CITY ITEMS.

The present week has been characterized by damp, rainy and blustering weather. The Troy Messenger and the New York Weekly Graphic will be furnished to subscribers at $4 a year.

Cotton is coming in rather slowly, during the present week and on Wednesday the Troy market was quoted at 13 1/2 @ 13 1/4.

Mr. John F. Jones is now occupying the lower story of Masonic Hall as a carpenter shop, where he has several hands at work. The Troy City Bonds case did not come to trial at Mobile, but is again postponed. This leaves the question of their future standing still in doubt.

Joseph Jernigan, Esq., has removed to the former residence of ex-Mayor U. L. Jones, recently vacated by Mr. M. E. Barnett, who has removed to Columbus.

Watches accurately adjusted in position and isochronal, by W. A. CREWS, Troy.

Subscriptions taken at this office for the New York Daily Graphic. Price $12 per annum; $6 for six months; $3 for three months.

A. A. Wiley, Esq., was on the Reception Committee of the Ball given at the Exchange Hotel, Montgomery, on Friday night last. It is said to have been a successful affair.

We are glad to learn that the young men of this city are taking steps to organize a Debating Society, a movement that should be heartily encouraged, by every good citizen.

Dr. W. H. Robert left on Monday morning, by private conveyance, for Augusta, Ga., where he is to take up his future residence. His office, for the present, will be at the Central Hotel.

Our thanks are due Capt. Sayre and Mr. Earnest Catferville, the gentlemanly conductors of the Montgomery and Enola Railroad, for special favors shown us during our recent trip over that road.

W. A. CREWS has had fifteen years experience in repairing Watches and Clocks.

If you want an elegant chromo and a fine assortment of garden or flower seeds, send five dollars to James Vick, Rochester, New York, who is prompt and reliable in all his business transactions.

Despite the hard times, and scarcity of negro labor, there seems to be a good sale for first rate mules in this city. Mr. J. K. Murphree has sold quite a number, during the past week, out of his fine drove.

Mr. A. J. Bethune, the new proprietor of the Troy Hotel, has handsomely refurnished and much improved this old and well-known public house, and is now fully prepared to accommodate regular boarders or transient guests.

If country merchants and druggists want the best, safest and cheapest Kerosene Oil, they should order from Major C. J. Moffett, the well-known Columbus druggist, who always keeps a full supply on hand for the country trade.

We received a call, on Wednesday, from Hon. W. C. Menefee, District Deputy, who reports having met with the most gratifying success during his recent tour through Butler county, where he organized quite a number of Granges.

Solid Gold Rings and Jewelry made to order, and work warranted, by CREWS.

Mr. J. W. Satcher, the energetic Tax Assessor of this county, started out on his annual tour, on Monday last, for the purpose of assessing taxes for the present year. His appointments are officially announced in the advertising columns.

The Daily Graphic is one of the leading newspapers of New York city. It is the only illustrated daily paper in the world. Besides its handsome pictures, it has a large amount of news and political matter. Subscriptions will be received at this office. Price one dollar per month, or twelve dollars a year.

We regret that we were absent from the city on Friday last, which prevented us from accepting the invitation of Misses Mittie Murphree, Hattie Jones, Mollie Roberts and Ida Wiley to attend a Social Party at the residence of Mr. James K. Murphree, which was a happy occasion for the young folks.

The passenger train of Monday, on the Mobile and Girard Railroad, did not reach this city until about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, owing to an accident to the engine near Hurtville, which rendered it necessary to send to Columbus for another locomotive. By this prompt action, the train left here for Columbus on time on Tuesday morning.

Messrs. Allen, Preer & Illges, Fontaine Warehouse, Columbus, under date of Feb. 3, report that market dull, strict middling 14 1/2, low middling 13 1/2, Liverpool dull, futures easy, and New York market nominal, middling 15 1/2, low middling 15. No report from Montgomery market.

Watch movements, repaired, and cases plated to look as well as solid gold, by W. A. CREWS.

Mr. M. L. Ansley, formerly of the Mobile and Girard Railroad, is now Supervisor of the Montgomery and Enola Railroad, and under the personal direction of Col. Dunham he has succeeded in putting the track of that road in better condition than it has been in for years. Running, as this road does, through a wet prairie country, it is a very difficult matter to keep certain portions of the track always in the best condition.

We are glad to see that our citizens are making unusual preparations for gardening the present year. As we remarked in a recent issue, a good garden, well cultivated, is one of the surest means of practicing economy at home, as it will go a great way in the support of a family. There is no excuse for lack of variety in garden produce, as Messrs. Goldsmith & Son have a splendid assortment of the best garden seeds for this section, the prices of which are within the reach of all classes.

"PATRONS, PLOW DEEP!"

SIDNEY HERBERT, Editor.

Items For Granges.

The Georgia State Agricultural Society will hold its semi-annual session at Columbus on the 10th of this month.

Col. Robert McKee, of the Southern Argus, Selma, has been elected Secretary of the Dallas County Council, recently organized.

A Grange was recently organized at Bell's School House, near Clayton; T. A. Hightower, Master; Thomas E. Warren, Secretary.

Messrs. Wittich & Kinsel, of Columbus, will furnish handsome silver Grange Badges for seventy-five cents, and gold ones at three dollars each.

Gen. E. M. Law, the popular Secretary of the State Grange, recently installed the newly elected officers of the Capital City Grange, of Montgomery, and delivered a brief address.

The Enquirer of last Friday says: Columbus cotton receipts are now 49,896 bales, 2618 more than last year to same date. It will receive for the season between 58,000 and 60,000 bales.

Junius Henri Browne says "to quarrel with a woman over night is to invite the devil to breakfast with you next morning." The moral of which is, or ought to be: Never quarrel with a woman!

Col. Charles A. Peabody, Master of the Grange at Smith's Station, and a well-known planter of Lee county, Ala., has become editor of the agricultural department of the Columbus Enquirer.

The Boston Post, in allusion to the late remark of Gen. Grant, that the Republican party was carrying too much weight and ought to unload, says that the quickest way to do that is for the President to jump off.

Mrs. Burnham, of the St. Louis Republican, says: "Economy must come in somewhere. When ladies wear so much lace and silk about their necks and collars, dress skirts must necessarily be narrow and scant."

Under a resolution of the Capital City Grange, the different Granges in Montgomery county are invited to send delegates to meet in Montgomery on the last Tuesday of this month, being 24th day, for the purpose of forming a County Council.

Pine Level Grange No. 47: A. H. Townsend, Master; J. M. Townsend, Secretary; T. J. Miller, chaplain. This Grange is reported in a prosperous and promising condition, its officers and members stimulating each other by mutual example to good work and increasing zeal.

Hon. W. C. Menefee, the working deputy for the second district, has recently organized Granges as follows:—At Saville, Crenshaw county, O. H. P. Walker, Master, L. S. Knight, Secretary; at Honorville, Crenshaw county, A. Matthews, Master, John S. Mash, Secretary; at Toluca, Butler county, D. C. Roach, Master, C. G. Jones, Secretary.

The Advertiser says the farmers of Montgomery county complain of difficulty in getting both labor and supplies. But notwithstanding all difficulties, these as well as others, the work of preparation for the coming crop is but little more backward than in better and more prosperous times. The energies of these planters are almost wholly unconquerable.

Rutledge Grange No. 278: O. S. Jones, Master; C. C. Davis, Overseer; P. P. Barber, Lecturer; M. J. Carington, Steward; Geo. J. Pope, Assistant Steward; G. W. Thagard, Chaplain; J. H. McGhee, Treasurer; Boykin Owens, Secretary; T. A. Sikes, Gate keeper; Mrs. A. R. Barber, Ceres; Mrs. W. C. McLeod, Pomona; Miss Mollie Scott, Flora; and Mattie Scott, Lady Assistant Steward.

New Providence Grange No. 112: J. M. Horn, Master; S. J. Brunsen, Overseer; J. D. McDugald, Steward; Benj. R. Bricken, Assistant Steward; O. W. Horn, Treasurer; Henry D. Curtis, Secretary; T. A. Cooper, Lecturer; J. H. Jones, Chaplain; Mrs. Henry D. Curtis, Ceres; Mrs. O. W. Horn, Pomona; Mrs. H. K. McDugald, Flora; Miss Alice Wright, Lady Assistant Steward; J. M. Johnson, Gate keeper.

The State Grange of Alabama pays its dues, as follows: All the money up to twenty charter members is retained by the Deputy, except $15 to be sent by him to the National Grange, and $5 to be sent to the State Grange. The amount received from the number of members between twenty and thirty to be equally divided between the Deputy and the Grange organized. Not more than thirty nor less than thirteen can be received as charter members.

The Southern Star of Ozark, says: We are pleased to see an increasing interest manifested in the success of the Patrons of Husbandry in our country. Our best men and women are enlisted in the cause, and making earnest efforts to promote its usefulness and prosperity. From all the several Granges in the county we get the gratifying intelligence of a rapid increase in membership, and very soon we expect to see the entire low country completely captured by the farmers' movement.

"The Farmer's Song."

This song, set to music, is for sale by Messrs. J. W. Pease & Norman, music dealers, of Columbus, is dedicated to Col. D. W. Wyatt Allen, of South Carolina, and published for the Patrons of Husbandry. The words are by Miss Julia Leverett, and the music by C. A. Hall.

From North to South, from East to West, A sturdy band are we, Our acres fair, laid out with care, And flocks and herds we see.

Let nations rage, and kingdoms fall, They soon will be forgotten; The Kings alone whose away we own, Are Corn and Wheat and Cotton.

The bankers rich, and merchants great, May speak with scorn about us; In earth's good cheer, we have our share, And they can't do without us.

The Masons date from Solomon's time Their great antiquity; In Adam we claim an older fame, As Patrons of Husbandry.

Let others seek in dingy mines To gain the yellow ore; Nearth God's own sky our trade we ply, And find an ample store.

The Opelika Observer states that the farmers in the neighborhood of Auburn have sown three times as much wheat this season as they did last. They will also sow more oats and plant more corn. This is the way, gentlemen, to become independent and gain your names from the Book of Conveyance in the Probate Judge's office. We note another fact, that the farmers are reducing the area of land heretofore cultivated. A few acres thoroughly manured and highly cultivated will pay better than five times the quantity half worked and not fertilized.

The Secretary of the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry has issued his report for January, which shows that there is now organized in different parts of the country 10,015 Granges, representing a membership of 750,175. The National Grange was organized in 1869, and during the first year but ten subordinate Granges were organized, but now it has extended to all the States except Delaware and Rhode Island, neither of which is large enough to hold one. The growth of the order latterly has been something remarkable. During the month of December 1,441 Granges were organized with a membership of 208,000, the greater portion being in the South.

At the Georgia State Grange meeting, which was recently held in Atlanta, Mrs. T. J. Smith introduced the following preamble and resolution, which have the true ring in them.—WHEREAS, The depressed condition of the planting interest of our Georgia calls for a radical change in our expenditures as wives and daughters of Patrons; therefore, Resolved, That the sisters of the State Grange, being in sympathy with our husbands, do, for the year eighteen hundred and seventy-four, pledge ourselves to buy nothing for our own use except cotton goods, and that we will use our influence in making calicoes the leading dress among the sisters of the subordinate Granges of Georgia.

If the Patrons of Husbandry are banded together to cheat their creditors, why did the Cornelson Grange, of Calhoun county, adopt the following resolutions: Resolved, That we will pay our mercantile creditors at the earliest day possible, the last farthing that we owe them, and for the future that we will neither ask nor accept credit of them.—Resolved, That we declare ourselves for the future to be, what God intended we should be, an independent, self sustaining people.—Resolved, That no member of this Grange buy, or cause to be bought any "commercial fertilizers" for the year 1874.—Resolved, That we have no more labor on our farms than is absolutely necessary, after using proper efforts in utilizing all our home labor.

Considerable "hue and cry" is raised just now against what are called "middlemen," meaning those distributors of agricultural produce who necessarily come between the producers and consumers. We say necessarily, for the reason that it is quite impossible, from the nature of their circumstances, that the consumer of milk, butter, vegetables, and meat can go to seek the man who produces these, or vice versa. The question then is, Is the middleman overpaid for his services, and does he unjustly tax his clients on either hand? If he is rolling in wealth, there is no monopoly enjoyed by him which any man is not privileged to share, and the fact that the business does not offer any attractions sufficient to induce a large increase of middlemen may be taken as a proof that they are not guilty, to any great extent, of extortion or injustice.

In five crops out of the last six the amounts delivered at the ports to March 17th, average 72 1/2-100 per cent. of the total crop as made up at the end of the year, and including the overland arrivals and Southern consumption. The greatest variation for the five years from that average is less than one per cent. If the receipts equal 1870-1 we will have on March 17th 8,312,081, or 73 per cent. of a crop of 8,537,100 bales. If they equal 1872-3, the total to March 17 will be 8,036,425, or 73 per cent. of a crop of 4,226,600 bales. Of the six crops, that of 1871-2 is an exception, the receipts showing on March 17th 78 per cent. of the crop, the crop will be 4,102,600. If they equal 1872-3 we will have a crop of 3,955,600. So taking the past six years as a test, the crop will range somewhere between 3,957,100 and 4,226,600—a pretty wide difference.

Montgomery & Enola Railroad.

Riding over the Montgomery and Enola Railroad, on Friday last, we were surprised to find the track in such good order, and enjoyed a most comfortable trip to the capital city. Col. B. Dunham, the energetic and experienced Superintendent, has accomplished wonders for this road during the past year. Although heavily in debt, and deprived of several of its engines, he has kept its rolling stock busily employed, and made constant improvements in every department under his control. With "economy" for his motto, he has made the most of every means promoting the best interests of the road, and at the same time has given the passengers and freight customers every advantage that the revenue of the company would allow. Having been connected with the early history of the road, and practiced the most rigid economy in the construction of a large portion of it between Montgomery and Union Springs, Col. Dunham is just the man to control its affairs in the present critical period of its existence. By the selection of trusty and competent officials, and the discharge of all who were not absolutely required for active service, he has largely reduced the expenses of the company, and yet increased the real working power of its officials and laborers. It is due him, therefore, that credit should be given him for his efficient labors, the more so because he has not sought newspaper notoriety, but has faithfully and efficiently served a hard-pressed and bankrupt corporation.
