COUNTRY LIFE.

Far from the city's dust and din,
Its tumult and its strife,
We pass the rational employ
A quiet country life.
We have all needed blessing given,
The precious boon of health,
A never wavering trust in God,
To us the surest wealth.

When winter's stern, and rude, and cold,
Puts on his crystal crown,
And nigh his icy scepter's sway
The fields lie bare and brown,
We gather at the evening fire,
To talk of olden days,
Our clear wood-fire burns bright and high,
The tempests rudely blow.

And when the genial spring returns,
Her warm and balmy breath
Resuscitates the sleeping flowers,
That seemed entombed in death,
And with her fairy wand brings forth
The orchard's snowy bloom,
Old Nature's offered coronet,
Of dew-dimmed perfume.

Then comes the summer with her robes
Of soft and changing green,
Burdens beneath her wealth of gifts
She seems a royal queen,
Her twilight hours are near to us,
Her sunset's purple haze,
The night-bird's song among the hills,
That ends the day with praise!

And when chaste, sober autumn comes
With sad, averted face,
She bids within our grateful hearts
Her old autumnal place,
We love her fading tints of red,
The splendor of her skies,
Her low winds 'mid the dying woods,
That moan like human sighs!

I love all Nature's glorious things—
The sky, the sea, the land,
For all these noble works of skill,
Were made by His hand,
I love the calm and even flow
Of my sweet country life,
Content to live, content to die,
An honest farmer's wife!

The man who won't pay his debts is too tight to steal.

A fox should not be on the jury at a goose's trial.

A country without fair women would simply be stagnation.

The greatest friend of truth is time;
her greatest enemy is prejudice, and her confidant is humility.

An Indian's father shot six times at a supposed burglar, and was astonished to hear the fellow ask, "Whizzer muzzer, fuzzer? Whizzer doing?"

There are young men who cannot hold a skin of yam for their mothers without whining, but will hold one hundred and twenty-five pounds of a neighborly family for the best part of a night with patience and docility that are certainly phenomenal.

We waited for Walter, and we've got him.

And he's got the essence, dod-dot
him.

CHANGES OF A CENTURY.—The 19th century has witnessed many great discoveries.

In 1809 Fulton took out the first patent for the invention of the steamboat.

The first public application to practice the use of gas for illumination was made in 1802.

In 1812 the streets of London were for the first time lighted with gas.

In 1813 there was built, at Waltham, Mass., a mill, believed to have been the first in the world, which combined all the requisites for making finished cloth out of raw cotton.

In 1790 there were only 25 postoffices in the whole country, and up to 1837 the rates of postage was 25 cents for a letter sent over 400 miles.

In 1807 wooden clocks commenced to be made by machinery. This ushered in the era of cheap clocks.

About the year 1833 the first railroad of any considerable length in the United States was constructed.

In 1840 the first experiment in photography was made in Paris by Dag-uerre.

About 1840 the first express business was established by Harnden.

The anthracite coal business may be said to have begun in 1820.

In 1836 the first patent for the invention of matches was granted.

In 1845 the first telegram was sent.
Steel pens were introduced for use in 1808.

The first successful reaper was constructed in 1833.

In 1846 Elias Howe obtained a patent for his sewing machine.

The first successful method of vulcanizing India rubber was patented in 1830.

Bottlebury of Camden will never give into the creek to save another woman from drowning. He saw a redhead girl named Sparks tumble in the other day off a boat, and he is anticipating in after her, caught her by her dress, and swam to the shore with her. As soon as they were on dry land Miss Sparks gave a hysterical scream, flung her arms about Bottle-bury's neck and fainted. Just then the father came up, with the rest of the family, and perceiving the situation, he dashed up to Bottlebury, grasped his hand, and said: "Take 'here' my boy;
take 'here'! It is hard to give her up, but she is yours. Bless you, my children—bless you! Then Mrs. Sparks cried, and said she hoped Harriet would be happy. The little Sparks manifested their emotion by climbing up Bottle-bury's legs and pulling his coat tails.
Then Harriet came to, and laying her head on his shoulder, whispered: "Kiss me, darling." Bottlebury, amazed, and indignantly tore himself away and fled. He was arrested that afternoon on charge of breach of promise, and on the trial the jury gave the broken hearted Miss Sparks $200 damages. Bot-tebury has intimated to his confident friends that if any other "warmhearted" woman intends to fall overboard near him she will find it to his advantage to board his swim.

Bulwer says that poverty is only an idea, in the cases out of the. Some men with ten thousand dollars a year suffer more want of means than others with three hundred. The real one is, the richer man has artificial wants. His income is ten thousand, and he suffers enough from being denied for unpaid debts to kill a sensitive man. A man who earns a dollar a day, and who does not live in debt is the happier of the two. Very few people who have never been rich will believe this, but it is true. There are thousands and thousands with princely incomes who never knew a moment's peace, because they live beyond their means. There is really more happiness in the world among working people than among those who are called rich.

Antauga Citizen.

PRATTVILLE, ALA.

Thursday, May 21, 1874.

Notice.—G. A. Northington, Esq., is our authorized Agent to receive and receipt for notices due us for advertisements and subscriptions.

Probate Notices.—See all new Probate notices in today's paper.

Gov. B. Book.—The June number of this splendid lady's magazine is received, and we find it as good as ever, if not better.

Congress is fixing up another inflation bill, and it is thought that that, too, will be vetoed, if it passes.

The war at Little Rock, Ark., between the Brooks and Baxter factions, has ceased, the Legislature declaring that Baxter is the lawful Governor. Brooks and his crowd have dispersed for their homes and Baxter occupies the gubernatorial seat. Everything is now quiet and serene at Little Rock.

We would advise our citizens to keep their horses well protected at night. Horse thieves are in our midst and on the alert, and it would be well to be on the lookout. Keep your guns well loaded with buckshot, and shoot the scoundrels if you catch them tampering with your horses.

SHULMAN, GOETTER & WEIL.—Read their notice, in today's paper, concerning the bargains in dry goods they are now offering to the public. If you desire to make a little money go a long way, don't fail to call on Shulman, Goetter & Weil, No. 5 Court Square, Montgomery.

BEEF.—Mr. J. L. McQueen is now furnishing the people of Prattville with nice, fat beef, every other day, at prices to suit the hard times. He is determined to keep this market constantly supplied with good meats, and we hope our citizens will patronize him liberally. He will bring in nicely butchered beef on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

We regret to learn that the northern editors could not find it convenient to accept the invitation of our citizens to visit Prattville. After visiting Birmingham and the coal and iron mines adjacent, they then went to Tuscaloosa, from there to Selma, and will be in Montgomery Friday, and remain there until Sunday morning. We learn that they are astounded at the wonderful resources of Alabama.

POLLAK & CO.—This clever and enterprising firm, at the Dollar Store, Montgomery, are now receiving a new and desirable stock of dry goods, of every description, which they are selling at unheard of low prices. Read their new advertisement in today's paper, and don't fail to call at the Dollar Store when you visit the city.

TERrible CALAMITY.—A few days ago, a reservoir at Williamsburg, Massachusetts, gave way, precipitating the vast mass of water it contained three miles down a steep and narrow valley into the living manufacturing village of Williamsburg, and thence further down the valley through the villages of Haverhill, Leeds and Florence into the Northampton meadows, where the stream emptied into the Connecticut river, the huge torrent dashing into Williamsburg with resistless power, swept away in a moment, manufacturing establishments and a number of dwellings, causing an enormous destruction of property, and a terrible loss of human life. The lower villages suffered only the less awfully. The latest figures of the loss of life make a total of one hundred and forty-four, divided as follows, between three places: Williamsburg 60, Leeds 49, Haverhill 35. These figures only represent persons whose loss is positively known, though the bodies of all are not yet recovered. Bodies are constantly being found, and those of persons who were not supposed to be lost, so that it seems perfectly safe to say that the total loss of life will exceed one hundred and fifty, if indeed it does not more nearly approach two hundred.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Among the immigrants arriving in this country in 1873 were 403 clergy-men, 397 teachers and 505 musicians.

A lie begets a lie until they come to generations.

The late Mrs. Charles Sumner is now Miss Alice Mason, her petition for restoration to her maiden name having been granted by the court.

The river is now within its banks again, and with very fair prospects of remaining so for some time.

The cotton factories at Columbus, Ga., pay to their operatives about $12,000 every two weeks, $25,000 each month, $150,000 each year.

The Wheeling Intelligencer says that years of prosperity will bury in oblivion the last vestige of sectional feeling between North and South.

A St. Johnsville man, on his dying bed, remembered that his wife was smoking hams, and he said, "Now, Henrietta, don't you go snuffling around at a dog's house."

Andy Johnson in his recent Nashville speech discussed a plan of electing a President and Vice-President of the United States directly by the people.

It is said that "John Brown" and "Tramp, tramp," were the favorite songs sung by the British soldiers when on the march in the Ashantee war.

The Congressional friends of the cheap transportation movement have abandoned all hope of any direct legislation at this session.

We understand another petition of a large New York creditor has been presented to the bankrupt court against the Tallahassee factory.

The Selma, Rome and Dalton railroad is not to be sold on the 30th of June, as advertised. The case has been appealed to the Supreme Court.

The Senate committee on Indian affairs have reported a bill making provision for Indians becoming citizens of the United States, under the fourteenth and fifteenth constitutional amendments.

A bill has been introduced in the Connecticut legislature, providing for the political enfranchisement of all women who pay taxes, and the prospects of its passage are said to be excellent.

Ten years hence the Southern rivers will be dotted with manufacturing like the rivers of New England, and fringed with towns swarming with honest, industrious opera-ives.

One hundred Catholic pilgrims sailed from New York for Rome. They take three hundred thousand dollars as offerings to the Pope.

A child has been born in Illinois with three separate arms, all perfectly developed. If they were legs, what a baseballer he would make—on "the home run."

The Kheive of Egypt has two pigmies found in Central Africa. They are supposed to belong to the race mentioned by Herodotus. The tallest is forty inches high. They are bright and active, though puny specimens of the human family.

Mr. Simpson, one of the proprietors of Bradford Factory, near Kellyville, Coosa county, reports the cotton as somewhat damaged by the freshets and cold weather. His factory is running on full time and doing well.

A Mrs. Barley who died at Winchester, Va., about a week ago at the age of 93, was the mother of twenty-one children. If there were the same grain as their parents there must be quite a growing crop out there.

The copper mine excitement, which was recently inaugurated in Carrollton, Ga., still continues with unabated fervor. Several wagons of ore passed through that town last week on their way to the station. The newly discovered mine is twenty-eight miles from the county line.

Convicts.—We would kindly suggest to those who have convicts employed, to keep them confined at night, and not suffer them to roam the country at large and steal everything they can put their hands on, from a horse to a chicken. If a convict is permitted to go where he pleases at night, it is no punishment at all, and the law and justice are totally perverted. We hope our Commissioner's Court will look into this matter, and require all persons hiring convicts to keep them closely confined at night. It is an outrage to turn them loose upon the community.

Our friends, W. W. Screws, of the Advertiser, and J. B. Bingham, of the Journal, had a set to on Sunday morning last. The fight lasted several minutes, when the combatants were separated. Screws is not much hurt, and we don't suppose the other man is seriously injured.

SUPREME COURT.—The June Term of the Supreme Court of Alabama will convene on the first Monday in June. The business of the third division, composed of the counties of Autauga, Butler, Conecuh, Ecambia, Lowndes and Montgomery, commences on Monday, the 15th day of June, and continues one week.

Col. Forney, writing of the Centennial defeat, says: "The truth is, that more than half of the present House of Representatives is mastered by fear of its constituents, and this constituency, in turn has been en-bittered by the newspapers. Never before have I been more impressed by the power of American journalism, than in my recent experience."

A lecturer estimates that it costs under the most favorable circumstances $3,000 to raise a boy until he reaches the age of sixteen years. If these figures are approximately correct, the investment in the many instances is a good waste of capital. An editor feelingly remarks that he knows some boys who would not bring six bits a dozen in a booming market.

Shulman, Goetter & Weil's
