Choctaw Herald.

Thursday, March 26, 1874.

To Whom it May Concern.

In order to protect our business, and sustain our business, we are compelled to establish the following

RULE:

Hereafter no 'Legal Advertisement' will be inserted in the HERALD unless accompanied by the CASH; or by such guaranty of prompt payment, as will be satisfactory to us.

M. L. Yeatman.

We disavow, in adopting this rule, any personal thrust. We base it upon the broad principle that "the laborer is worthy of his hire," and to prove that we have not adopted this system too soon, we can only refer to our Books, which we think would satisfy any reasonable man. If persons who are interested in Estates are not willing to advance the amount due for publication, how can they ask us, who have no interest in the matter, to do their work on a credit? Without we can get that which we work for, we cannot carry on our business. We have reduced our rates to the lowest living prices.

Two Dollars and Fifty Cents

This is the price to which we have reduced the subscription rates of the HERALD for the year 1874. We have done this in order that it might be within the reach of every man and woman in the county. In reducing our rates we will be compelled to require the cash for all subscriptions. No name will be placed upon our subscription book until paid for. Persons finding their paper discontinued will know that their time has run out.

For Probate Judge.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHOCTAW COUNTY. I am a candidate for the office of Probate Judge, Election 3d day of November next. I respectfully solicit your suffrages.

B. H. WARREN.

For County Treasurer.

The friends of JAMES BRASWELL announce his name as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer for this County Election next November.

MANY VOTERS.

For Collector.

We are authorized to announce the name of J. W. HURST, as a candidate for the office of Tax Collector for Choctaw County, Election next November.

We are authorized to announce the name of O. H. WATSON as a candidate for the office of Tax Collector for Choctaw County, Election next November.

County Superintendent.

We are authorized to announce J. J. Altman as a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Education for Choctaw County, Election in November.

For shall you buy more goods for less money at Abney's than any house in town?

The devil got among a lot of wild turkeys one morning last week, and succeeded in killing an enormous gobbler. "Thud" says he intends to kill another turkey next week and send it to his sweetheart. Look out!

Butler has been uncommonly dull during the past week—so dull that we have not been able to find a single local item of any importance. Why don't somebody stir up a fight, or do something else that will afford the occasion for an interesting local item?

The place to get the worth of your money, is at the store of A. Abney.

We received an acceptable present the other day, in the shape of an old fashioned top hat. The senior editor and our popular candidate for Superintendent have our warmest thanks for their timely gift. We of course accept it as a slight manifestation of their undying affection.

Madam rumor says that a particular friend of ours, who does not live exceeding four miles from Butler, contemplates the immediate formation of a life partnership with a young lady who is now resident in a neighboring State, and that we will be called upon to witness the transaction. Hurra, old fellow, we are all impatient.

Every body is trying to save. This you can do, by buying your goods of A. Abney.

While out hunting one morning last week, a Mr. Logan who lives in the southern portion of this county, shot and killed a huge gobbler, and before he could secure his game, a wild cat appeared upon the scene, and seizing the turkey, attempted to carry it off. Mr. Logan was determined, however, that his prize should not be "gobbled up" in that way, without an effort on

Affray.—An interesting little fight occurred in one of our dry goods stores the other day, between a white man and a colored individual, in which the latter came off second best. It seems that the negro, Daniel Abney, had been imitating the ardent pretty freely, and entering the store approached Mr. W. in a regular social equality style. The latter, not liking such "conducts as these," told Daniel, to "dry up." But Dan, so far from drying up, intimidated his willingness to engage in a little pugilistic amusement; whereupon W. took up a mallet and went for that darky in a manner that, to say the least, was very striking. Dan, is said to be an insolent negro, and we presume he did not receive a lick amiss.

While very desirous that the Democratic party shall be thoroughly organized for the next campaign, we are opposed to unnecessary haste. The election will be held in November, and there is ample time in which to prepare for the contest. Planning work generally suffers during the excitement of a political canvass. Let us in this county, at least, not stir up an excitement before there is a necessity for it. We believe in short campaigns, and regret that the holding of a State Convention was not set for a later day.

The above from the Livingston Journal is exactly in accordance with our sentiments. The editor of the Journal is always alive to the interests of Sumter, and his views are almost invariably correct.

We earnestly hope that no premature action will be taken by the people of this County, for there is abundant time in which to prepare for the election.

Anecdote of Webster

When Daniel Webster had reached the very topmost height of his fame, after his great speech in reply to Col. Hayne, of South Carolina—the speech commonly known as his "Constitutional Speech"—he paid a visit to his old home in New Hampshire, the neighborhood of his boyhood years and his first manly aspirations and struggles. A well known citizen was his companion. After going up the rough mountain roads for a good long while, Webster pointed out the narrowness of the old parental roof tree. "There," said he, "is neighbor Jones." "There," said he, "is there our old neighbor Jones. I'll stop and talk with him, and see if he knows me." So Mr. Webster got out of the wagon and walked on a road. Soon he met the old man Jones, and "passed the time of day" as they say in good, rural New England. Webster walked lazily, loiteringly along the road, and finally turning, said to the old reamed, gnarled, rugged old farmer: "Wasn't there a fammy named Webster once living near you? I knew something of a family of that name said to live in these parts."

"Why, yes," said Jones, "Webster, yes our old neighbor. He had two likely boys, Lee and Zeke; and then there was—what's his name—Oh, Dan!—Dan! Webster." And the Daniel, leaning on the fence, engaged in a long talk with the farmer about the Webster family—a talk quite unnecessary to produce here. The farmer was very enthusiastic about Ezekiel Webster. It should be remembered, was a young man of rare promise—of even greater promise than his brother, as we believe the latter admitted in ripper years. He died when but a young man. The farmer could not say too much in praise of Ezekiel, to all of which of course Daniel Webster listened with boundless satisfaction. But finally the latter said: "What became of the other brother—Daniel?"

"Oh, I don't know," said Farmer Jones. "He went away, and I had ever a kind of a lawyer down in Boston."—M. F., in Golden Age.

A Nebraska journal says invitingly: "Woh says that farmers cannot get rich in this State. Fifty years ago a young man came to this State without a dollar in the world. Last week he went out of the State carrying with him the sum of fifteen hundred and thirty eight cents, the saving of fifteen years of frugal life. Come West, young men, come West."

Select Poetry.

BY MARY ASHLEY TOWNSEND (XANTHA).

I believe, if I should die,
And you should kiss my eyelids when I lie Cold, dead, and dumb to all the world containing.

The folded orb would open at thy breath,
And from its exile in the lair of Death, Life would come gladly back, alighting my seins.

I believe, if I were dead,
And you upon my lifeless heart should tread,
Not knowing what the poor cold clau-sured to be,

It would find sudden pulse beneath the touch
Of him it ever loved in life so much,
And thro' again warm, tender, true to thee

I believe, if on my grave,
Hidden in woody depths or by the wave,
Your eyes should drop some warm tears
of regret,

From every aching seed of your dear grief
Some fair, sweet blossom would leap into leaf

To prove death could not make my love forget.

I believe, if I should fade Into these mystic realms where light is made,

And if you should long once more my face to see,
I would come forth upon the hills, if night,
And gather stars like fragrant, till thy sight,
Led by their beauteous blaze, fell full on me

I believe my faith in thee, Strong as my life, so nobly placed to be,
I would as soon expect to see the sun
Fair like a dead king from his high sublime.

His glory strikes from the throne of Time,
As these unworth the worship thou hast won.

I believe who has not loved
Lies half the treasure of his life unproved;
Like one who, with the grapes within his grasp,

Drops it with all its crimson juice unpressed
And all its luscious sweetness left unpressed
Out from his careless and unheeding clasp.

I believe love, pure and true,
Is to the soul a sweet, immortal dew.
That gems life's petals in its hours of dark;

The waiting angels see and recognize
The rich crown jewel Love, if paid so.
Whose life falls from us like a withered blossom.

Whited Sepulchers.

The St. Louis Republic, discussing Simmons and Massachusetts, has these pointed, and, in the main, sensible remarks:

"Massachusetts is like the ancient female described in the nursery story, who didn't care what happened so long as it didn't happen to her." When Butler was ruling New Orleans with a rod of iron, and covering the American name and nation with ineffable disgrace, Massachusetts thought it was all right, and applauded him to the echo. But when Butler ventures to ascend at the gubernatorial chair, and wants to get his undertrappers and wire-pullers in comfortable position for working in his behalf, then Massachusetts rises upon her tiptoes and shrieks forth vituperation like a crazy fishwoman.

When Northern carpet-bag-gers of the Kellogg and Scott stripe are forced upon the helpless people of the Southern States by federal law, and fed individual bayonets, Massachusetts lends her voice and her vote to a system which is literally the sum of all iniquities. But when a disgraceful person is nominated for the sum of all iniquities, then Massachusetts is almost ready to get up a little rebellion of her own and establish a selfish confederacy.

When the rest of the country is lamenting the pernicious results of presidential weakness and favoritism, Massachusetts smiles serenely at influences which have not changed to bit either her pride or her pocket. But when the President is weak enough to yield to Butler, and substitute enough to eling to Butler's favorite, then Massachusetts excommunicates him with bell, book and candle, and sits in seclusion and w-h-a because the Government is going to smash.

We have not an atom of sympathy for the Republic of Massachusetts in this their day of trial and tribulation. In fact, we are rather disposed to "laugh at their calamity and mock when their hour cometh."

The cup they have commended to the lips of others is now pressed to their own reluctant lips, and we shall not be sorry if they are obliged to drain it to the very dregs.

On side of massachusetts no tears will be shed if Simmons is made Collector of Boston, and if next year Butler "turns up trumps" and wins the gubernatorial game.

(If Grant and Butlerism Massachusetts is justly entitled to the heaviest dose that can be crammed down her throat.

The "Republican" of Montgomery, assaults a ex and r W. H. H. backing Democratic and low R. H. H. in the name of Congress, 5 cts. on the text of some of the old proslavery speeches. "Service here right for being in bad company. The same J. H. H. and Robert L. G. H. H. the enemy of H. H. H. and F. H. H. who says from the boundary of his legal jurisdiction to feed in other measures. If a carpet bag association have ought him the bad Yankee trick of property over into his neighbor's garden and wedding with things that don't belong to him. Ditto Judge H. H. H. for Congressman at large, and James L. Rapier, H.
