PADDY AND BIDDY.

Young Paddy McShane—sure and no lad could be bolder—
Coaxed Biddy O'Shea to be sharing his lot;
And Pat had a lively young pig on his shoulder;
And she on her head bore a big iron pot.
From the town, just at nightfall, as home they were walking,
(Through a dark, lonely, thicket their winding path lay),
Biddy set down the pot, and stopped her laughing and talking,
Paddy turned round and said her the cause of delay.

"Och," said she, "I'm afraid you'll be acting unwell;
I'll not go alone through the thicket, wid you."
For Paddy, you're as wild as the devil,
You'll be kissing and squeezing me, that's what you'll do."

"But the pig," replied Pat, "that I've hugged so securely,
If loose back to town like the devil he'd trot."
"Och, Paddy," said she, as she looked up demurely,
"Sure, couldn't ye put the pig under the pot?"

Troubles are like dogs; the smaller they are the more they annoy you.

If all men were to bring their misfortunes together in one place, most would be glad to take his own home again, rather than take a portion out of the common stock.

"Mynheer, do you know for what we call our boy Hans?" "Do not, really."
"Well, I tell you. Der reason dat we call our boy Hans, dat ish his name."

"Grandma, why don't you keep a servant any longer?" "Well, you see child, I'm getting old now, and can't take care of one, as I used to, you know."

Stebbins says: "Elderly people ought to retire early at this season of the year. It is better for their health. Besides, it gives the young folks a better chance."

Brigham Young instructs his missionaries to send him no woman over 80 years of age. The man must be crazy. Who ever saw a woman over 80 years of age?

A new novel says of its heroine: "In innocence dwells in the rich curls of her dark hair." A lead comb will take it out.

The legislature of western Virginia is said to have passed a law at its last session "to prevent the owners of hogs from running at large."

A worthy Kentucky farmer, being asked if a daughter recently married was still living with him, replied: "No, sir; when one of my girls swarms, she must hunt her own hive."

Beecher says there is about as much religion in the act of putting a horse-shoe over the door for good luck as in putting a gilt-edged bible on the center table for the same purpose.

Hon. W. G. M. Golsen is our authorized Agent to receive and receive for monies due us for advertising Prostate offices.

PROBATE NOTICES.—See all new Probate notices in to-day's paper.

See notice of Mr. W. B. Jackson, Tax Assessor, to the tax payers of Prattville Best.

Cotton.—Low Middlings quoted at 14 cents in Montgomery.

Godley's Lady's Book, for March, is received, and it is a superb number. It is beautifully embellished with colored fashion plates, and contains a large quantity of choice reading matter. Send for it, ladies.

The gallant young members of the Prattville Brass Band have requested us to tender their unforgotten thanks to the beautiful and accomplished young lady who presented them with a tasteful Bouquet on Monday last.

Dr. P. A. Dantzler, after an absence of some weeks, has returned to Prattville, and is now prepared to do all kinds of work in the dental line. Those who are troubled with bad teeth will find it to their interest to call on the Doctor without delay. He warrants all his work.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Prattville Male and Female Academy, held last week, Mr. Henry F. Debardeleben was unanimously elected a member of the Board in place of Mr. J. M. Smith, resigned. Mr. A. K. McWilliams was also elected Treasurer. We will publish the proceedings of the meeting next week.

Our clever and enterprising friend, S. S. Booth, Esq., has returned from New Orleans, whither he went after family groceries and plantation supplies, and has now on hand a large and fresh stock of the necessities of life. Call and see for yourself. Geo. Ward, Jones and Joe Booth will take pleasure in waiting on you.

Montgomery, on Tuesday last, was a magnificent affair, and reflected great credit on the good people of our capital city. The turn out far exceeded the most sanguine anticipations of the spectators, the procession being more than a mile long, and all the representations were splendidly gotten up. There were several thousand strangers in the city to witness the celebration.

TERRIBLE STORM.—There was a terrific storm of wind, hail and rain some eight miles above this place on Tuesday evening last, uprooting large pine trees, blowing away houses and fences and killing stock. We learn that Mr. Arch. Carter, keeper of the poor house of this county, who lives some eight or nine miles above here, had every house on his place blown away, and his family and the paupers left without a place of shelter. Mr. John Rucker, at Maul's mill, also had nearly all his houses demolished, and some of his stock killed and badly injured. The storm came from the west, and his truck, we are told, was not more than three hundred yards in width. We deeply sympathize with those who suffered so severely from its effects, and hope some effort will be made for their relief.

The South Alabamian complains with great reason and justice that "one can scarcely pick up a Northern paper, especially the village weeklies, without seeing something offensive about Southern rebels, traitors, &c. It has been nearly nine years since the surrender, and we think it time this rebel surgen was dropped.

A man by the name of Wood, living at a little place called Rutledge, about six miles from Atlanta, on the Georgia Railroad, killed his three children by giving them morphine, and then shot himself dead. He and his wife had separated, and he assigned that as the cause. Wood was a very dissipated man.

The Connecticut martyr in the cause of women's rights, Miss Abby Smith, of Glastonbury, proposes to make severe personal sacrifices for the cause she advocates. Miss Smith refused to pay her taxes, and the tax collector seized her cows, sold them on account of her refusal to pay, and she announces her determination to have all her property sold and to be sent to the poorhouse rather than to suffer "taxation without representation." It is not easy to justify the principle against which she wages war, so far as her case is concerned, and yet real estate taxes are not assessed against the individual, but against the property, the owner of which frequently, as is the case of some foreigners, not entitled to representation. The evil, if any, is one which probably more men than women are interested in having abolished.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

An immense amount of land is advertised for taxes. Nearly every paper has from four to ten columns of notices.

Trying to do business without advertising is about as foolish as standing on the front steps of 1874 and whistling for the old year to come back.

One million grangers in the United States.

The Tuscaloosa Blade advocates the nomination of Gen. E. W. Martin, of Conecuh, for Lt. Governor.

A French dramatic company recently performed in Berlin, for the first time since the war.

The family of Mr. Dan Gallagher, consisting of wife and two children, have arrived at Tuscaloosa from Texas.

The Marion Commonwealth hears that many planters in that section are decreasing the acreage they have heretofore given to cotton and will plant more small grain than usual.

A Richmond paper complains that too many Virginians are leaving their native state.

Preston Powers, a son of the great sculptor, is modelling a bust of Prof. Agassiz.

An organized band of horse thieves are operating in Lowndes county. Their plans are so well laid that they elude pursuit and get off with their prey.

At the time of his death, Mr. Clarence Prentiss had in preparation for publication a volume of the poems of his father, George D. Prentiss.

All the Welch people, men women and babies who were at the Tuscaloosa coal diggings, became disgusted and left for Pennsylvania.

A Detroit female of just twenty-five was married to her fifth husband lately. All the gentlemen are alive and the first four are doing well.

It is said that Mrs. Waite is "a handi-craft in her tastes and 'lord of' society, in which she has long been a distinguished leader."

The "exodus of negroes" from Sumter county is a myth, for the Journal says that not as many as two hundred have left the county within a year. Some very exaggerated statements have been made.

While we are having mild, balmy spring weather here, the snow is five inches deep in New York and the ground frozen fifteen inches.

A Pennsylvania man went out to get his boots heated eight years ago, and as he has never returned his wife is becoming uneasy.

The New York papers say that the duller business gets there, the more advertising by the merchants. They advertise in order to attract trade.

The Chicago papers are discussing the question as to whether the city should burn her dead. A more sensible plan, we should say, would be to burn her living.

Somebody remembers that ninety seven years ago, February was so warm a month that people were able to bathe in the open air.

In Fairfield county, "South Carolina, an organization of colored kullux has been formed for the suppression of polygamy. They have whipped several colored men who were emulating Brigham Young.

L. D. Vaughn, the self-accused murderer of Gen. Hindman, has been released. The case was nolle prossed in the circuit court of Monroe county on the 20th ult.

Morgan county is being settled by thifty Germans from the north.

The iron lands of Jefferson county are valued at fifty million of dollars, by a western man who walked over portions of them.

The Tuskegee orphan's home has over one hundred inmates, and is in a flourishing condition.

Clarke county claims more granges than any other county in Alabama.

The granges of Greene county recommend the importance of making a living at home, by planting small grain and raising their own meat.

Cotton Wombs.—The Greenville Ad. vocate says:

"The spirits have told a young lady at Collings, Lowndes, that the cotton worms will be few and late this year. With all due regard for the spirit who made this communication, and for the medium through whom it was made, we take the liberty of saying that the correctness of it will depend very much upon the time and numbers of the fly that brings the worm,

MONTGOMERY FEMALE COLLEGE.—The Montgomery Female College is one of the permanent institutions of Montgomery, and one of which our citizens may be justly proud.

Regardless of the stringency of the times, and the prevalence of yellow fever in this city last year, these temporary impediments have been overcome, and the college is in as prosperous a condition as formerly, numbering we believe, over one hundred pupils. Yet there is room for more, as the advertisement in the Evening Ledger would indicate. No able nor more satisfactory selection of a faculty could have been made, and it will commend itself favorably to the public.

We regret that the lateness of the hour prevents as full a statement of what we conceive to be the merits of the faculty as we would desire; but we can say that as a presiding teacher Mrs. M. C. Bibb (sister of Dr. Andrew A. Lysscomb) has no superior in the country. In the department of Philosophy and Chemistry, there could have been no better selection than the highly educated Mrs. Cooke, wife of M. M. Cooke, Esq. of the Advertiser. Miss Petrie is the accomplished daughter of Rev. Dr. Petrie of this city and is highly capacitated for any position in the college. In the primary department, Miss Hancock is laboriously and pains taking, and a most efficient and accomplished teacher. Miss Porter's splendid reputation will add greatly to the character of the Musical department. The modest Miss Vail is unsurpassed as an elocutionist; and last but not least, the polished Miss Lockett, has given evidence of the most exquisite taste in the art department, as a glance at the beautiful paintings in the art gallery of the college, will readily convince any one.

The success of Mrs. T. G. Chilton in the establishment of this college has been almost without parallel. It is well remembered that the college building was destroyed by fire last year; but to-day on the same spot stands a new and beautiful building, an ornament to the city and in every way complete.

Too great praise cannot be bestowed upon one who has overcome opposing obstacles, and achieved unaided substantial success as in the instance of Mrs. Thomas G. Chilton. It has from the beginning been an exhibition of modest worth and true heroism, which, in a different sphere of life, might have placed the possessor on a high pinnacle of glory—yet with far less good than has been accomplished. Our hearty good wish is for success to home institutions, and the Montgomery Female College.—Montgomery Daily Ledger.

HOW THE SIAMSE TWINS GOT THEIR WIVES.—Much speculation has always been made as to how the twins acquired, and finally became joined in the bonds of Hy-men. It happened that they were traveling through the South, and stepped at the town of Traphill, in Wilkes county, North Carolina. The county in this locality being very romantic, and the land good, the twins determined to settle, and accordingly engaged in business in the village, being excellent traders, and their novel condition soon attracted many persons to them, among these a farmer named Yates, who lived in the immediate vicinity, and who was possessed of two bounding daughters, Chang and Eng looked upon these two women tenderly, and evinced great affection for them, and like ordinary young folks, made numerous calls at the residence of their bewitchers, and there being a pair of them all around, a match was soon made, and the four were made (two or one).

Montgomery Female College.

The Spring Session of this institution opens February 16th, 1874.

No more superior advantages in point of female education are presented anywhere in the Southern States; and it will be the constant care of the Board of Trustees to preserve the high standard which the institution has established.

The following constitute the several departments, and the names of the Faculty:

President, Teacher, MRS. M. C. BIBB.
Higher Mathematics, Latin and French, MRS. THOMAS G. CHILTON.
Philosophy and Chemistry, MRS. M. M. COOKE.
Intermediate Department, MISS PETRIE.
Primary Department, MISS HANCOCK.

Music, MISS PORTER.
Elocution, MISS VAIL.
Art Department, MISS LOCKETT.

Young ladies can find suitable accommodations at the residence of Mrs. Chilton, adjoining the College. MRS. THOMAS G. CHILTON, Principal.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, AUTAUGA COUNTY.

Probate Court, Special Term, 1874.

Estate of James White, a minor.

This day came G. A. Northington, Guardian of said minor, and filed his accounts and vouchers for the annual settlement of his said guardianship.

It is ordered by the Court that the 31st day of January, 1874, be appointed a day on which to make said settlement. It is further ordered that notice of the same be given to all parties interested by publication for three successive weeks in the Autauga Citizen, a newspaper published in this county, notifying them that they can appear on the day appointed for making said settlement and contest the same if they see proper.

EXCELLENT ADVICE.

We reproduce, from the Tuscaloosa Blade, a most excellent article on the subject of home industry and southern independence. It contains advice that it would pay the people of Alabama to consider. The press of this State can do an immense deal of good by the promulgation of just such ideas as are inculcated in the article referred to, which follows:

Idleness is the bane of the southern people, which, with its concomitant, false pride, is doing more than it ought towards holding the south back in the present generation. Our cities, and towns, and hamlets, are crowded with consumers and non-producers; men who, afraid, ashamed or indisposed to work for honest livelihoods, idle-bodied men of both races are to be seen lounging around our streets, daily, plying their wretched vagabondage of idleness, their families often suffering for the actual necessities of life; or, in some instances, these men, who are but too willing to fall back into the barbarism of having their mothers, wives, sisters, daughters, work diligently at the needle or wash tub as the only means of warding off the wailful cry for bread. How any young man or one who is not absolutely bed-ridden, can rest contented with his hands in his pockets, (except a time as this, in past convulsions), is past comprehension. The same labor done here, as some of our restless young men are now performing far away, would render them independent. We have frequently conversed with those who have gone off to seek their fortunes; and all agree that had they remained and gained their own consent to resort to hard labor here as they are doing in their new homes, they would be better off. But not how can a young gentleman bear to be seen by his old acquaintances, driving a dry or wain in the streets, or plowing in the neighboring fields? That would be in the neighborhood of a disgrace. It would be the individual or family proud. Nearly one-half of the population of this State is living on the other half, like so many worthless parasites instead of being producers, these are consumers. The common cry "Can't get employment," is what may be vulgarly termed a most "allow excuse," because it is not genuine. Any body with ordinary health, both arms and willing hands can always find work to do. If it may be a valuable labor, but determined industry will not be content to remain in idleness, but will wait for the offer of easy terms or pleasant occupations. With rare exceptions, the southern white employees of stores, shops, etc., in cities and towns, are incompetent, or are above the faithful execution of the work of their employers. They roll barrels, lift boxes, propel wheelbarrows, or attend to other such menial offices. Not that they must preserve their status in society. Young ladies hesitate to receive the attentions of laborers, it is not genteel, according to their social standard to "knuckle down" to hard, "manly" work. Now, suppose the thing was reversed. Let the laborer, in matter how genteel "gotten up" in apparel, or imposing in display, be contented as a workman wait on society, and how soon would a revolution take place? Now is there any excuse for able-bodied women to vegetate in elegant leisure. There is a manual labor, too, for them to do. The day for miniature romance-reading and senseless pop-calling is past. To be properly appreciated by the only kind of men who are worth having, the women must doff their habits of selfishness and indolence, and do those of their foremothers, who were renowned for their excellent housewifery. Let them proceed to aid their fathers, husbands and brothers in the support of their families and save the serious outlay for servants' hire, by performing the household themselves. Above all, avoid the unnecessary expense of doctors' bills, the sure sequence of luxurious idleness. Some silly parents rear their offspring with silver spoons in their mouths; knowing that such will have to give, sooner or later, to spoons of poverty, unless by a "scratch" they hope this over-rich or draw a capital prize in a lottery.

As for the young negroes who have grown up since their freedom, or who are floundering in idleness and dissipation, there is more hope for their civilized relatives in the undiscovered portions of Africa than for them. Ninety-nine hundredths of these are altogether idle and dissipated, and will never work.

A correspondent of the Jackson (Miss.) News, tells how General Jackson got the title of Old Hickory. He says he got the story from Captain William Allen, a near neighbor of the General, and who messaged with him during the Creek war. During the campaign the soldiers were moving rapidly to surprise the Indians, and were without tents. A cold March rain came on, mingled with sleet, which lasted for several days. General Jackson got a severe cold, but did not complain as he tried to sleep in a muddy bottom among his half-frozen soldiers. Captain Allen and his brother John cut down a stout hickory tree, peeled off the bark, and made a covering for the General, who with difficulty persuaded to crawl into it. The next morning a drunken citizen entered the camp, and seeing the tent kicked it over. As Jackson crawled from the ruins, the toper cried, "Hello, Old Hickory! come out of your bark and jine us in a drink."

The late S. A. Hitchcock, of Boston, was a man of very frugal habits. He preserved all his life the blue cotton handkerchief in which was wrapped all his worldly possessions when he started out to earn his living. The first $50 he earned was deposited in the savings bank, and it remained there until his death. During his life he gave away more than $350,000.

The Only Known Medicine

AT THE SAME TIME.

Purge Purify and strengthen the system.

Their research has at last been forwarded by a discovery which truly realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is Dr. T. T. T. VEGETABLE LIVER PILL. Which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, yet produce no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a Strengthening Purgative and a Purifying Tonic.

Dr. T. T. T. Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They are taken at any time without restraint of diet or supposition, they produce either nausea, griping or dizziness, and as family mediocines they have no rival.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chills, Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

No one remedy is so long called for by the necessities of the American people than a safe and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we now enable to offer, with a perfect guarantee, that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disease must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run by violent attacks of violent fever and ague. This "Cure" expels the miasmatic poison of Fever and Ague from the system, and prevents the development of the disease. It is the first approach of its preliminary symptoms. It is the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of everybody; and in bilious districts, where Fever and Ague prevails, everybody should have it, and use it freely, both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the ague, and certain cure of intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinine or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Pains in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, just on the instant they are taken, and the patient is cured. For Fever and Ague, arising from miasmatic poison, the Liver is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity, and producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines fail.

PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., AND SOLD ALL ROUND THE WORLD. PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.
