Message from Beecher to Methodist Choirs.

"I have a most weighty charge to bring against the good people—musical apostasy. I had expected a treat of good, hearty singing. There were Charles Wesley's hymns, and there were the good, old Methodist tunes that ancient pious loved and modern concoits laughed at. I imagine my chagrin when after reading the hymn, up rose a choir from a shelf at the other end of the church, and began to sing a monotonous tune from a modern music-book. The patient congregation stood up meekly to be sung to, as men stand under rain, when there is no shelter. Scarcely a lip moved.

No one seemed to hear the hymn or care for the music. How I longed for the good, old Methodist thunder! One good burst of old-fashioned music would have blown this modern singing out of the windows, like a wading out of a gun. Men may call this improvement and genteel. Gentility has nearly killed our churches, and it will kill Methodist churches if they give way to its false and pernicious ambition. We know very well what good, old-fashioned Methodist music was. It had faults enough, doubtless against taste, but it had an inward purpose and a religious earnestness which enabled it to carry all its faults and triumph in spite of them. It was worship. Yesterday's music was tolerable good singing, but a very poor worship. We are sorry that just as our churches are beginning to imitate the former example of Methodist Churches, and to introduce melodies that the people love, our Methodist brethren should pick up our cast of formalism in church music. It will be worse with them than with us. It will make a greater length of decline.
We could not believe our eyes and ears yesterday. We could hardly persuade ourselves that we stood before a Methodist Church. We should have supposed it a good old Presbyterian or Congregational Church, in which the pulpit and choir did everything, and the people did nothing. Our brethren in this church must not take these remarks unkindly. They are presented in all kindness and affection. The choir sang better than many choirs in city churches, but no one sang with them. The people were mute. They need their eyes and not their mouths. But alas! we missed the old fervor—the good, old-fashioned Methodist fire. We have seen the time when one of Charles Wesley's hymns, taking the congregation by the hand, would have led them up to the gate of heaven. But yesterday it only led them up to the choir, about ten feet above the pews. This will never do. Methodists will make magnificent worshipping people, if they are not ashamed of their own ways, but poor Christians if they are. Brethren, you are in the wrong way. It will never do for you to silence the people.

Your fire will go out if you take it up under the ashes of a false refinement. Let an outsider, but a well-wisher say these plain words without offense. The Methodist Church has laid the Christian world under a great debt by its service in the cause of Christ; and we have a right to it and an interest in it, as common Christians, too great to suffer us to see signs of degeneracy in it without sorrow and alarm. We hope God means to do great things by it yet for our land.
But it will not be by giving up heart and soul, zeal and popular enthusiasm in worship, for the sake of sham-propriety and tasteless formalism. That the Methodist Church will become yet further efficient. We hope to see such a revival of religion among them as will come like a freshet upon their churches, and sweep away the dead-wood of song and carry away the dead-wood and trash which have already damaged the current of song and made the congregation stagnant. Off that there may be a rain of righteousness upon them, which shall swell their hearts to overflowing and cleanse their sanctuary from all formalism of pendant music!—Methodist Journal.

Two Hugs and Woodhull Cla- lin's Weekly for two Dollars.

Miss Tonia Claflin has been soliciting, in Lincoln for several days, and the way she has victimized the verdant and sublime heathens of the capital city is sad to contemplate. But one don't believe all the Lincoln Journal says about her allowing a modest but ambitious youth to affectionately embrace her twice in consideration of his becoming a subscriber to the Woodhull & Claflin Weekly. We know Tonia has a way of soliciting that is decidedly refreshing to experience, and sometimes those society jumping-jacks misinterpret her words and actions; but she cares nothing for them after she has induced them to subscribe. However, here is the way the Journal states the case: Miss Tonia Claflin is meeting with great success in canvassing for her Weekly. She has very persuasive eloquence in soliciting subscription. She has a "very "taking way" with her, that is taking away money for subscriptions. When she enters a saloon, if she is dry, she calls for a glass of beer like any other man, and drinks to the health of the crusaders. Night before last she held a soiree at the upper parlors of the Commercial house. The invited guests were mainly composed of those who wouldn't subscribe for her periodical when she called upon them during the day. To such as refused her, she said, "call around and see me this evening," and the smile and look she gave them with the request, made them anxious to accept her proposition. They went, each one supposing himself to be the only person honored with such an invitation. When they found that the room was full of these specially favored visitors, they dropped out, one by one, until two gentlemen remained.
Before any of them went, however, they were importuned for subscription, and although that wasn't exactly what they went for, most of them came down with two dollar's worth of stamps. Says Tonia to one of the remaining gentlemen, "Thank you are a mighty nice fellow. I like you.— Come and hug me." Our friend is unmarried, and very susceptible, and blushing up to his ears went to ex-cute the command. He did it in a very unselfish manner, in fact showed himself to be a novice in that business. "Oh, what a hug," said Tonia; "can't you do better than that? Try it again." And he did, and by the exertion of more muscular strength, did the hugging this time to the fair one's satisfaction.

After that, when anybody sent up a card, (and they were many,) Miss Claflin asked Blank if she could admit him, and Blank and his male companion said "nay," and for an hour they enjoyed the companionship of the Claflin in partnership undisturbed.
When they left they deposited their subscriptions for the Weekly, a year each, and were immediately ushered out. It ain't every paper or periodical that has such energetic and enterprising soliciting agents.—Omaha

Beecher on Preaching.

The ninth lecture of the course on preaching was given at New Haven by Henry Ward Beecher, the subject being the way to make men conscious of their sinfulness. Among other things Mr. Beecher said:

An ignorant villager who had painted a lion for a sign and thinks he has genius, will never be convinced that he has none by arguments, but if a fine painting of a lion be placed beside his bungling work, he will at once say I was an ass. So we may preach that men are without holiness, but if we do not show this by speaking of their specific sins they will not realize it.
In preaching we must follow the scripture rather than the theological method.

The West is noted for its admiration of the fair sex. As Iowa justice of the peace refused last week to fine a man arraigned before him for kissing a girl against her will. "Because," as he remarked, "the plaintiff is so temptingly pretty that nothing but an overwhelming sense of duty, and the responsibility of its oath, has prevented the Court from kissing her itself."

The new boot in Paris is the Pompeian. It is a black velvet and very high, the legging front all Venetian cut work, embroidered with silver cord, and a pink or Pompeian red silk stockings is thus seen through the open clover or diamond-shaped design.

Sensible Advice.

Lamps must be filled every morning. This is an imperative duty for every housekeeper to see performed; for as the oils burn down in the lamp there is created a highly inflammable gas which gathers imperceptibly over the surface and as fast as the oil is consumed this gas increases, so when the oil is nearly out of the lamp, the slightest jar of the table will set the gas on fire; and a bombshell will not be more destructive; for its touches are deadly. But if the oil is burned only half way down in your lamp, the gas is not sufficient power to do any injury; therefore, let me beg of you, never to defer the operation of filling your lamp to another day, but see yourself that it is done. When I read of deaths occurring from trying to light fire with kerosene, I always think the verdict of the coroner's jury should be, "served them right" for it seems impossible to believe that any mortal could be so foolish as to tamper with such a highly inflama-ble liquid. Better try to kindle fires with a powder can well-filled, than with the contents of your kerosene can.—Correspondent Country Gentleman.

A familiar conversation which took place, mainly between the Hon. Ben H. Hill and Gen. Bob. Toombs, at a supper given a few weeks ago to Gov.
Vance of North Carolina, at Atlanta, having been reported in the newspapers, is exciting a great deal of comment in the South. Mr. Hill has been one of the most prominent Georgia politicians, and his course in some regards has called forth severe criticism from the Southern press and public.
Among other things, he associated himself with Simon Cameron, Columbus Delana, and others, in the lease of what is known as the State Railroad, an institution that before the advent of the Carpet-bagger, yielded to the State profits sufficient to pay the whole cost of government. This lease was effected during the time that Ballock was in office, and was generally looked upon as a very flagrant job.
Mr. Hill, for joining in it, was visited with sharp animadversion, while the transaction itself was usually spoken of as the theft of a railroad. Mr. Hill on the night mentioned, explained to the apparent satisfaction of Gen. Bob Toombs and others there present, that his sole object in going into the railroad business was to put himself into a position to be heard by the Radical authorities at Washington. He was satisfied that the Democrats had really carried every election in Georgia under reconstruction; the trouble was to hold the Legislature after election.— It struck him that by making a combination with Cameron, Delana, and others having influence enough at the National Capital to gobble the railroad belonging to Georgia he would raise himself in the estimation of the Administration to a level with Ballock and those local dignitaries who had been the most trusted by the Federal authorities, the consequence of which would be the preservation of interference of the General Government to overthrow the state government really elected by the people of Georgia. Gen. Toombs and others who had harshly criticized Mr. Hill's action, were overwhelmed with admiration for his strategy when his explanation was made, the purport of which we have given above; though not precisely in Mr. Hill's way of putting it.
Some of the newspapers in the South, however, speak of the affair in a tone of grim sarcasm which indicates a certain degree of doubt as to the distinctness of Mr. Hill's course; notwithstanding that he spoke feelingly upon the unpleasantness of his having been compelled to associate with men for whom he had no respect, which must be highly agreeable to Messrs.
Cameron, Delana & Co.—New York

A Curiosity of the Sea.

A miner from Arizona, whose name we are unable to ascertain, went fishing down on Culverwell's wharf, between four and five o'clock one evening. He had been fishing but a short time when he drew up on the wharf, an ordinary sized liquor bottle. He was not frightened at the bottle, but he was wonderfully perplexed as to what had "bitten," and how and by whom the bottle had been attached to his line above the hook. The miner called out, and several other persons who were fishing near him ran to see the wonderful catch. An examination proved that there was a devil fish inside the bottle, and that one of its arms extended out of the neck, and was firmly entwined in the line.
The devil fish had probably crawled into the bottle when young, and finding it a nice, comfortable residence, he had committed the indiscretion of remaining there until he had grown so large he could not get out. He had grown to nearly the size of his glass house, and in fact, was rather cramped for room. The miner was very much elated over his prize, and, in spite of the protestations of the crowd he broke the bottle to get a better view of the monster.

Snatched From Death.

It will be remembered by our readers that some time ago a young clerk near Leesburg, Georgia, was knocked up at his store door late one night and shot as soon as he showed himself. He died immediately. Suspicion fell at once on Henry Jackson as the murderer. He was arrested, tried, convicted, and sentenced TO BE HUNG ON FRIDAY, the 5th of May, between the hours of 10 and 1 o'clock.

The preparations for the hanging, were all made and it was expected that, ere this his soul would have been in eternity.

Yesterday, at about 9 o'clock, a telegraph operator came rushing into the executive office, bearing a dispatch from Leesburg, announcing as very important: Colonel P. W. Alexander opened it, and found that it was from Mr. Tyson, Ed. Watson, James Morgan, and George Kimbrow, respectively; county Judges, Ordinary, Sheriff and Clerk of Lee County, stating that facts of recent development rendered it almost certain that Jackson was an innocent man, and asking in the name of justice and the people of the county, for a respite until the proper investigation could be had.

A RACE AFTER THE GOVERNOR.

Col. Alexander was struck blank with dismay when he read this dispatch as Gov. Smith had gone to Marietta for the proposed route of the Marietta and Ducktown railroad. Col. Alexander reflected that if Gov. Smith had left Marietta and started by buggies on his route of inspection, he would be beyond the reach of a telegram, and consequently could not be communicated with until last night; when the man would have been hanged. He immediately dispatched a telegram to the Governor, why; as luck would have it was still in Marietta. He replied asking where Leesburg was. Colonel Alexander replied that it was in Lee County, and was formerly called Wooten. The Governor then telegraphed:

"Respite Henry Jackson's sentence for one week—i. e., till Friday the 15th. When Col. Alexander received this dispatch it was twelve minutes after eleven o'clock. He sent it at once to the Western Union. The operators there being much excited and on their pluck, sent it whizzing over the wire, in less than two minutes.
Considerable anxiety in the Governor's office as to whether or not the dispatch had been received in time to save the man's life. Col. Alexander, hearing nothing from there, telegraphed late yesterday evening to know the result, and was gratified to learn that the auspicious order came in time and the criminal was saved.
Col. A. desires us to note the promptness with which Master George Wall the messenger, delivered the message.
It is said that he beat a quarter horse in his flying trips to and from the Capitol, and perspired himself sick;

To his activity, in all probability,

Henry Jackson owes his life:
We shall keep our readers posted upon this remarkable affair.—Atlanta

In an article on the electrical condition of gas flames, in the American Journal of Science, Prof. J. Thowbridge, by a series of experiments, arrives at the following conclusion: First. The flames of a Bunsen burner is negative, while positive electricity accumulates in the burner itself, if it is a good conductor. With orifices made of non-conductors, no charge was found in the tip. Second. The stratum of air in contact with the outer cone of flame is slightly charged with positive electricity. Third.
The partly consumed gas of the interior cone is neutral. Third. The presence of flames tends to charge the nature of the atmospheric electricity at the given place, reducing a positive tension to feeble negative one.
The latter result will be seen to have a bearing on the popular belief that great fires affect the atmosphere in such a way as to induce rain and storms, confirming this belief from an electrical point of view. By placing a spirit-lamp on the prime conductor of an electrical machine, Sir William Thompson, ten years ago, changed the tension of the air in the room of his experiment from a positive to a negative state, and the reverse. Now it is found that the electricity of the air during cloudy or rainy weather is generally negative, or at most feebly positive. Flames, being negative, would to greater or less extent change the strong positive electricity in clear weather to a negative character, and thus bring the air to the condition of cloudy or rainy weather.
The almost innumerable instances in which rains have been said to follow conflagration or the extensive firing of cannon, as in battles, are thus shown to be in fact of explanation scientific grounds and therefore to be worthy of consideration.

During the reign of Henry IV., king of France, a peasant was riding from his village to Paris. Not far from the city he met a stately cavalier.
It was the king; his retinue had remained some distance behind.
"Where art thou going, my friend?" said the king—"have you business at Paris?"

"Yes," replied the peasant; "and I would like to see the king whom the people love so much." The king laughed and said, "You will have no difficulty in that." "But," said the peasant, "I will not be able to know him from among the many courtiers which surround him." "I will tell you," said the king. "You need only observe the one who keeps on his hat, when all the rest will have discovered their heads." They rode on together into Paris; the peasant, through accident, on the right side of the king. The peasant made ready answers to all of the king's questioning, telling him of his life and household —how often he had a chicken for dinner, and so forth, without suspecting the identity of his companion. But when he saw the windows opened and the streets filled with gazers, he began to discover his situation. "Sir," said he looking anxiously at his hitherto unknown companion, "either you or I must be the king, for we are the only ones who keep their hats on." The king laughed and said: "I am the king; when you have finished your business come to my palace. I shall expect you to supper and will show you the Dauphin."

A farmer tells the Columbus Enquirer that in cleaning the cotton seed from his gin house he found thousands of cotton catpawlar eggs. Can there be any stronger argument for going heavily for corn this year so as to be prepared for the general sweep of the cotton crop next fall.

"The crack" fisherman is working hard to recover his reputation. When he goes out now he counts everything that wears a fin and wags a tail.

KYLE & GAITHER have just received one of the largest selections of Ladies' Mises and Childrens cloth gaiters ever brought to this place. You should not fail to give them a call before purchasing.

One of our city goods clerks is having him a ground pea patch. He expects to gather a crop of "parched goods" and contemplates a partnership with the blind man up at Opelika.

Bill Moore of the Morning News seems to have a spite against these Tuskegee people. Wonder what's the matter? He had better look sharp. We have a man up here who says he "don't like that fellow Moore no low and he ever catches him hanging around a certain little village up the road, he'll nail him like the very tuipt."

The atmosphere hereabouts is becoming odoriferous. We have noticed for several Saturdays past a congregation of "Rads" form all parts of the county, and of every imaginable color, from the infatigable to the brightest vermilion. The Chippewa man with the surpentine feet, and the rosy hued Hungarian are both on the war path and looking up the spies.

Mr. Watson Walker, living near Shorter's D p t, Macon County, has one of the finest fields of oats in the County. They are rust-proof, and of a fine, large head. Mr. Walker has introduced this new kind of oats for the first time in the county, and finds it to be a grand success. He gives them particular attention and his trouble is rewarded by his having the finest oats in the county.

We are glad to see Rev. J. G. Motter again at home. He was a delegate from Alabama to the General Conference of the M. B. Church, South, now in session at Louisville, but left before the adjournment of the Conference, private business calling him home. He gives glowing accounts of his trip, and speaks in the highest praise of the good people of Louisville, and their liberality and hospitality. He is in usual health.

"Tusculum, Tualoosa, Columbian, and other live and enterprising towns of Alabama have kindly invited the New York Editors, and the Press Association of Alabama to visit them, extending the hospitalities of the respective cities. Why has not Tuskegee invited them here? they could very easily entertain them, and the editors would not come, no doubt, to see the narrow Gauge Rail Road if nothing more. It isn't too late yet. Telegraph them at Birmingham.

Our friend "Little Algin," "Register" desires us in his name to make acknowledgment to the lady who under a roughly and awkward drawn pencil sketch of a goat of the male gender, penned the following words: "A fine similitude of big headed Henderson, alias 'Little Algin' that intelligent specimen of humanity &c. &c." He waives all consideration of good taste, or of ceding growing from a kindly and sympathetic nature, and requests us to say that the choicest bouquet made from Tuskegee's floral beauties awaits her acceptance by application at his office.

The public entertainment by the Mozart Music Club which was to have been given on Friday night last, but which was postponed on account of providential causes will certainly be rendered at the Good Templars Hall on next Friday night. The ladies have been of great trouble in getting up the programme; they have a highly commendable object in view, and ought by all means to be rewarded by a liberal patronage. The hall has been beautifully ornamented for the occasion, and the exercises will be highly entertaining to all who may attend. Let all the people turn out.

MARRIED.
PITTMAN—POWELL.—At the residence of the Bride's Aunt, Mrs. Joseph M. Cary, near Cartersville, Ga., on the 7th of May, by the Rev. Mr. COXTER, Mr. A. J. PITTMAN, of Union Springs, Ala., to Miss MAMIE E. POWELL, formerly of Union Springs.

We congratulate our friend PITTMAN in his good fortune in securing one so lovely to take with him the voyage of life. May they land safely and happily on the other shore. Jack had grown tired of living such a secluded life, and has realized the truth of the fact that pleasure and joy is to be fully realized alone.

"Joy is an import: Joy is an exchange: Joy flies momentually: it calls for two: Rich fruit! Heaven planted: never plucked by one."

And may this happy couple reap all the joys of this life, and may no shadows ever darken their bright pathway.

PICNIC AT UNION SPRINGS.

It was our good fortune to be present on the occasion of the anniversary picnic of Curry Lodge of Good Templars, Union Springs, on the 12th of May. Curry Lodge was organized in the Spring of 1873. It was named for the Rev. James H. Curry, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church at Union Springs but now of Mobile, Alabama. It has continued to grow in numbers, and great good has been accomplished since its organization in that town. Many have been induced to become members, and have been shielded under its influence from the assaults of the vile curse; the wine cup has been dashed aside, and they have stepped out upon the side of morality—declaring eternal warfare against the vile practice of drinking intoxicating liquors. Tuesday, May 12th, was the day appointed for its anniversary picnic, and at 9 o'clock the Lodge promptly assembled in its Hall, and forming into line, took up its march for the beautiful grounds at Foster's Grove, which is one of the best picnic grounds in the State. Before the arrival there of the procession a speaker's stand had been erected, and after the singing of a temperance ode, the Rev. Mr. Patterson was introduced to the audience, who delivered an appropriate and well timed address of welcome. The speaker made a most happy effort, and had the desired effect by his words, that of impressing strangers with the fact of their being welcome and making all feel at home. He discussed the fruits of the organization of which he was a representative, and dwelt, especially upon the advantage of women into the order, considering it the most important step that was ever taken for the good and prosperity of the great organization, as we men by her sweet and bewitching influence might lead largely to its increase, and exert the greatest power in sustaining it. The remarks were pertinent and did credit to the speaker. At the conclusion, another ode was sung, and the orator of the day, D. W. Melvin was introduced to the audience, who discussed the subject of Temperance at considerable length, showing its damning effects, and especially impressing upon the young men the importance of their uniting with the temperance organizations. Other speakers were expected, but did not come to time. At the conclusion of the last named address, the crowd dispersed and they began the hour of "high and enjoyment." But after a few moments the hour twelve having arrived, dinner was announced, and all were ready to do justice to the many good things which filled the wide spread tables. There was indeed a most bounteous supply of provisions, and all were sumptuously fed. Dinner being over, all dispersed for enjoyment in various modes, some in conversation, games, &c., others engaged in the whisperings of soft cadences of love to unwilling ears in secret spots—indeed there was never a happier assemblage, and we were perfectly intoxicated by the beauty and grace there gathered together. It was indeed enough to bewilder any young man, and we must acknowledge the charge, paid guilty to the accusation preferred against us, by our cotemporary of the Morning News, and admit that we succumbed to the great temptation, and forgot entirely that our mission was solely upon the cause of Temperance. We took the stamp in a more delicate cause—and we hope our public speeches in behalf of Temperance were more effective, or that they are taken in greater confidence. But we must say that we were most highly entertained, and as a thing of beauty is a joy forever, we have no cause to complain, no matter what success our efforts may yet be crowned, for they were golden moments, and happy recollections of their shut ever cluster in our memory, and the music of that happy dream, shall ever be pleasant to our ears. We formed many most happy acquaintances, and our time was wholly taken up in their charming presence. And though but a few minutes of the day, we will let it out.) An Associate Editor and our friends may not be surprised at an addition to our staff in our efforts at beauty's shrine are crowned with success. Our friend Moore is not very dull of comprehension, and certainly a most penetrating eye, for he saw in our looks, not the looks of one who was out simply upon a temperance crusade, as was stated to him, but on a mission far different, and in which our happiness was in view. He ought to be more considerate and not tell all these things on his poor country brother, but "the cat's out of the bag," it is true, and now we challenge brother Moore to free him. It was with reluctance that we went out our way from those pleasant scenes, when the hour of parting was announced—but it was a consolation to know that we were all to meet again that night in the Court House, where the officers would be installed, and where the lovers of the "dance" would have the opportunity of participating in that part of the programme.

At the appointed hour, a large audience had assembled in the Court House Hall. The installation ceremonies were conducted by the Lodge Deputy H. G. McCALL, Esq., who performed the duty in a most interesting and impressive manner. After the installation it was expected that Mr. McCALL would address the audience, but to the regret of all, so much time had been consumed in the ceremonies that he declined for the purpose of allowing the dancing to proceed. During the intermission here, FLEMING LAW Esq., was called upon, who responded in his usual happy style.

"The town had gathered there, and bright the lamp shone on, Fair women and brave men."

At the sound of the violin the dance began, and nimble feet kept time with joyous hearts and the sweet music, until the wee wee hours of morn." when of necessity the happy throng having grown "tired and sleepy too," dispersed, highly gratified with the day's enjoyment and pleasure. We spent here one of the most pleasant days of our life—it was indeed a most happy reunion, and we shall ever hail the return of such anniversaries with pleasure. Long live Curry Lodge, and may it continue to grow in influence until the whole people of Union Springs, shall be able to resist its power, and all shall unite in expelling the use of intoxicating liquor from its lairs.

GRANGER'S COLUMN.

Delegates from the State Grange of Alabama to "The Patrons of Husbandry and Cotton States Agricultural Congress" to be held in Atlanta, Ga., June 2d, 1874:

Hon. W. H. Chambers, of Russell County. Hon. B. H. Moore, Bibb County. Gen'l. E. M. Law, Macon County. Col. S. J. Harrington, Col. Robert McKee, Col. J. G. Gilchrist, Montgomery County. Col. J. D. Ashurst, Tallapoosa County. Gen'l. Geo. D. Johnston, Tuscaloosa County. Hon. Felix Tate, Wilcox County.

The following resolutions were adopted by the State executive committee of the State Grange at its recent meeting in Montgomery:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of the State Grange of Alabama will hail with satisfaction the movement, which has been inaugurated by the Patrons of Husbandry of Georgia, for the establishment of direct trade, between the South and Europe, and that they recommend to those granges in the State, which are interested in the shipment of cotton to Atlantic ports, that they co-operate in the enterprise by becoming stockholders in the company, which has just been organized under an act of the Georgia legislature.

Resolved, That the committee looks forward to the establishment of a similar enterprise for Alabama's great export, and to that end the committee will prepare the passage of an act of incorporation by the legislature at its next session, and, in the mean time, will adopt such means as may be proper, to bring the matter to the favorable consideration of the subordinate granges of the State.

Resolved, That the Patrons of Mississippi, in that part of the State, which trades to Mobile, be invited to co-operate in the measure.

It is impossible, in the short limits of an address, like the present, even to state half the advantages that would accrue to you by the direct shipment of your cotton to Europe, through Southern ports, by companies formed by yourselves, or under your control. A few will be mentioned.

1. It will bring you close to the consumer, at least, three-fourths of your cotton is manufactured in Europe. In this way would be saved to you millions of dollars, which are annually thrown away in the circuitous shipment by New York,—the expense of that route being nearly double what it would be through Southern, direct, to foreign ports.

2. It would take your cotton out of the hands of speculators, who now have the power to control it, and its price, to suit themselves, and whose interests lead them to depreciate it, while in your possession—thus injuring you, the producer, and appreciate it, when in their possession—thus injuring the manufacturer, the consumer,—the wealth, which should go to enrich the two parties, who laboriously handle it, thereby making its way into the capacious pockets of those who simply handle it for gambling purposes.

3. It would help to build up your merchants by bringing them goods at reduced prices and increasing their sales, and your cities, by adding largely to the amount of their trade, and the wealth which depends on it.

4. It would give you gold for your cotton, and more of it, than you can even get of greenbacks, under the present arrangement. Cotton, during the past season was selling at one time in Columbus, at 12½ cents,—the price being, of course, regulated by that of New York,—when it was quoted in Liverpool at 9½ pence, about 19 cents in gold. Had any of your cotton been at that point, as it could have been, if such a line of steamers as either of those contemplated in the above resolutions, had been in existence, you could have realized, (for three cents per pound would have paid all the expenses of shipment,) sixteen cents in gold, for that grade of cotton, which brought you 2½ cents, and that, too, in irredeemable paper.

5. It would supply you with that which you so greatly need "to evoke from your soil its latent wealth"—reliable labor. That this wealth will never be unceasing, by African bone and muscle and brain, seems to be generally conceded. A substitute must be had; and, in the main, it can only be furnished by the old fields of Europe. Hon. John Forsyth, in his letter on Direct Trade, addressed to the chairman of your committee on 2d, February last, very forcibly and pertinently remarks "As gold for cotton means Direct Trade, so Direct Trade means White Immigration." More truth was never compressed in the same number of words.

Miscellaneous.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Indigestion of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair. Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, and invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fortified. Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Glands, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Marcano Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Itches, Itchings, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Affections of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Taps, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the term of life, these Tonic and Carminative display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
