Heavy rain night before last.
Several important cases tried last week.

The river out of banks, and still rising.
Hon. W. C. Sherrod, of Lawrence county, in town last week.

A number of litigants and witnesses were prevented from attending court by high water.

Several capital cases set for trial to-day.

The case of Lauenstein vs. Cullman was concluded last Monday, verdict for the plaintiff.

Perry P. Powell, a good and true man, announces himself for Tax Assessor in this issue.

The District meeting will be held at Oakland, beginning on Friday the 24th inst. Bishop Paine is expected.

Since Court began several of our friends from the country have called on us and paid their subscription. To others we would say "come then, and do likewise."

Montgomery is in mourning over the loss of a favorite dog—Shoo Tick by name. He was so called because of his fondness for shoe tacks, steel pens, &c. An iron-tail dog that.

Blackwood's Magazine for April is a capital number. "The Two Sparrows" is continued from a former number. "Disorder in Dreamland," also continued, is intensely interesting. "Mr. Gladstone's night attack" is valuable as giving one phase of that man's character. The reprint can be had of L. Scott Publishing Co., N. Y.

It has been decided that no portrait can be placed upon any of the bonds, notes, or currency of the country while the original of the portrait is living.

What a pity! would not "our Judge" do the handsome on our county bonds, though? May he soon be qualified for the portrait gallery. As some one has feelingly said, "may the Lord take liking to him."

Read communication of C. F. Carson in another column. It has the ring of the true metal about it. It manifests a regard for the public welfare which we commend to all aspirants for county offices. Old Lauderdale has no better or truer man than C. F. Carson.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the announcement of Hon. J. S. Clarke, for re-election to the office he now holds. As a Circuit Judge, Judge C. is second to none in this county. He is a sound lawyer, and a man of irreproachable character. The promptness and impartiality with which he has discharged his duties for the past six years, have won for him the respect and admiration of the bar and people. With such men as Judge Clarke in office the people have nothing to fear.

The 26th inst., is the day set apart in most of our southern cities as "Decoration Day." On that day, the "fair women and brave men" of the southern land pay a public tribute to the "loved and lost."

The custom has not been observed among us in other places. Why is it? It cannot be that our people feel less interest than those of other sections. Nor is it because we have no graves to decorate. Will not some of our young ladies take a step in this matter? As the 26th will fall on Sunday we suggest Saturday the 25th as a suitable day.

The University of Alabama.
In the prejudices against the University, engendered by the mismanagement of its finances in the early part of its history, Col. Taylor, of the Tusculosa Times, finds one of the reasons of the present limited success of that institute. He finds another, and a more potent one in the uncertainty of a tenure of office, on the part of its faculty.

Col. Lee Randall.
Last week we had the pleasure of meeting this distinguished gentleman. He visited our place in the interest of the New York Graphic. The Daily Graphic, the only illustrated daily in the world, has just completed its first year. Notwithstanding the fact that journalists throughout the country discouraged the project, its success has not a parallel in the annals of journalism. Devoted to the dissemination of news, nothing of interest occurs at home or abroad without finding its way to the columns of the daily Graphic. Price $12 per annum.

A short time ago, to supply a felt want in the land, the company started the weekly Graphic, a paper devoted exclusively to literary topics. Price, $2 50 per annum.

Subscriptions for either of the above papers may be left at this office.

We are glad to see that Mr. Morrison has resumed work on the Masonic Hall and Market House building.

We notice many of our friends from the country in town to-day. They have been summoned as Special Jurors in the capital cases on the docket.

The case of the State vs. G. W. Paine, for the killing of Eddie Smith, will come up to-day.

Among the Lawyers in attendance upon Circuit Court, during this and last week, we notice the Messrs. Coopers, Col. F. G. Norman, J. B. Moore and James Jackson, all of Tusculum.

Col. O'Neal's speech in the case of Lauenstein vs. Cullman is considered by all as one of his best efforts.

See Dr. Rowell's advertisement headed "Twenty Dollars Reward."

We are glad to see that Dr. James Brock has refitted the old Fan Yard at Stewart's Spring, and gone into the business in earnest. By a new process, he is able to turn out a very superior quality of Leather in an incredibly short time. We consider his plan a decided "improvement on the old way."

We understand that seven cases came before the jury during last week. "On what a rapid scale are things done in this country."

From our country friends we learn that the farming interest is much behind this spring. "This is due to the unusual amount of rain we have had."

Capt. Lee Howell, of the steamer Dick Johnson, has been spending a few days with his family.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.

To the Hon. JAMES S. CLARKE, Judge of the Circuit Court:
We the Grand Jury of Lauderdale county, Ala., for the April term of the Circuit Court, 1874, would respectfully report to your Honor, that we have diligently inquired and true presentments made of all offenses that have come to our knowledge in the county of Lauderdale; and that we have made a personal inspection of the Jail which is being rebuilt after the misfortune of burning, which is being erected with very substantial material, and we think will be finished at an early day; and that we have also examined into the condition of the County Treasury, which we find to be in a safe condition, and we append to this report, an accurate statement of the indebtedness of the county, for which we are obliged to the County Treasurer, and which reads as follows:

OFFICE OF COUNTY TREASURER, Florence, Ala., April 11, '74.
To the Honorable Grand Jury of Lauderdale County, Alabama, Spring Term, 1874:

GENTLEMEN:—I beg, at your request, to report the indebtedness of our county, at the present time, as follows:

Old Bonds outstanding.....$8,050 00
Floating debt (registered).....7,340 48
New Bonds.....10,000 00

Total.....$25,390 48
Respectfully submitted,
THOS. R. POWERS,
County Treasurer.

We find also, that the county indebtedness has been materially reduced.

duced. Also, find the Bonds of all public Officers in the county, good and sufficient; and we have performed all the duties incumbent upon us, under the charge of your Honor. We have also examined the Books and Records of the Probate Court, and find them very neatly kept, and in good condition.

We must be permitted to congratulate your Honor for the able and energetic manner which your Honor and our Solicitor, W. J. Wood, have so ably discharged the duties of your positions. All of which is respectfully submitted.

The Grand Jury further report that high waters prevented the examination of a few witnesses, subpoenaed to appear before them; they have been, therefore, obliged to pass over some cases of misdemeanors, and have advised and recommended the Solicitor to prosecute cases of misdemeanors in the County Court.

Having discharged our duties as required under the charge of the Court, in accordance with the statutes of Alabama, we ask to be discharged.

A. W. OLIVER,
Foreman of Grand Jury.

Since our last issue, the steamers Dick Johnson, Red Cloud, and Rapidan, No. 2, have been at the wharf. The Anna is expected tomorrow.

The river is said to be rising rapidly.

The "Darwin" is the latest style of evening collars for gentlemen who "ape" the fashion plates.

A gentleman has two canaries which he calls "Wheeler" and "Wilson." His reason for these appellations is, that neither of them are "Singers."

Editors TIMES-JOURNAL:—

Please allow me space in the columns of your paper, to say to the white voters of Lauderdale County, that I, as one of the candidates for Sheriff of said county, do now, and expect to in all time to come, or at least so much of the time as it may please God to allow me on the Earth, to do any and everything that is in my power, in a fair and legitimate way, to prevent a negro from being elected to an office in the County.

You will remember that two years ago, last November, I was beaten for the above-named office, by a highly respected and honorable gentleman, because I went into the Convention; and now for me to be beaten by a negro because I stay out of a Convention, would be cutting me around a little more than I would like to bear. Consequently, I hold myself in perfect willingness to submit to any plan that the white people of Lauderdale County may see proper to adopt.

Very Respectfully,
C. F. CARSON.

Pitman's Phonography.

Pitman's Phonography has hitherto been considered the shortest, most perfect, and rapid system of shorthand writing. It, however, has several and important defects: being difficult to learn on account of its numerous rules, with an array of exceptions to them, and from the fact that several sounds have a multiplicity of signs, which are apt to delay and confuse even an experienced writer, who has to think which form he should use, when he ought to be free from all thought except as to what the speaker is saying. These defects, and the necessity of a more simple and uniform system, have led to the perfection of a new system, known as ENDOGRAPHY, (derived from two Greek words meaning pleasant writing), which is free from all irregularities, and is much easier, and thirty per cent. shorter than Pitman's. The whole principle of this new art may be acquired in a few days—and a month's practice of one hour daily, in reading and writing, will enable any one to use it with facility.

The "MANUAL OF ENDOGRAPHY" is published by Messrs. T. W. EVANS & CO., of Philadelphia, a responsible firm, who will promptly fulfill the offer they make in our advertising columns.

TO YOURSELF.

MIRIAM KIRKLAND.

I love you. Let Fate do her worst! I stand here in full daylight, with uplifted hand. And you by my sweet mother, by the face God took ere sin had smudged its baby-grace. By every hope to which the hours did give breath, That I am yours alone, in life or death.

Time's mercy lets my face seem somewhat fair. And girlhood's sunshine lingers on my hair. But, years ago, my heart's bright youth and trust Turned,—like its idol, into worthless dust. Since then, I've watched the hopeless years drift by Without one thought—without one passing sigh—

For love or friendship. All too well I know That present joy but breeds some future woe. Yet, when your hand clasped mine, in that same hour My slumbering heart aroused itself in power. Awoke the same icy calmness as before.

Suns come and go; moons wax and wane; but yet The glory of one day can never set. While'er the future held, it cannot be Forgotten shall come to you, or me. The heavens shall pass away. The stars shall fall; But I shall love you—love you through it all.

A WORD TO FARMER BOYS

Farmer boys, stay on the farm.—The farmer boy can always have some useful employment for his throat's hands. He need not fear that he will throw away talent, or genius, on the farm,—such things are very rare,—and, as to hard work, the successful, honest farmer works no harder than the successful and honest business man. None need to think on retiring to bed at night, that they will awake in the morning and find riches at the door, patiently waiting to come in and be their servant. Where is the merchant that has not had hard labor, sleepless nights, and his fears concerning the growth of his wealth, and the future provision for his family? Where is the lawyer that has not built his "castles in the air," and seen them, by one keen blast from the opposite counsel, tumble down, like cob houses before a playful kitten?—Where is the author that has not spent hours of hard labor upon a single literary production which he thought would bring him a fortune, but lo! it only brought disappointment and chagrin, by being politely declined or ingloriously ridiculed? According to their perseverance, has been their success! The farmer's case is similar to theirs, with this much added, while he sleeps, or if he should be sick for a short time, his crops and stock are growing into the necessities of life. Not so with city folks; they work hard to "keep up appearances." Should sickness overtake them, their labors must cease, and of course their income must diminish, while their family needs are just as imperative as if income and health were unimpaired.

Farmer-boy, you need not be without pleasures; raise a few early vegetables, or a little patch of corn or potatoes, or pick a few berries, and market them to get something to read—if you can't get as much as you want alone, two or three club together and get papers—not "Ledges," or "Literary Companions," etc., but real newspapers; newspapers that tell of everything, agricultural papers, something that will do to think about. Try it!—(Valentine Sage, in American Farm Journal.)

Ben Butler has been stealing again—stealing telegrams! He kept a clerk whose duty it was to sit within sound of the instruments, listen to the despatches as they came over the wires, and write them out for his employer. O rare Ben Butler.

The Postmaster-General has received a letter from Delta, Ohio, saying: "If you don't get some one to run this 'ere post office purty soon, it'll be throwed into the river, for I'm going off on a bear hunt."

And now the colored sisters are on a temperance crusade! And the drinking saloons will be purified from the fumes of whiskey, and perfumed with "Africa's spicy gale."

SELLING CORN.

Sell no corn in the ear; have all your sell shelled—a hand shelling machine will answer if your crop is a small one—if large, get one to be worked by a horse power; neither will cost a great deal—and we are certain that the cobs, if crushed, steamed and fed to your cattle, will be worth more to you in a single winter than the price of a corn sheller, whether you get a large or a small one. We believe there is one-third as much nutriment in a bushel of grain, and we do know that cows and oxen fed upon three pecks of the steamed or crushed cobs, in addition to their usual quantity of hay, or tops of fodder, will keep fat. Then why haul your cobs to market to be given away? It costs you as much to carry a bushel of cobs to market as it does a bushel of corn. Shell your corn, leave your cobs at home to nourish your cattle, and through them your land; and where you now send one bushel of corn, you will be able to transport two for the same money. Look this subject fairly in the face—consult economy—consult the comfort of your cattle—consult the wants of your soil, and you cannot fail to take our advice.—(American Farmer.)

KILLED HIS MAN

You have doubtless heard of Dr. Thompson, the waggish proprietor of the Atlanta hotel, Atlanta, Ga. Well, once upon a time two gentlemen (the one decidedly under the influence of a spiritual presence, and the other approximating the same condition), stopped at the doctor's hotel. In conversation of some extraordinary manifestations of the "lightest" sort, he soon found himself "nigh unto a muss" with the doctor. His friends, however, carried him off before matters reached a crisis. After stowing him away, the friend returned; and, cooing the proprietor said, "very emphatically:

"Sir, you have been treading upon dangerous grounds, sir; that man is not to be tampered with, sir; do you know, sir, that he has killed his man, sir?"

"Killed his man!" said Thompson, with a voice like a thunder clap, and a most intense expression of contempt upon his phiz; "by Jove! sir, let me inform you that I have practiced medicine for the last twenty years, and you mustn't attempt to frighten me with a chap that has only killed his man. Bahl! sir that won't begin to do."

The fellow collapsed, and forthwith settled his bill.

COAL.

As an evidence that Alabama is moving forward to greatness, we refer the doubtful to the fact that our coal is now creating excitement in Cuba, and the people there pronounce it the best they have used. Several shipments of Alabama coal were made to Havana during the past winter, and the vessels coaling there were anxious to get their supplies from the coal we shipped. By making proper efforts, our coal dealers can make a demand for Alabama coal in all the ports of this country and Europe.—Montgomery Ledger.
