stagnant.

The forty-first annual course of lectures of the Medical Department of the University of Louisiana, begins November 16th, 1874, and closes in March, 1875. The terms are the same as at the schools of New York and Philadelphia, and the well known qualifications of the gentlemen composing the faculty guarantee as high a standard of instruction as at any other institution. See advertisement.

Our frog serenade last evening was less brilliant than usual. It is supposed that the majority of the poor creatures are suffering with malarial fever, superinduced by the fifth in the Artesian Basin. The tenor was well sustained, but the basso-profundo was missing. The contralto had a severe cold, and the soprano sung like he had been too often to the Ruby. It is not every city of this size that can boast a frog-pond in the centre of its most public thoroughfare. Would it not be well to ornament the city with another one in the center of the Welch square?

Mr. Walker, of Eufaula, was in the city yesterday.

Corn will be sold cheap this morning at Jackson & Cowan's. They have six hundred bushels to sell at auction.

Corn at auction by Jackson & Cowan. Auction at 10 o'clock this morning.

The Mite Meeting will be held to-night at the residence of Mr. Charles K. Dudley, corner of Adams and McDonough streets.

A friend asks us if we think a lecture, or a reading and lecture, would pay in this city at this late day in the season. Hardly.

Messrs. Schields & Olcott, auctioneers 29 Market street, will offer at private sale for the next ten days a bankrupt stock of goods, consisting of dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes, hats, caps, notions, hardware, etc.

The charges for board at Blount Springs have been greatly reduced, as will be seen by reference to the advertisement of the Jackson House (C. W. Morrow, Proprietor), elsewhere published.

LOI THE POOR LAWYER!—The case of Richard W. Goldthwaite vs. The City Council of Montgomery, decided by the Supreme Court on yesterday, leaves the legal fraternity in good condition to sing: "Our hopes have departed forever!"

Oliver Dilson & Co., of Boston, our constant advertisers, have "repaired damages" caused by fire and water, and are now at home in the old quarters, with store and stock in fine order and with music sufficient for the largest orders.

When the night police assembled for duty last Tuesday evening there were present the entire colored force of the night police, and Messrs. Whetstone, Lomax, Collins and Brinefield, of the white force. Before starting on their rounds Policeman Fitzsimmons (c) requested them to remain a while and organize a meeting for the purpose of paying some tribute of respect to the memory of Alderman L. J. Williams (c) dec'd. Policeman Whetstone (w) was called to the chair and policeman Collins (w) was requested to act as Secretary. Policeman Lomax (w) moved that the night force attend the funeral of Alderman Williams in a body, uniformed, which was agreed to. Lomax then moved that a committee be appointed to prepare the proceedings of the meeting for publication in the State Journal, which was also agreed to. The meeting then adjourned.

THOSE CALLS.—The Democrats and Conservatives of Beas 4 and 5 are requested by their fellow-citizens, whose names elsewhere appear, to meet them in Convention in this city, at the times and places named in the calls, to organize, and select delegates to the County Convention to be held on the 27th inst. This is a timely and wise move. We need perfect organization just now more than anything else. It is the surest and safest road to success. An army of stragglers is next thing to no army at all. The more compact the more effective; a sponge thrown with a strong man's utmost might will not do half the hurt that an ounce ball thrown from the hand of a schoolboy will. We must collect and concentrate means and forces if we would win. And the first step in that direction is contemplated by the calls before referred to. Let every Democrat and Conservative attend his best meeting. Let us open the campaign with an omen of victory—the sun of Australis.

LITTLE'S LIVING AGE.—Among the notable articles contained in the last two weekly numbers of The Living Age, are the following: The French Press (Newspapers during the Revolution) Cornhill Magazine; Lamartine, by the author of "Mirabeau," Temple Bar; Some Old-fashioned Persons, Fraser; The Fiji Islands, Pall Mall Gazette; Exotic English, Chambers Journal; The Indian Famine, Economist; Our First Great Novelist, Macmillan; The Woman and the Universities, Spectator; The Reply of Achilles to the Envoys of Agamemnon, by Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Contemporary Review; Ritualism, by Llewellyn Davies, etc., with Alice Lorraine, A Tale of the South Downs, and instalments of the "Story of Valentine and his Brother," by poetry and miscellany. With fifty-two such numbers, of sixty-four large pages each (aggregating over 3000 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; or still better, for $10, any one of the American $4 magazines is sent with The Living Age for a year. Little & Gray, Boston, Publishers.

The recent distressing cases of trichina spiralis at Flint and South Haven, Michigan, which resulted so fatally, have been made the subject of a patient and prolonged investigation by the Medical Society of Kalamazoo. Post-mortem examinations of the bodies of the victims were made, and these loathsome parasites were found in great numbers in the bodies. The pork and ham were also examined, and found to be alive with them. It was furthermore ascertained that in each case ham had been eaten raw. As there are numerous others liable to eat ham in this condition, we commend to them the following extract from the Medical report:

"That no uncooked or half-cooked hog's flesh. The raw flesh of the hog, whatever its shape or condition, whether ham, bacon, or pork, salt or fresh, smoked or unsmoked, is liable to contain this parasite; full of a life and activity that may soon work a remediless mischief in this human body. Bologna sausage, if pork be in it uncooked, is as dangerous as any other form of this meat. The heat that cooks meat utterly destroys the life and mischievous power of these vermin, and no one need fear any harm if this fact is observed."

"Olive Branch" received. Many thanks.

Col. R. H. Abercrombie, of Tuskegee, was among the prominent visitors to the city yesterday.

MARRIED.—Wednesday morning, the 17th inst., by Rev. Dr. Wadsworth, Mr. Edward J. Bryant to Miss Edna L. McNeill, daughter of Capt. S. H. McNeill, of this city.

Among the conductors on our various lines of railway who are fast winning enviable reputations for attention to duty, urbanity and an accommodating, self-sacrificing spirit is our young friend Word of the South and North Alabama.

The cool and refreshing breezes off Lake Michigan to Grand Haven and Spring Lake the most pleasant and invigorating climate in the world. The Magnetic Mineral water from Spring Lake has a national reputation as a therapeutic agent in the cure of disease.

We are indebted to the Jefferson Literary Society, of the University of Virginia, for an invitation to attend the final celebration of the Society on the 30th inst. Mr. J. E. Powell, of this State, is the medalist of the Society, and Mr. D. W. Goodman is one of the committee of invitation.

Three days ago there was a horse in this city which no one could drive to harness. Yesterday Prof. Sample was driving that horse through our streets, with the back straps unfastened and the buggy running on his heels every few minutes without alarming him in the least or seeming to arrest his attention. This was the first of one hour's work performed in the presence of the class on Tuesday afternoon by Prof. Sample in person—who then and there saw the animal for the first time. Gentlemen who have wild or vicious horses can make no better investment than by joining Prof. Sample's class and furnishing the refractory animal as a subject upon which to exercise his mesmeric skill.

"The Heart of Africa" is admirably translated by Ellen E. Fremmer, and contains an introduction by Winwood Reade. It is a very interesting narrative of the explorer, Dr. Schweinfurth's adventures during three years of travel in a portion of Central Africa to which but one besides himself, Sir Samuel Baker, has succeeded in penetrating. Dr. Schweinfurth ranks among the first historians of this or any other age, and his extensive work besides being a most valuable contribution to science, is, without doubt, the most entertaining book on Africa ever written. It is illustrated with the author's own sketches.

"The Heart of Africa" is now on sale at the Book and Stationery store of Joel White, Market Street.

A gentleman named Harris has an exhibition in this city one of the most singular monstrosities that we ever saw. It is a woman thirty-four years of age, a native of Tallapoosa county in this State, who has never walked a step in the whole course of her life. All this long time she has been nursed like an infant by her father and mother, who are in very indigent circumstances. Her head is almost as large as a nail-keg, and is supposed to weigh about sixty pounds. Her body is emaciated but not misshapen to any remarkable extent. Her hands and arms are natural. Her legs are dwindled to a very small size, and are intertwined one with the other. Her feet seem to be little deformed. She converses in a broken way, unintelligibly to all but her family. This malformation has taken place since her birth—she having been as perfect as almost any child at that time. Her family lay it to the charge of spasms, with which she was afflicted at an early age, but a more reasonable supposition would seem to be that the cause of the spasms was also the cause of her malformation. She has long been considered a sort of physiological wonder, and physicians have journeyed as far as from South Carolina to see and examine her. She will remain on exhibition here for a few days for the purpose of raising funds to be used in her own and her father's and mother's support and maintenance.

"SHE LOVED HIM MADLY," or, as it is known in the original, "Le Beau Roland," from the French of Gautier Borys.—New York: G. W. Carleton & Co., Publishers. J. White, Book-seller and Stationer, Montgomery, Ala. A new and brilliant novel which has already passed through several editions in its French garb, and will doubtless be equally successful in its new form. The interest which is awakened at the first line is never suffered to lag, and the incidents, which are quite novel and somewhat sensational, succeed each other with dazzling rapidity to the very last of the volume. The characters are quite original, the style fluent and lively, and altogether it has every element to make it one of the most attractive books of the season. It is well and conscientiously translated, there being just enough French cropping out here and there to indicate its Gaelic origin, and much less than is found in many books and magazine articles of English production. We notice some explanatory foot notes which the untraveled reader will find of service in appreciating many French customs and traits referred to in the text. "She Loved Him Madly" is the first of a series of French novels by various authors, but selected especially for American readers, and rendered into English by the same translator, which Messrs. G. W. Carleton & Co., intend publishing during the current year, "Pourquoi?" by Chavette, and "A Fatal Passion," by Charles de Bernard, being next on the list.

At five o'clock this afternoon Prof. Sample will have a horse to handle which will be worth seeing.

We are indebted to the faculty and students of the University of Columbia, for a polite invitation to attend their Commencement exercises on the 25th inst.

We learn that J. J. Hickman, Esq., R. W. C. T. of the world will reach this city on his return from Mobile next Saturday morning. Can't our two lodges persuade him to stop over and lecture?

M. A. Baldwin, Esq., late of this city, has settled in Rockport, Milam county, Texas, and entered upon the practice of his profession there. His many friends in his old home wish him all sorts of prosperity and success.

A party of five or more visiting LaGrange, Ga., during the commencement of the "LaGrange Female College," can get half rate tickets, i. e., one fare there and a free pass back.—Those desiring to go will please leave their names at this office.

Some friend has sent us a Universalist document, believing, doubtless, that printers need all the consolation of that sort they can get. If this was the idea we reply, as the old quaker did: "If the doctrine is true we don't need it; if it is not true we don't want it."

The Strobachers held their grand counter-action pow-wow at the Fountain building last evening. A man by the name of Townsend, was the first speaker, but he bored with such a dull old auger that "our reporter" left in despair—"One more hour of Townsend" said he "and I should have been ruined."

The case of the City vs. Lou. Blackshear and Eliza Payne, the two "street-walkers" who created such a "muzz" on Perry street Tuesday afternoon, will come up for trial before the Mayor this morning. As the Mayor is sworn to execute and vindicate the majesty of the law, we hope will give the extent of the law to the mob that interfered with officers Light and Payne in the discharge of their duties. We presume, of course, that Marshal Gerald ordered their arrest, as we are informed that the outrage was committed in his immediate presence.

DR. S. B. COLLIN'S PAINLESS OPIUM ANTIDOTE.

It is a perfect and painless cure for THE HABITUAL USE OF OPIUM in any of its forms whether as MORPHINE, LAUDANUM, BARKER, or GUM OPIUM.

It Positively Produces a Permanent Cure. It is strange, yet true, that as a rule it is the brightest intellects, the best members of society, that become addicted to this diseased appetite; a habit which makes them slaves, beguiles their minds, ruins their dispositions, and gives them, in their natural moments, a hatred of self as well as a feeling that every body despises them to such an extent that society has no charms for them. The habit of using Opium, the morbid, terrible habit and degraded condition, as well as all of the desire and ambition, and all who are soon removed by this remarkable Antidote, entirely so, and the weakened body and mind are invigorated, given renewed health, will love and hope take the place of despondency and doubt. Though you may not be addicted to the use of Opium, some friend may be and you know it not; therefore let me ask you, in the name of suffering humanity, to pass this on to those who may be so afflicted. General Agent for the Southern States, Dr. S. B. COLLIN, No. 38 South Broad St., Atlanta, Ga. apl2&ad&w

WASHINGTON, June 17. House.—Business was generally confined to District affairs. The bill abolishing the present government of the District of Columbia passed by a vote of 316 to 22.

Wilson, of Indiana, from the Judiciary Committee, made a report in the impeachment case of Judge Durrell, of Louisiana, with resolutions: First, that Judge Durrell be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors; second, that a committee of two be appointed by the House to go to the Senate, and in the name of the House of Representatives impeach him and inform the Senate that the House will in due time exhibit particular articles of impeachment and make good the same, and demand that the Senate take order for the appearance of Judge Durrell to answer such impeachment; and third, that a committee of seven be appointed to prepare articles of impeachment, with power to send for persons and papers and to take testimony.

Tremaine, of New York, presented a minority report, signed by himself, Fry of Maine, Cessna of Pennsylvania, and Ward of Illinois, dissenting from the conclusions of the majority of the committee, and recommending that all proceedings against Judge Durrell be discontinued. He also presented another minority report, signed by Mr. Poland, of Vermont, stating, first, that in regard to Judge Durrell's midnight order, he believed that the Judge had no proper legal jurisdiction to make it, but still, that he (Poland) could not find that the Judge acted corruptly or with any belief that he was going beyond his jurisdiction. The whole people were excited; the times were violent and turbulent, and judicial calmness and correctness could hardly be expected. The second point of Judge Poland's report is that the evidence seems to establish that some of the officers of Judge Durrell's court were clearly guilty of corrupt practices, and that the Judge was not watchful to scrutinize their conduct, but that there is no claim that he ever shared in any of the proceeds of their gains, and no direct evidence that he knowingly sanctioned or approved their action; third, that while the evidence obtained by a substantially ex parte examination only secured a bare majority of the Committee, it did not appear that the public interest would be furthered by presenting articles of impeachment.

The various reports were ordered to be printed and recommended. Confirmations.—Reynolds, Minister to Bolivia; Cadwallader, Assistant Secretary of State; Heiderhoff, Collector at Pearl River; Goodloe, Collector at Mobile.

The Senate passed the bill making Montgomery, Ala., a port of delivery. The Senate Committee on Finance completed the consideration of the tariff bill this morning, and it was reported to the Senate. The act is to take effect July 1st, 1874.

Probabilities.—For the Gulf States, partly cloudy weather, and light rain near the coast, light to gentle winds, stationary or rising temperature and continued high barometer.

WILMINGTON, June 16. A serious accident occurred this morning to the excursion train on the Carolina Central R. R. Several hundred excursionists were on their way to Wilmington, N. C. When two and a half miles this side of Silveston the locomotive, two flat cars, baggage car and second class car, were thrown from the track. Capt. T. M. Wooten the Conductor, was slightly hurt; Thos. Alderman, Express messenger was seriously hurt; three negroes were killed and nine wounded. It is reported also that ten or twelve whites were wounded. There are many conflicting reports, and it is impossible to get at the particulars, as the Railroad authorities have prohibited the sending of specials to the press or any telegrams that do not pass through their office.

The accident to the excursion train, was caused by the washing out of a culvert, six inches of rain having fallen last night. The negro fireman and two brakemen were killed. John Galvin, engineer, Thos. Alderman express agent, A. Sinclair, mail agent, and George Huntley, were dangerously wounded. James Candler, J. M. Evans, Samuel Barnes, John Threadgill and a John Birmingham, were painfully but not dangerously hurt. Numbers of others were slightly bruised and otherwise hurt. The excursion had to be abandoned.

RICHMOND, June 17. The following sent at the request of the representatives of the Baltimore and Philadelphia papers:

WEST POINT, Va., June 17. The new steamer Louise, of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Richmond Steamboat Co., arrived here this morning bringing a party of invited guests including a number of gentlemen connected with the commercial and business interests of Baltimore; also representatives of the Philadelphia and Baltimore press. The train from Richmond brought down a numerous party from that city, including many prominent men, journalists, etc. An excursion of the united party followed to the mouth of the York river, during which the guests were handsomely entertained and there was much of enjoyment, fraternizing, etc. The splendid steamer which the Company has placed on the line was greatly admired and the facilities it will add to this pleasant and expeditious means of communication between Baltimore and the North, and Richmond duly appreciated.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 17. Two unsuccessful ballots for United States Senator to-day.

ATLANTA, June 17. The proprietors of the Herald, state in their morning's issue, that they yesterday discharged their entire force of union printers, because they demanded pay for the advertising matter set up in another office.

NEW YORK, June 17. A good many stories have been started in regard to the solvency of some of the prominent officials of the railroad, directly connected with the embarrassments of Turner & Bros., and to these stories, is due, in a great measure, the unsettled feeling which prevails at the Stock Exchange.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17. The Republican State Convention met here to-day. After permanent organization and appointment of a Committee on Resolutions, the convention proceeded to nominate a ticket for the State officers, with the following result: For Secretary of State, W. W. Curry; Auditor, Jas. A. Wildman; Treasurer, Jno. B. Glover; Attorney General, Jas. C. Denry; Judge of Supreme Court, Andrew L. Osborne. The foregoing are the present incumbents of the several offices and were nominated by acclamation. Jno. M. Bloss was nominated for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

PANAMA, June 9. President Barrios, of Guatemala, has ordered Commandant Gonzales to be shot, on the score of criminal disobedience to military laws of the Republic.

HARTFORD, June 17. The bronze statue of Gen. Israel Putnam was unveiled in the Park, this afternoon with appropriate ceremonies and imposing military display.

GRANGERS' COLUMN.

Hints to Grangers.

We commend the following sensible article to the Granges in every portion of the State. It was cut from the Banner, of a recent date, and presents this question of trade in a new light. Let us get at the truth of these matters:

"Some of the Grange leaders of the country are in Nashville to procure for themselves and their brother 'Grangers' trading places in different commodities. The lucky merchant who will secure their full patronage has to submit unconditionally to a solemn promise to sell to any Granger, producing a card of good standing in the lodge, goods at ten per cent. profit above cost. I have been a merchant many years; I am old, and my hair is silver-lined; I sold out my business, root, stem and branches, never to return to it again. This promise is made to assure the Grangers that I am not interested in any mercantile line, so they might tend an unprejudiced and a willing agent to my plain advisory say. One merchant sells less than his next-door competitor, because the latter undersells the first, and reaches sooner the top of the ladder of wealth than the other. It is not because a swift penny is preferable to a slow shilling, but because one has his pocket lined with greenbacks when he goes East to buy goods, and the other carries a purse not over weighty. The one buys his goods where he pleases. The other is chained to only such commercial houses where he is known, and credit is given to him. He is obliged to pay such stipulated prices or return home without goods. The cash buyer receives a per centage; the time buyer misses such an advantage. Now, suppose, Granger, you happen to select the time buyer to deal with, on condition that you receive your goods at ten per cent. above cost, are you a gainer? I think not, the cash buyer sells his goods five per cent. still lower to everybody, because the goods cost him ten per cent. less than the merchant you selected to deal with. Generally there are in a city like ours, always two or three merchants who are hard pressed for money. How do you know but they might have already made up their minds to become insolvent? To turn their stock quickly to money, they put down prices, sell goods at cost, or ten to twenty per cent. less than cost. If this happens occasionally, why, friend Granger, would it be prudent and profitable for your interest to show your back to those accommodating merchants and patronize your hobby store? Again, an honest merchant concludes, for one reason or other, to close up his business. He offers his goods at cost, and less than cost. Would you, friend Granger, be bound, hand and foot, to walk in your preferred store and pay ten to twenty per cent. extra? Here is a chance to save something. Why, friend Granger, do you want to pay a stipulated profit above cost? Let no dust blind your eyes. If you like to make satisfactory purchases, take time, go from store to store, examine the goods, inquire prices, make a memorandum, keep the clerk moving, and buy where the goods are offered you cheapest. That's business.—Republican Banner.

The Advantages of Canals in the South.

The levelness of a large portion of our State, would reduce the cost of building a canal to a minimum. In the Northern States, the canals are closed on the approach of winter, and must remain so for about half the year, and this at the very time the farmer wants to send his produce to market. Here a canal would be open all the year round. By means of a cheaper transportation, we would have an innumerable quantity of articles with which to start manufactures and exportation, which lie now dormant. Among the many are: Coal, lime, building stone, brick, various kinds of lumber, walrus, various kinds of poplar, and the pine, and its various products in the shape of naval stores, besides our agricultural products, among which is hay, which is of much value as cotton, but expensive transportation prohibits its growth, except for a home market. In fact, we could bring fertilizers and phosphate rock, which latter costs in Charleston $8 per ton, while we pay for the same ground and dissolved $3, at our nearest Railroad Depot, and $2 of this we pay in the shape of freight. I have not the data at hand on which to base an approximate estimate of the cost of a canal, but I shouldn't wonder if it could be built for about 1,000 per mile, not for less.—Rural Carolinian for June.

Don't Allow the Vegetable Garden to "Go to Grass."

We have repeatedly shown the generally received opinion that it is useless to try to have a garden in summer, in this climate, to be an absurd mistake. We shall continue to reiterate that all through the hottest and driest part of the season, (extraordinary droughts excepted), we can easily have an abundance of excellent and seasonable vegetables. Snap Beans, Lima or Green Beans, Okra, Cauliflower, Cabbage, Squash, Cucumbers, Carrots, and so on, need seldom or never fail. But the soil must be deep and thoroughly broken up. Two feet in depth is not too much, and nothing less than a foot and a half should be considered admissible in a garden. No crude, unfertilized manures should be used at this season. Good composts, made up largely of thoroughly decomposed vegetable matter, may be applied as needed, adding top dressings of wood-ashes, plaster and salt, the latter being useful as absorbents of moisture as well as in their strictly manurial capacity.—Rural Carolinian for June.

The Hoeback System of Fruit Culture.

A year or two ago a new system of fruit culture, discovered by a peasant on the Danube, was introduced to the public by J. W. Hale. The system consists essentially in training the branches of fruit trees, vines, &c., so as to give them an insolation on the horizontal line, in which case the branches, which in the old system were trained up, and thus exposed to the sun, are now trained out, and thus receive the full benefit of the sun's rays. This system is now being introduced to the public by J. W. Hale, who has written a book on the subject, and is now in the market. The book is entitled "The Hoeback System of Fruit Culture," and is published by J. W. Hale, New York. The book is well illustrated, and contains a full description of the system, and is well worth a perusal. It is now in the market for $1.00 per copy.

of the process consists in having the line of the branch nearly straight; as, if curved, only the buds at the top of the arch are developed, while the rest remain in their original condition. In an instance related by Duchesne, he took four vine plants and trained them so as to have one stem to each, arranging them vertically and obliquely upward, horizontally and obliquely downward. He then cut off the limbs alike, and found that from the limb inclined downward more than three times as much fruit was produced as from the others.—Rural Carolinian for June.
