Tom Offutt will sell the grey horse at auction at the Artesian basin on Monday morning.

If you would do a good deed for Montgomery help the fountain project.

If the winds subsided and the skies were clear there is frost in abundance this morning.

By all means let us have the fountain. It will be worth five times its cost to the city.

The street cars have arrived. At a very early date, they will be put on the streets.

A dispatch from Mayor Faber, states that he will arrive at home this morning. He has been absent in New York on business for several weeks.

Mr. M. Stanton, Superintendent of the S. & N. Ala., R. R., one of the best and most popular railroad men in the United States, was in the city yesterday.

Dave Fleming, at John Yung's old stand, keeps an A. 1 restaurant. This is what everybody says, and what everybody says must be true. But if you doubt, try it.

Captain Quill telegraphs Mr. Strassburger that the steamer Mary departs at 3 p. m. to-day from Selma for Mobile. Passengers taking this morning's Selma train will make connection with the Mary for Mobile.

C. O. Whitney, late Assistant Superintendent of the A. & C. Road, has resigned. Whitney was for several years Senator, under reconstruction rule, from Jackson county, although his home was for the greater part of the time in Chattanooga.

Messrs. Watt & Lanier keep the old Exchange "booming." And with Beall and Brown, at the desk and in the dining-hall, and such a table as they always keep there is no chance for them to do otherwise. Montgomery has just cause to be proud of this fine old institution.

Those who may have business along the line of the A. and C. Road, must be in mind that on and after Monday next trains will run tri-weekly, instead of daily. To run West passengers leave Birmingham at 3 a. m., on Tuesdays. To go East they leave Birmingham same days at 4:10 a. m.

Rev. J. B. Cottrell, a well known and able Methodist minister, now stationed at Selma, has been transferred to Owensboro, Ky., by Bishop Marvin. He leaves on Tuesday next, with his family for his new home. His friends will sincerely regret his departure from Alabama, and follow him with their very best wishes.

A proposition is on foot to erect a handsome fountain in the centre of what is now the Artesian Basin. The subscription is very gratifying so far, and surely enough can be raised to make the project a success. It will be quite an ornament to the city, and do much towards giving it air and taste which so soon strikes the attention of visitors.

The Augusta cotton pool closed last Wednesday, with one hundred and seventy-two deliberate guesses and eight hundred and fifty dollars in the pool. Of the estimates Charleston contributed twenty-five, Savannah thirty, Macon eight, Rock Hill, South Carolina, seven, and Montgomery eight or ten. The lowest was $4,100,977, while the average of the one hundred and seventy-two estimates is $4,175,388. There are only eight estimates below 4,000, twenty-four above that and 4,100,000 and only four between 4,400,000 and 4,500,000. The figures of receipts in the New York Financial Chronicle of September 4th, are to decide who is the best guesser. His reward will be the money in the pool.

About one o'clock yesterday morning the clouds hung low and heavily, and the cold, northwesterly winds gave promise of snow. Our dispatches tell us that there was snow in Kentucky and Tennessee on Thursday—our cold snap comes to us from these States. The Livingston Journal has been laughing at us for saying that if the warm weather in February continued our fruit crop would probably be lost. The warm weather did continue—the fruit trees weathered consequently anticipate their usual period of "putting forth the tender buds," and to-day we are threatened with the destruction of the crop. And what is much worse, the field crops are also imperiled. Thousands of dollars depend on the winds and clouds for the next six hours. We hope that the former will "continue," and the latter may spread their friendly mantle over this unfortunate section.

The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel says: "We saw last Friday an old negro man who for several months past has been under the treatment of a colored voodoo doctor named Richard Doddy, who lives in Hamburg, S. C., and professes to cure all diseases, and especially those brought about by conjuring, fetishism and similar practices he sells his medicines at one dollar per bottle, regardless of size. His favorite remedy is steaming the patient with a ram's horn, while among his medicines are pork root and pine tops. He does a large business among credulous negroes in Augusta, we understand, and enforces collection of his fees by threatening to cause a return of the disease if they are not paid. The negro referred to had, as a matter of course, received no benefit from his treatment, and at last procured some medicines from the college dispensary, which brought about the desired result. He still owed the so-called 'doctor' a small amount, and was endeavoring to keep out of his way."

Victims of Obscure Diseases, seeking safety and restored health, should use Dr. Helmbold's Extract Buchu. This article is official and standard. It is, moreover, the only preparation that develops the full value of Buchu as a diuretic. It is a perfect specific for all diseases of the urinary organs in male or female. Beware of counterfeiters and imitations, which unscrupulous men are endeavoring to palm off upon Dr. Helmbold's reputation. Look for the Doctor's signature on the wrapper. For sale by all druggists.

There was no mail from Mobile yesterday, as the breaks on the Railroad had not been fully repaired and trains could not pass.

The new cars for the street Railroad are very handsome. They are small, and light, but amply large for the business that will be done, for a while at least.

Up to the recent rains crops of every description in this county were more advanced than they had been in years. The damage by the rain is considerable, but if there is no frost, to cut down the fruit, corn and cotton, everything will soon grow off as vigorously as ever.

The river is convalescent once more. It was able to be out of its bed yesterday for the first time in some weeks. The treatment, under which this favorable change took place, was hydro-pneumatically applied to the head.

A distinguished French physician suggests that the annoyance of hiring wet nurses may be happily obviated by making infants take their nourishment direct from a cow without the intervention of a bottle. The trifling inconvenience of keeping a cow in the nursery, is, of course, scarcely worthy of mention.

By an amendment to the general tax bill in the Virginia House of Delegates, made Thursday, small merchants are to pay a tax of $100 per year for doing business anywhere in the State, and they cannot be molested by officials anywhere in the State after paying said sum.

We learn that the Ladies' Memorial Association had a full meeting yesterday. A programme for decoration day was arranged, and J. W. Moses, and T. G. Jones, Esqrs., were selected to deliver the orations—one at the Theatre, and the other at the Cemetery. We also learn that both gentlemen have accepted the invitations.

The Texas papers state a fact which may not be generally known to owners of land held or owned by any person, that is not surveyed and patented by the first of January, 1875, reverts back to the State of Texas. There is no relief to be had by the Legislature or courts, as it is a constitutional provision. Our citizens who are interested in Texas lands would do well to make a note of this.

We yesterday had the pleasure of meeting Mr. George H. Patrick, of Montgomery, Ala. This gentleman has been summoned as a witness for the government in the United States, and is now on his way to Washington to testify before the Congressional committee. We are not permitted to disclose the conversation we had with him, but can state that his evidence will make matters exceedingly lively with Judge Busted. One of the charges against him is that he corrupted used government money in settlement of a case. This fact, among others, will be fully proved by Mr. Patrick. We shall expect to hear of a sensation when he reaches Washington.

The above is from the Atlanta Constitution of Thursday last. It may hear of one or more sensations when Patrick arrives in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 10.

The Postmaster General has informed the House Appropriations Committee that he thinks it would be advisable to make provision, in the deficiency bill, to furnish his Department with $8,000 to be used as rewards in securing the apprehension of certain mail robbers in Texas and elsewhere.

Tyner, Loughridge and Hancock are the sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee, on ante bellum mail contracts.

George H. Chever, administrator of W. H. Chever, by Messrs. Bartley, Ray & Jenner and Judge Casey, filed a bill for an injunction against Gassaway B. Lamar, Denver and Peck and the Secretary and First Controller of the Treasury, and a temporary order was made.

The subject of the suit is to prevent the payment by the Treasury Officers to Lamar, of $599,945, judgment on a cotton claim, given by the Court of Claims, in which Cheever claims an interest.

Post Office Committee gave a hearing to Congressman Whitely, in favor of W. P. Pierce, against Bell, for America, Ga., postoffice. Questions of a general swindle are involved.

Very, as Minister to China, was affirmed.

No Southern confirmations.

Senate.—Committee of Commerce reported adversely to the bill, that bridges over the Ohio, should have 400 feet spans, and 100 feet pivot draw.

Discussion over the fraking privilege, indicates a disposition to restore the privilege.

Conkling, of New York, says his postage costs him more than his board.

A bill exempting canal boats from customs and other fees passed.

In the House, Butler, of Massachusetts, withdrew his motion to reconsider the vote on the postponement of consideration of the currency bill, and said he did so in order to explain to the House his purpose, which was to pass the Senate bill and then go on and perfect the House bill.

Clark, of Tennessee, asked if the gentleman would support the free banking feature of the House bill, as he had declared himself in favor of greenbacks.

Butler said he would favor a kind of free banking, but did not approve of the form presented in this bill. In the course of his remarks he said he did not think the Executive would veto a bill to give relief to the people, while the Senate and House were perfecting other measures for that purpose. He sought the passage of the Senate bill not as the best measure or one that he by any manner of means approved, but as the best thing he could get now, and to settle the public mind and give relief to the business of the country.

Kellogg, of Connecticut, asked if the gentleman associated that the President would not veto the bill.

The Speaker's hammer fell heavily, and he said that such an allusion was entirely out of order.

Kellogg said he had thought so and for that reason asked the question.

The speaker said the chair had not noticed such words spoken or he should have stopped the gentleman.

Butler said he had only spoken of what was said by the newspapers and he begged pardon of the House for doing so. He had expressed the opinion that the President would not be influenced by the motives assigned.

Davies asked if it was not equally out of order to allude to a matter negatively as to allude to it affirmatively.

The speaker said it was.

Butler said then it is unparliamentary to say you don't think a man will do a foolish thing.

Cox, of New York, said the gentleman had asserted that the President would not veto the Senate bill. The House had a right to demand his authority.

Mr. Butler—I did not say so.

Sounds of the rapidly and heavily falling gavel, of speaker drowned the voice of the two gentlemen, although both continued shouting at the top of their voices.

The House spent the whole day in voting on the currency bill. The motion making the postponement vote of yesterday, a final vote was defeated by the casting vote of the Speaker, and thus the bill came up again for action.

The most important votes were those by which the 7th and 8th sections of the bill were struck out. The 7th provided for banks without circulation, and the 8th, for the monthly issue of $2,000,000 of gold notes, as a substitute for an equal amount of legal tenders that were to be cancelled. The latter was struck out by a vote of 140 to 64.

Kelly's convertible 3:05 bond proposition was defeated, the vote on its adoption being 118 to 122. The House adjourned without coming to a final vote on the bill, which comes up again to-morrow.

Probabilities.—On Saturday for the South Atlantic and Gulf States, clear weather and northeast to northeast winds.

NEW ORLEANS, April 10.

The officers of the steamer A. J. White, which has arrived here, bring additional information concerning the crevasse at Hushpuckany. It is the opinion of planters there that the levee was cut on Wednesday night, either by raftmen or by persons living on the west side of the river to relieve them from the threatened overflow. The crevasse is one hundred yards in width, and the water is pouring through it. An attempt was made yesterday to repair the levee, but it was impossible to check the volume of water. This levee is one of the largest on the river, having a base height of hundred feet and an average height of twenty-five feet. Some twelve plantations are already threatened, and it is feared that immense damage will be done Sunflower, Tallatchie and Yazoo bottoms.

Crevassees are reported at eleven plantations below the city, in addition to those reported yesterday. Four of the eleven are said to be serious, the break being 120 feet wide and very deep. The water has risen one inch during the past twenty-four hours, and it is reported running over the levees at many points below the city.

The monument to the Confederate dead, erected in Greenwood Cemetery, under the auspices of the Ladies' Memorial Association, was unveiled this evening, with appropriate ceremonies, in the presence of a large assembly.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.

Jacob Lowenstein was executed to-day. He asserted his innocence to the last, and met his fate firmly.

A MODEL FARM AND FARMER.

Imitating His Example Will Produce Wealth and Prosperity.

From a gentleman who visited Mr. W. L. Ingram, at his farm near Uchee, Russell county, Ala., a few days since, we learn what Mr. Ingram "knows about farming."

His working force is three stalwart sons and himself. His lands are what are known as the "Uchee hills," and have been in cultivation many years—some as long as forty years. The crop for the present year will be small grain and cotton thirty acres, besides a liberal acreage in peas, potatoes, &c. He has good orchards of the fruit trees, all in a thrifty condition and well cared for. The growing crop of wheat, one variety—the "blue stem"—is now well along on an average, and all heeded out. This wheat is very early and weighs sixty-five pounds to the bushel. Another variety, the "Tappanham," (the seed obtained from the Agricultural Bureau at Washington,) is a most excellent variety, but much later than the former, and being not yet in the "boot," and measuring two feet in height.

The past year he has made from his horse and cow lots as much or more splendid mure than he can haul out and apply to his crops.

The rye is now headed out, and in many places five feet high. This he has been cutting, curing and feeding to his horses for two weeks. He says they eat it with greater relish than any feed given them. The oat crop is fine, a great portion being over knee high. All these crops are on old land, without any fertilizer.

His barn is a large and substantial one, with excellent stables attached to well protect all his horses. He has now eight colts under two years old, all sired by his own horse. The shelter for his cattle, with troughs for drinking, are large, substantial and comfortable. Horses, cattle and hogs in good condition.

He has sold since the war horses of his own breeding and raising to the amount of $1,850, besides supplying all the demands of his farm for stock. There has been no year since the war that he has not sold to his neighbors as much as three thousand pounds of pork, and some years much more, or in which he has not had corn, peas, potatoes, rye, wheat, or oats one, and sometimes all to spare to his neighbors, and at moderate prices.

A nice suit of jeans, the work of his wife spinning, weaving, cutting, and making, was shown the visitor. We forgot to mention that he has had pulled down and rebuilt during the past winter more than two miles of old fencing, besides repairing a good deal.

The above is vouched for as the results of the energy, labor and toil of honest, hard-earned "Bill Ingram" and his worthy family. All honors to them.—Col. Enquirer.

Grange Fees.

From the Grange Times.
GADSDEN, Ala., April 10, 1874.
Mr. Editor:—Permit me to point out some errors I see in your paper of March 28th, over the signature of "A Granger." He says truthfully the largest number that can join the order as charter members is 20 males and 10 females at 50 cents each $6.00

25,00

65,00

The fee as attained by the Worthy Master and Executive Committee is.....20.00

Off for the National and State Granges, leaves.....45.00

Then one-half of that goes to the Deputy for his services and $20.00 goes into the Treasury of the Subordinate Grange. That is the maximum number. The least is 9 males and 4 females, which makes $20—$20 off for the National and State Granges and you have $9 left, which is Deputy fee.

Ten females and eleven males may organize a Grange, fee $38, $20 off leaves

$18 of which $9 goes to Deputy and $9 to the Grange. If there is less than 20 members the Deputy takes the fee and pays out of it the State and National Granges, and the balance is his fee.

If 21 or more members, take out the $20 and divide the balance. Again,

A Granger says you have to spend for seal, regalia, &c., $48 more. That is an error. Your seal of the best quality can be purchased for $5, and the regalia can and is made at home for about $10 for fifty members. How the writer got the $38 25 for organizing I cannot tell, as I know of no such law in any State.

I ask this correction in justice to the Master and Executive Committee and for the good of the Order. And for the above fees the Deputy has to visit the Granges from time to time for their instruction, &c.

W. B. JONES.

Elowah Granges.

From the Grange Times.

On the 31st ult., Col. W. B. Jones,

District Deputy, organized a Grange of Patrons of Husbandry at Rees', in them anywhere. When matured, it is not more than a half to five-eighths of an inch long, and was slender, of a dark brown or blackish color. They have a very fine web, almost imperceptible to the eye, and use it upon which to travel. The timber, and, indeed, the atmosphere is filled with the web. Can any one tell us what they are; and what they will come to?
