OR,

THE TERROR OF THE WEST.

By THOMAS P. GRIFFIN.

CHAPTER V.

Leaving Robert Weston to his own reflections, we will return and follow up the adventures of Maggie Gray.

When she came to her senses, the rain had ceased, but the night was dark, and she felt herself borne onward on the shoulders of one she dreaded. On, on they went, never pausing for a moment. Whither were they going? she asked of herself time and again, but she could produce no satisfactory answer. Time only could answer it.

At last there was a halt. For the first time during their journey the redskins now began to converse with each other. The whole conversation however was in their own language, and Maggie was therefore left in doubt as to what the subject of the conversation was. She felt, however, that they were discussing the best route for them to take, and the fate that awaited their prisoner.

Her thoughts were soon confirmed as to the fate that awaited her, when she saw half a dozen warriors springing about her. She could not imagine what they were doing. It was not long ere a bright fire began to blaze upward in their midst. Having all seated themselves comfortably around the fire, the next move was to procure something to chase away the hunger and thirst that had taken hold of the party. Instantly two of the savages started off. In a few minutes their footsteps had died out, and a moment later they had disappeared. The Chief, who had gone with them (having left Maggie entrusted to the care of a young brave) leading the way.

When they had got out of ear-shot distance, Wild Panther, to whose care

Maggie had been left, approached her, and with a sign that he meant no harm, whispered a few words of plain infallible English in her ear. The inteligence he had communicated to her was too much for her exhausted spirit, and she fainted dead away.

The words he spoke were these:—

"I am not Wild Panther; I am old Davies, (a familiar and friendly name to her). I killed Wild Panther tonight, and seeing as you were in the hands of the ugly varmint, I thought it would be best for me to spend the last few hours of my life in trying to rescue you from their clutches. Hence,

I stripped Wild Panther of his accountrements, and with the aid of lamp black have succeeded in representing him. I'll either rescue you or perish in the attempt. Be on the alert."

CHAPTER VI.

That which caused Robert Weston to dash up the mountain side, was a sight that had met his gaze so unexpectedly that he almost forgot for a moment the errand that he had started to perform.

"Thank God!" he muttered as his steed bounded recklessly up the mountain steep; "thank God I am on the right trail. Onward and onward he flew, now leaping yawning chasms—now bounding over some projecting rock regardless of all danger. He had now reached the top of the mountain, but he did not pause. Onward, with the one all-absorbing intention, nor did he allow Swift Arrow's speed to lessen, though he was descending a deep and perilous declivity. But the one single thought absorbed his mind, and that was as to the fate of Maggie Gray.

A level plain or prairie stretched itself out before his view as he swiftly descended the mountain side. Upon reaching this it was a matter of little difficulty to follow the trail of the savages, the rain apparently having ceased when they reached this point.

For miles he urged Swift Arrow onward, being cautious however not to lose sight of the trail.

It might have been about noon when he came to a sudden and abrupt halt. Approaching the object that seemed a mile to him, when a sound reached his ears, in such close proximity, that on turning his head, his hand flew to his pistol belt with lightning like rapidity.

CHAPTER VII.

Had a thunderbolt fall at that critical moment, Maggie Gray could not have been more startled and surprised. We will not enter into details of her fainting away and recovery, but will follow up a point of more interest to the reader and our story.

She had barely recovered her scattered senses, when Black Wolf and his companions returned, with a large supply of venison. After partaking of a goodly share of it, for she was from her long journey and exhausted spirit, very hungry, Maggie retired amid a pile of blankets spread on the cold damp ground. She lay down but not to sleep. Her thoughts were wandering. She now thought of Robert, and what had been his fate, and if dead, she wished she might die also. Then again her thoughts would turn to her own deplorable situation, and she fell into a deep fit of thought, her face and eyes flooded with the hot tear-drops that burnt her cheeks.

Amid these she fell into the arms of "Tired Nature's Sweet Restorer," and soon was fast asleep.

The bright sun was peeping in among the trees, when she awoke from her slumbers. Everything was astir when she awoke, and, as she looked, she saw that they were preparing to start. In a few moments she had dispatched her scanty meal and she was ordered to move onward. And onward they moved all that long, hot summer day, never pausing except at noon, and then only for a few minutes. It was not until the deep shadows of night fell upon them that they halted. They were yet in the forest, they had entered the night before.

For the better idea to the reader we will say that this forest extended for miles and miles far into the Western Frontier, and the shortest route would necessarily occupy several days steady travel to reach its end. And none but those gifted with the daily routine of backwoodsman's life, could overcome and find their way through it.

Selecting a suitable spot, they prepared to disperse to ontrap some venison for the evening meal. As before, Black Wolf left the prisoner in Wild Panther's charge, and with a few of his warriors started cautiously forward. The idea of Black Wolf leaving Maggie entrusted to Wild Panther's safe keeping, confirmed his thought that the original Wild Panther was a great favorite and worthy brave. Little did Black Wolf dream, however, that he, Wild Panther, was lying stiff and stark in the arms of death, at the little white settlement at Oakville and that one of his most deadly foes was in his midst, representing his fallen warrior.

The Currency.

The New York Herald agrees with the ADVERTISER that the time has well nigh arrived when the gold-drain from this country to Europe must stop. On this subject it says:

The reason why this defect and evil

(i. e. the failure of the present currency system to stimulate native production. En. Adv.) has not been brought home to the nation's consciousness is that since the close of the war we have been settling our international balances by the sale of our bonds in foreign markets. It is too evident that this process must stop. * * * * We have gone nearly to the length of our teeth in running in debt to foreign countries by the sale of bonds.

The pending currency bill does not meet or remedy this "evil." On the contrary, by still further complicating the system, it tends to mystify the people and give them less confidence in greenbacks as a medium of exchange.

Incident of the Flood.

It was, indeed, a melancholy picture

A correspondent of the Cincinnati

Gazette has some interesting sketches of Jerusalem and its environs. The "Waiting place at the walls of the Temple," still has its devotees, and is seldom without Jews in humiliation before it even now.

We looked from the walls of the temple over into the valley of Jehosaphat and saw Absalom's pillar, and other objects of interest. The Garden of Gethsemane was pointed out, and over against us was the Mount of Olives, with its triple summit and the crown of the Church of the Ascension, and the buildings erected by the Princess de la tour d'Auvergne. The olive trees had lost their leaves, and were black and bare, and the sides of the hill had an uninviting appearance. Down to the brook Kedron our gaze extended, or, rather to its bed, as the valley was dry and dusty, as if no brook had ever flowed there. Other places of historical or traditional note were pointed out, but we were too far away to discern them clearly.

We left the temple & proceeded to the Waiting place of the Jews, here are the foundations, or a small portion of the lower walls of the great temple, where, every Friday, the Jews come.

Half a dozen Jews were there at the time of our visit; with their faces to the stone they read from their prayer books in a low, wailing tone, that was exceedingly impressive. At the Waiting place there are visible five courses of beveled stones in a fine

D. G. WHITE, JOURNAL WHITE.
WHITE & WHITE,
EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.
MOULTON, ALA.:
FRIDAY MAY - - - 29, 1874.

FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA,
HON. G. S. HOUSTON,
OF LIMESTONE:
Subject to the Decision of State Democratic Convention.

FOR CONGRESSMAN FROM 6TH DISTRICT,
Hon. H. C. Speake,
OF LAWRENCE:
Subject to the Decision of the Congressional Democratic Convention.

COUNTY CONVENTION.
Notice is hereby given that the Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Lawrence County, have appointed SATURDAY (the Fourth) day of July next, for a Convention to be held at Moulton, for the purpose of selecting six delegates from the county, to the State Convention, to be held at the city of Montgomery, on Wednesday the 29th day of July, 1874, and for the transaction of all such other business as may be deemed by the Convention material for the interests of the party.

In the County Convention the ratio of representation will be one delegate for every twenty-five democratic and conservative votes cast at the last general election in each beat or election district; but each beat or election district will be entitled to one delegate in the convention, whether as many as twenty-five votes were cast or not.

The Committee request the members of the sub-committees, for the respective precincts, heretofore appointed by them, to call primary meetings, in their beats, for the selection of delegates, at such times as they may think most expedient.

We deem it of the utmost importance that the organization about to be initiated in the State and also in this particular county, shall be full and complete, so as to secure perfect equality, fairness and impartiality of action; and we most earnestly urge upon the committees for the respective beats, that they shall use their influence and all proper efforts to ensure at the primary meetings the attendance of every Democratic and Conservative voter.

E. H. FOSTER, Democratic Executive.
W. C. SHERROD, Executive Committee.
May 12, 1874.

Beat Meeting.

All the democratic and conservative voters of Moulton Beat are requested to meet in convention, at Moulton, on Saturday the 27th day of June, to select delegates to the county convention which assembles in Moulton on the 4th of July. The object of the county convention is to send delegates to the state convention which assembles in Montgomery on the 29th of July, 1874. Every 25 democratic voters will be entitled to one delegate. The people are urged to action in this matter. The nation hangs upon the brink of destruction, and to save it we must shake off the mantle of in-action and electrify the world with a glorious victory in November next.

JOURN WHITE, beat chair'n.

Experience with Peach Trees.

Peach trees require considerable attention, and are very commonly neglected. The result is a small and nearly worthless fruit, and trees greatly injured by the laborer. Banking earth around the trunk of the trees tends to keep the insect away that deposits its eggs under the bark near the roots; and ashes, wood or coal, lime and cinders from a blacksmith's forge, are still better.

Where one sees gum issuing near the ground, above or below the surface, from the body of a tree, he may be sure that one or more grubs are at work. Scrape away the gum with a knife, and with a wire larger than a knitting needle, bent for the purpose, one may find the opening that discharges gum, and wood excreta from the worm, and kill him by pushing the wire through his body.

Peach trees should be trained with low heads, that no excess of limbs, wood or fruit be allowed to grow. It is a common mistake to permit a fruit tree or a grape vine to overbear to the injury of the plant, and the detriment of the fruit. Cut out a part soon after it sets, and cultivate the orchard of vines diligently at the right time. The same rule applies to the management of strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries and blackberries. Judicious pruning and thinning mean the checking of wood growth, and the effort of nature to develop more seeds and their valuable surroundings, than there is nutriment to form richness and size in each fruit, which is known to be attainable as well as desirable.

The finest specimens of pear, peaches, apples and grapes are never obtained without cutting down the number raised in a single crop. It is like giving a large calf the milk of two cows instead of half the milk of one. Uncommon growth is the result.

By request we give place to the following communication from a gentleman of Oakville, but beg leave to demur to some of the positions assumed. We are compelled to have Courts, and to secure the most competent prosiding officers, we must pay liberal salaries. But the grand object of the article—to put men to thinking and acting—is timely and in order, and we hope our readers will give it due consideration.

To the Producers of Lawrence County.

Yellow Citizens: I submit for your consideration the following: That the mind is a ray of light from the source of all light, the cultivation and proper exercise of which makes earth pleasant and life successful.

That independence of thought is essential to manhood and freedom of action, the legitimate sphere for those capable of comprehending enough of the doctrine of civil science to discern that mutual protection is the mainspring of order.

That no man is free who understands not the power by which he is governed.

That simple legislation is cardinal virtue—economical administration a prime necessity.

That protection of property is a duty of the State, while onerous taxation and the lavish expenditure of public money, is robbery.

That our State has long been controlled by professional sharks, who are supported by vice and ignorance; who are opposed to the mental and pecuniary advancement of all other classes; who have by a system of cunningly devised laws rendered our liberty nominal only, and by legislative corruption exhausted the revenue of the State and are selling its prospects for years to come.

For example, take the judicial department.

Supreme Court—$12,000 per annum—dictionary, with ex-officio legislative power—its jurisdiction is to interpret the key to the marked deck for the lower tribunals, and supply its deficiency.

Circuit Judges—12 aggregate salaries, $50,000, composed with the same prior to the war, an increase of 200 per cent or $24,000—term of service, per annum, 30 days.

Chancellors—5 aggregate salaries, $18,000. This is an abstract underground system, which deprives men of property without a jury, created alone to benefit lawyers in violation of organic law.

Now, fellow-citizens, with laws made by officers created and held by salaries and fees, established, and political machinery composed of or controlled by those who live on our labor, what is our destiny? where do we hope for our offspring? and governed by laws we understand not, what is our condition? Vassals to a professional aristocracy, having its right to preference upon our ignorance. Unity of purpose is the fulcrum, concert of action the lever that will raise us to power and dignity. Therefore let us organize, proclaim our principles, select our officers from our own class, and march onward to freedom and manhood, and limber the backbones and melt the starch from every shark who opposes us, and send freebooters, with private schemes, the way Ward's ducks went.

Without machinery we can do nothing—without just principles we deserve condemnation.

Hoping to hear that good seed is being sown by prudent heads all over the county—that the people may rise in their power and save from the impending wreck the Land we Love, I subscribe myself,

Very respectfully,
OAKVILLE.

The New York Tribune, in the course of an editorial commenting on the action of the Faculty of the Michigan University in expelling those students recently found guilty of "hazing," says: "It is sentimental nonsense gathered from English novels, to say that it makes a boy manly to be kicked and cuffed by his elders. If a man kept only the company of gentlemen and ladies from his cradle to his grave he would be all the better for it. This is unfortunately impossible, but it is the duty of teachers to see that while a youth remains at school he shall see as little of the vulgar brutalities of life as is consistent with the conditions of human existence. It is not alone in the interests of the victims of hazing that it should be put down with the strongest hand. It is the best thing that can be done for the rough hobbled boys themselves, who consider it such a pleasure and privilege to guile the youngsters, to show them if they act like ruffians and blackguards they will be punished for it. A single decided not like that of the Michigan faculty will do more to convince the youth of that region of the immorality of hazing than any amount of lecturing."

Indiana.

FULLER returns from Indiana indicating great Democratic gains. All the larger towns have elected Democratic Councils and Mayors. Indianapolis, &c., have passed out of Radical control. The temperance coalition has not sufficiently strengthened the Republicans to prevent uniform disaster. It is now believed that at the next election in Indiana, the Democrats will elect 3-fourths of the Congressmen, a large majority in the legislature and secure a Democratic Senator, in place of Mr. Pratt, who is now Morton's Radical colleague.

Duties of Southern Men to Themselves, as Viewed by an Honest Northern Man.

Men of the South, will ye not arise, buckle on the armor of your independence, and from this moment resolve by your undivided and united action in the pending political contest, to throw off the yoke that binds you. Much of the oppression you have been so long subject to, is alone due to the spirit of apathy and indifference manifested on your part. Are ye men to stand idly by, in meek and humble submission to the gross indignities daily practiced upon you? Are ye men that ye will quietly pursue your daily avocations without thought of what is constantly taking place around you? Are ye men, and give no heed to the morrow, no thought for the future? Do ye know that ye live in a land especially blessed by the hands of God; that your lot is cast in a section of country the grandest the sun of heaven shines upon, and will ye make no effort to destroy this viper that is so quietly, yet persistently, destroying your very vitality? I speak not alone to the men of Alabama; not alone to the men of Louisiana and Mississippi, but to the men of the South. The entire South, white men, men that can think; and who that reads cannot think, and just here lies your danger, for ye must every moment bear in mind that ye are battling a foe that cannot think, much less read; a foe no more capable of resisting the flattering and specious promises offered them by those few tricksters in your midst, than they would be to realize the advantages of their fulfillment. Hence I urge you to arise in your might, awake to the dangers that encompass your pathway. Let every man become a host in himself.

Let every man realize that danger threatens him. Let every man apprise his neighbor of this danger. Then sit down and think, yes think, and take counsel together as to the best means of averting this danger. Then act. Act in the "living present," not in the "dead past," attend your canvases; attend your conventions and see to it yourselves; ye, every man of you, young and old, alike, that such men are chosen for office, as you can trust, such men as have at heart the interests of your own section, and the earnest heartfelt welfare of the people they are called upon to represent. In the meantime this new class of citizens, who have sprung up in your midst, when brought to realize that their only chance to attain positions of power and influence, lies in the road to knowledge; to an understanding of the wants and demands of the country in which they live, will soon enough see, the advantages of the new field opened up to them. Then let them spring in the breach, put on the harness and join you in the good work. I would that my pen could trace my thoughts and bring home to your minds,—as it has come home to mine—the conviction that you are alone responsible for the governments, you have to-day. Again I say, arise in your might—like Sampson of old—and let there be such an outpouring in November next, as that the result shall be but a mere foretaste of what the hereafter shall produce.

A friend of the South though a NORTHERN MAN.

'TO THE UTMOST!'

Precious words! when used to measure the ability of Christ to save. There is no sin so crimson that it can not be washed away. "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be white as snow; though they be red like crimson they shall be as wool." Wherefore he is able, also, to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him. No matter how many come to Christ, he is able to save, and he will save them all. He refuses no humble, believing suppliant. Hears the cries of every one who prays in faith, believing, "To the uttermost," will he save all that put their trust in him.

Let the cry come from one sunk in the lowest depths of sin, stained with the darkest deeds of iniquity, it will reach as readily the ears of the Saviour, as if it came from the loss impure heart of the moralist.

"To the uttermost," he saveth! From the lowest depths of sin; From the deepest degradation, "All that come to God by him."

Is not this good news to all people? Jesus is the world's Saviour. If you are not saved, it is not because provision for your salvation, free and effectual, has not been made. No matter where you live or how you have lived, here in the Gospel you can find just such a Saviour as you need. Accept him, and live. Reject him, and your hope of salvation will pass away forever. "There is no Saviour beside me," says Christ. God has provided no other. Human wisdom has formed no other. The rejectors of Jesus stand alone, unshielded from the storm of wrath divine. If you refuse him, scorning his deliverance, and slighting his offered mercy, you will go down to the grave unsaved.

"Save! O, save us! dear Redeemer! From such dire, such dreadful end! We would have no other Saviour, All our hopes on thee depend. All our violence, sin and folly, Thy all-searching eye doth view, 'To the uttermost,' O, save us, O, create our hearts anew!"

Indianapolis boasts of a versatile divinity student who preaches in English, prays in Armonian, sings in Turkish, and holds his tongue in eleven other languages.

The Religion We Want.

We want a religion that bears heavily, not only on the exceeding sinfulness of sin, but on the exceeding rationality of lying and stealing—a religion that banishes small measures from the counter, small baskets from the stall, pebbles from the cottage bags, clay from the paper, sand from sugar, chicory from coffee, alum from bread, and water from the milkcans. The religion that is to save the world will not put all the big stawberries at the top and all the little ones at the bottom. It will not make one-half pair of shoes of good leather and the other half of poor leather, so that the first shall redound to the maker's credit and the second to his cash. It will not put Jevvin's stamp on Jenkin's kid gloves, nor make Paris bonnets in the back room of a Boston milliner's shop, nor let a piece of velvet that professes to measure twelve yards come to an untimely end in the tenth, or a spool of sewing silk that vouches for twenty yards be nibbled in the bud at fourteen and a half; nor all-wool delaines, nor all linen handkerchiefs be amalgamated with clandestine cotton; nor coats made of old rags pressed together be sold to the unsuspecting public for legal broad-cloth.

The religion that is going to sanctify the world pays its debts. It does not consider that forty cents returned for one hundred cents given is according to the Gospel, though it may be according to law. It looks on a man who has failed in trade, and who continues to live in luxury, as a thief.—The [Boston] Christian.

Courier-Journal: "A citizen of Providence, R. I., discontinued his subscription to the Press because his son's name was left out of a base-ball report. And we don't blame him either. When a gifted young man, his heart all pregnant with celestial fire, wins imperishable renown upon the glorious field as the bat and ball, the world ought to know it; and when a public journal attempts to keep the world from knowing—just as if such a thing were possible—by suppressing his illustrious name, we at once recognize in that p. j. a capacity for untold villainies, at the very thought of which one's hair stands on end."

The Dead to the Living

Miss Lester, of Baltimore, a woman of exquisitely fine taste, has sent to Tennyson, in England, a wild daisy plucked from Poe's grave last Sunday. The package was tied tastefully with a satin ribbon, upon which was written: "The only blossom from the nameless and neglected grave of Edgar Allan Poe, 1874." It was the only flower that could be found anywhere near the desolate place. What a sweet poem is there in all this!

Our Dormant Energies.

Our bodies are not as vigorous nor our minds as clear as they might be. This remark is true of at least two-thirds of civilized society, and of these two-thirds probably one-half is laboring under podily infirmities of a character likely to shorten the lives of the sufferers. This is a melancholy exhibit and furnishes abundant food for reflection. Can the evil be mitigated? It can. Lack of vitality is the primary cause of most of the physical and mental suffering to which we are subjected, and therefore a vitalizing medicinal agent is the remedy required. Is there such a medicine? There is. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will rouse and energize the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state. The languid, feeble, desponding invalid is not aware of the latent energies that underlies his debility. He thinks there is no element of vigor left in his frame, when the fact is that his physical capabilities are merely asleep and only require waking up. Let him stimulate and tone his animal machine by and endow it with new motive power, through the agency of his incommensurable vigorant, and he will soon feel like a new man, or rather like a man who has received a new lease of life, and the requisite health to enjoy it. Many business men suffer from chronic languor and depression caused by too close application to business. Hard students are often oppressed with melancholy from a like cause. Mechanics and working men are affected in the same way as a result of overlabor. To all who are in this condition, from whatever cause, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will prove a signal blessing. It is a perfect panacea for physical debility and mental gloom. It strengthens the body, clears the mind and calms the nervous system; while as a remedy for indigestion, biliousness, constipation fever, it takes precedence of all other medicines.

VEGETABLE FREE FROM

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

Grateful Thousands proclaim VIN-EGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Ingredient that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VIN-EGAR BITTERS. An epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.
One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Serofula, or King's Evil, White Swelling, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Gout, Rheumatism, Inflammation, Indolent Abscesses, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, &c.
In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remit-tent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VIN-EGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scour, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no an-thelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of infancy, or the turn of life, these Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and clinging in the veins; cleanse it when it is sour; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Acne, Black Spots, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, and all other skin diseases, and all wasting diseases, Night Sweats, Loss of Sleep and all wastes of the system, are within the curative range of this wonderful Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will revitalize any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

It is the blood, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeding in arresting these wastes, and thus, slowly, but surely, restoring the system to health. It is a cure with new material made from healthy blood—and this is certain for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its rapidity will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting more, spirits improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Steam Cotton Gin
Press and Steam
GRIST MILL
COURTLAND, ALA.,

IS now in full blast. New House and new Machinery—the most complete institution of the kind in North Alabama. Gins from 6 to 8 bales per day—for one-thirteenth.

My Gin is perfectly safe from fire.
Is close to market, where you can sell your cotton seed at a good price. The dirtiest cotton made perfectly clean.
By bringing your cotton to my Gin you will save time and labor, and will thus be enabled to give some attention to removing your stables and rebuilding your fences, grubbing, cutting wood, making guano, enriching your farm and jresting your work stock, and thus be ready for another crop. Cotton raisers who have their own interest at heart and stake would do well to make a note of this fact.

MY MILL
is run by the same machinery. The hopper is a self-feeder and holds forty bushels and is never permitted to leak.
The great wheel makes one hundred and fifty revolutions per minute, and is run day and night when necessary!
No mill turns out better meal. I can have it ground to order. Accommodations for those stopping over night.
Patronage solicited. Satisfied of my ability to please. Give me a trial.

These goods were bought expressly for this market, and I desire to sell them on the most reasonable terms.
The fact is, I am somewhat solicitous upon this subject. I bought them to sell at some profit, but on account of the dearth and insufficiency of money in the country, I now have resolution of purpose to sell them
