The nearest man in America is the counselor at law for the Society for the reformation of juvenile delinquents in New York City. This society gets $500 from theatres and opera houses by way of license fee. Now the poor little boot-blacks of New York City banded together and gave a sort of theatrical entertainment for the benefit of the sum of $50, and the counsel for the society has written to the "Grand Duke Opera" demanding his $500! Who would not rather be an Albany Ku-klux than such a man?

The Louisville Courier-Journal of Friday last says that it had the honor of a call yesterday from a prominent colored statesman—an ex-State Senator of Mississippi. "How did it happen," we inquired, "during the very able conversation which ensued, that while the entire expenses of your State government in 1868 amounted to but $280,248.04, your public printing alone cost you in 1873 no less than $331,945.66?" "Well, I don't exactly know it is boss," answered this Christian statesman, "but the fact is, down at Jackson, such things as public print'n has riz mousus here lately."

BUTLER'S friends say that SIMMONS' confirmation will secure the BEAST the next gubernatorial nomination in Massachusetts; and others predict that it will be followed by a bolt of the Beacon Street and State Street malcontents, and an entirely new deal in Massachusetts. Whether it will involve SUMNER'S defeat for the Senate remains to be seen; but it is probable that he feels much less secure of the result than he did. But whatever the future, it is certain that the larger portion of the God-fearing and man-hating Republican party of Massachusetts is in a state of rage and wonder at this inexplicable triumph of one who never belonged to its own set. The office is one of great power, and the political result important all through New England.

When the question of confirming SIMMONS was before the United States Senate the Democrats argued among themselves, whether they would gain anything by breaking down BUTLER merely to build up such cruel malignant and unrelenting parasites as BOWEN and the two HOAGS. BUTLER, it was urged, sometimes indulged in the luxury of a liberal account; but his opponents never, even by accident. The threat, by the existing Radical regime in Massachusetts, of a bolt if SIMMONS were confirmed, was not calculated to stimulate Democratic opposition to SIMMONS. In addition to this a number of dispatches were sent by leading New England Democrats all during the day, urging their friends in the Senate to vote for SIMMONS. The result was that most of the Democrats supported the nominee; two or three only voted against him; and one or two failed to vote at all.

SENATOR SCHURZ delivered a fine speech in the Senate not many days ago on the subject of Finance. He opposed inflation and depicted in glowing colors the evils to be apprehended from a "bloated currency." MORRIS, by way of reply, pronounced SCHURZ' arguments "stuffy" and MORRIS was right. It is all "stuffy" to talk about financial schemes of relief when any man of common sense can see that the burdens pressing so heavily upon the country are the necessary consequences of heavy taxes, paid in by the people to be gobbled up by thieves. To give our readers some faint idea of the amount of stealing that is going on in public places, we shall head this column daily with the "latest developments" of theft in official circles—only promising that the detected thieves are to be considered as mere surface indications of undiscovered rogues. The underlying mine will one day come to light, but not until those interested in keeping it undeveloped have been remanded to private stations.

Three preambles to Senator CAMPBELL'S Louisiana bill set forth, (1) that there are no State officers legally elected under the Constitution and laws thereof; (2) that there is no Legislature so elected; (3) that there is no provision in the Constitution or laws of Louisiana for a special election; (4) that the offices above referred to are filled by persons who hold the same by virtue of a canvass of the votes now shown to have been fraudulent and void; (5) that the Legislature now exercising legislative functions in that State was organized in pursuance of illegal orders issued by Judge DURELL; (6) that the proclamation of the President recognizing the existing defunct government, etc., was predicated on a supposed state of facts, since shown to have been false; (7) "that the said pretended legislature is now in session, pretending to enact laws which the said pretended Governor is pretending to approve under which pretended laws it will hereafter be pretended that rights have vested, to the oppression and injury of the people;" and (8) that the public peace in said State is now preserved and can only be preserved by retaining a part of the United States army therein, all of which several facts and allegations are true almost if not quite to the very letter. Congress interfered to create this state of facts and the continued interference of the National Government continues them as facts; yet the Radical organs of the country are now inconsistently holding that to restore the people of Louisiana the rights thus withheld would be an invasion of the rights of that State. How very Conservative to be sure! Truly the Devil can quote scripture for his service.

The Truth in Detail.

In another place we print an elaborate and carefully prepared account of the late Eufaula election fight. We published yesterday, in our State Press column, an account of the part borne by the Eufaula Rifles in quelling the disturbance without further bloodshed. So many false reports have been written, and published, respecting this affair that we have deemed it due the truth of history no less than the fair fame of Eufaula, and the people of the South generally, that the whole of the facts should be published. It is unnecessary to recapitulate the facts in this editorial. They are all embraced in the article on our first page. It is only necessary to say that they show, what we at first suspected and believed to be true, viz: that the evil counsels of unprincipled white Radicals were the seeds, which produced there, as elsewhere, a crop of bloody fruits. We know that it is idle to warn the negroes against such men. Experience is the only school in which they can be taught anything—but they will one day learn, in that, that the white Radical is the worst enemy their race ever had. He is the most insidious—the most calculating—the most thoroughly selfish and therefore necessarily the worst. He is like the chess player who uses either black men or white to win his little game and then tumbles them headlong into some old box until he may need them again. He cares for nothing but self and will hesitate at no means to that general end. He is the offshoot of the ignorance which the negro has brought into Southern politics. This ignorance is unable to discriminate between the false and the true. As a rule it prefers the garish, glittering outlines of the former to the sober, sound realities of the latter. This leads to an inversion of Darwin's theory of Natural selection, in the "survival, or selection, of the fittest;" and Darwin's theory is one of progress this must be one of retrogression. Under conservative white tutelage the ignorance of the black man would not be turned against his own interests, as under the guidance of the white Radical it always is. Under such tutelage he would never be pitched headlong into a ring, like some game cock, heeled and gaffed, to win battles for some gambling politician who stands behind him and watches him bleed and counts the falling drops of blood as so many healing salves to the wounds which his party is everywhere receiving at the hands of an outraged and betrayed country. He would never be induced to vote heavy taxes on white men in the vain belief that he would never have any of them to pay. He would never be taught that the white man was his "bitter enemy" on any account whatever. A better ear would dawn upon the South; and although the "lion and the lamb" might not "lie down together," as one of our enthusiastic contemporaries asserted a few days since, there would be a great calm in Southern politics, and a broad vista of uninterrupted prosperity opened up before the Southern people. If the Eufaula affair shall result in convincing the negro of the folly of giving heed to interested Radical counsels it will not have been fruitless of all good—however much the means of bringing that good into being may be deprecated.

New York Editors Coming to Alabama.

A letter from Mr. H. N. BEACH, chairman of the committee appointed by the last Editorial Association of New York, to arrange for the trip of the Editors of that Association to Alabama, in May next, informs the chairman of the corresponding committee appointed by the Alabama Editorial Association, that active measures are in progress for the excursion. These gentlemen come among us on the invitation of the Press Association of Alabama, to inspect and write up the coal and iron mines, and other resources of the State. It was upon that idea that the invitation was extended and on that it was accepted. They come to give us a helping hand in the work of development. They know that we have been unfortunate since the war; they understand the circumstances which hinder and retard our growth and advancement. The chairman of the Alabama committee met these gentlemen in their association last year and laid these several facts and circumstances before them. They do not expect, therefore, any such tendered ovations as those they tendered the Southern Editors two years ago. Our circumstances

(this disastrous season) would necessarily compel us to discontinue them if they did. They only desire to come and go as a party of visiting friends, and that we shall arrange for their transportation from point to point. Birmingham, has not been determined upon. That matter has been left to the management of the committee appointed on the part of Alabama, who are anxious to receive suggestions on that subject as any individual or corporation may think proper to offer. M. M. COOKE, of this paper, is chairman of the committee, and to him all communications may be addressed.

Let Alabamians Read.

A writer in the Boston Post, for whom the editor vouches, says that in Charleston the city tax is at the rate of $26 to the $1,000; the estate and county tax is $17 to $1,000; and other taxes bring the average rate of taxation up to $47 to the $1,000. Several instances are given where the tax on real estate exceeds the rent, while the average tax is more than one-half. Stores in the best business streets in Charleston built of brick and stone, can be purchased for $2,500 to $3,000 each, but were worth $15,000 to $20,000 before the war. With these facts staring them in the face, it is no wonder that the people appeal to Congress. It remains to be seen what action Congress will take. It would seem as though the power which organized this corruption could disperse it.

"Do You See You Little Cloud?"

When the Prophet ELIJAH cast himself down upon the top of Mount Carmel, and sent his servant to look toward the sea, the servant returned six several times and said there was "nothing." But when he returned for his seventh visit, and said: "Behold, there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like a man's hand," the Prophet said to him: "Go up and tell AHAH to prepare his chariot, and get him down, that the rain stop him now. And it came to pass that the heavens were black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain." Since that hour the "cloud like a man's hand" has been deemed the proper type of dawning hope. A drought, threatening famine, had parched all the lands, and this little cloud put an end to it. A political drought parches our own fair land, and we are all anxiously looking for that "little cloud"—that harbinger of relief—to put an end to it also. We have an AHAH over us—who, like the unjust Judge, fears not God nor regards man. But we have sound reasons for believing that his course is all run and that within another year or two his blood shall follow that of the Southern Naboth, whom he slew for the sake of his vineyard. But the cloud like a man's hand ariseth out of the sea, nigh unto a place called Plymouth Rock, in the heavenly kingdom of Massachusetts. Unlike the cloud which the servant of ELIJAH saw this is like a man's pocket, and, unlike that which the Prince of DEMARK saw, it is like a beast (BUTLER). It grows apace as it rises higher, and unless all signs fall in our weather, we shall speedily have "an abundance of rain."

If we have adopted the serious style of treating the late Massachusetts em-broglio it is not because there are no ludicrous points in it, nor yet because of any desire on our part to put scriptural themes to base uses. But we are treating of "the saints" and the place whereon we stand must needs be hallowed ground. From the whole tenor of their past History we can derive but one conclusion, viz: that the Saints are "too wise to err." But they are now divided, on the question of SIMMONS or no SIMMONS, and we must conclude that both are right. Hence we have now a hope which was never before, because we have two distinct bodies of saints, both right and both at war with each other, on either of which we may drop anchor "both sure and steadfast" with a perfect trust as to the ultimate result. And these saints, or bodies of saints, have each an organ; not the splendid instrument which consecrates Music Hall with its deep-toned melodies, but an organ steam-impeled machine with stops, keys, bellows, pipes, windfalls, stickers, trackers etc., capable of sending forth diaphanous, double diapasons, etc., in harmonious or inharmonious thunders as occasion may demand. Of these the most important is one called the Advertiser, which on the 24th ult. gave forth the following:

"If the President and his flatterers really imagine that the opposition to the evil influences at work in the government is local or personal, they are blind. It is deep, wide-spread, and determined. The diminished majorities in every State election since 1872 are symptomatic. They indicate the current discontent with an administration that makes promises to the ear and breaks them to the hope. To heed these significant warnings would be wise; to despise them is stupid. For five years the talk has been of civil service reform, and now again the most implacable foe of reform is permitted to dictate the removal of the chief national officer in New England, and to fill his place with the most unscrupulous partisan—no regard being paid to the community's judgment of his fitness! And as if to give point to the offense, the occasion is improved by the scribblers who serve General Butler, to proclaim that the change is in accordance with civil service reform rules! The taunt is meant for those who believe in reform; does the President relish it?"

But as if this was not enough the same organ peers forth the following in the ears of the President.

To His Excellency Thymes S. Grant, President of the United States of America: Sir:—For almost twenty years the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has been devoted to the interests of the Republican party, both before and since the rise to power. Nowhere within the United States has loyalty to our party been so steady and loyal support as from its citizens. They have not been fault-finding and impatient. They have seen your administration adopt a policy of federal interference with local affairs which they have disapproved; they have seen the civil service rules disregarded and solemn promises forgotten; they have seen you dismiss from your service men in whom they had confidence, and listen to the counsel of those whom they despised, and still they have remained true to you, believing that in the end you would see the right and the truth, and would justify the confidence they placed in you when they chose you for their President.

And, now, sir, we, the citizens of Massachusetts, would address to you a solemn remonstrance. We do not wish to deal with small local issues, we do not wish to stand on lines or to stoop to discuss party personal jealousies, but we wish to speak in the name of all that is upright and honorable not only in Massachusetts but in the Union.

Sir, you are beset by evil advisers; you are deceived by their representations, and either through a misapprehension of circumstances or a want of knowledge of the sentiment of this nation, you are led to lend your aid to their schemes. Mr. Butler is the man in whose machinations we have now most concern, and him we will take as an example. His aim is to climb into power by means of corrupt uses of the civil service over which you have control. His creatures are given office with the direct, almost avowed object of defrauding the people of their rights to honest government, bribery, corruption, intimidation and lies are the methods employed to attain this end, and how successfully it is attained the history of the past few years leaves no doubt. You, sir, unhappily too, are led by the same evil advisers. Will you allow the name of the party, for whose policy you are responsible, thus to become a by-word of shame?

We, sir, have held our peace too long. We have brought reproach upon ourselves for sitting calmly by and seeing others suffer, and that reproach is deepened, for it is the duty of every citizen to stand up at all times and in all places, regardless of consequences. We have erred from having too strong a faith, but we will no longer. The issue is too broad and deep to be left to the hands of a few men. It is the duty of every citizen to stand up at all times and in all places, regardless of consequences. We have erred from having too strong a faith, but we will no longer. The issue is too broad and deep to be left to the hands of a few men. It is the duty of every citizen to stand up at all times and in all places, regardless of consequences.

The great party which you lead was designed for higher aims than to pandor to the ambition of unscrupulous politicians. Properly led, it has still the noblest of motives, and the noblest of reforms of those abuses which are now this country's shame, and in the conduct of those measures of public policy which lie after year neglect and forgetfulness; led as it now is, it has only a future of bitter disaster and disgrace to you, to us, and to the nation. The moment now seems at hand when a decision can no longer be postponed; and we hope, sir, and trust that you will have the courage to do what is right, and to stand up for the principles of the American people.

But it will all do no good. BUTLER triumphed and SIMMONS was appointed. What note will the organ strike next? Nous verrons.

Demoralized Condition of North Carolina.

Senator Ransom, who has just returned from a visit to North Carolina, reports the condition of the State, so far as the agricultural and cotton industry is concerned, as being demoralized. He says that the cotton crop will be large the prices will be low, and hence not so remunerative as heretofore. The price of cotton is low because of the increase in the yield of the crop, and the increase in the yield of the crop is due to the fact that the cotton planters have been demoralized by the low prices of cotton. The cotton planters have been demoralized by the low prices of cotton, and the cotton planters have been demoralized by the low prices of cotton.

The trouble that has overtaken the North Carolina farmers is due to their folly in abandoning the crops suited to their locality, and going into the cotton raising business. Until they go back to first principles they will lose money, and when they devote their attention to grain and tobacco the "good time will come again." The cost of fertilizing per acre of cotton land in North Carolina knocks off all chance for profit.

ALABAMA NEWS.

Too much rain has fallen in Butler, Choctaw county, neighborhood. Tuscaloosa has three candidates for Probate Judge, up to date. The Treasury of Livingston has on hand $100. On Monday, 23d ult., Little George, a son of Major Wilcox of Carrollton, fell from the top of a high fence and broke his thigh. A Chapter of Royal Arch Masons has been organized at Abbeville, called Gordon Chapter, and the following are the names of the officers elected: Ward Blackledge, H. P.; A. C. Jordan, J. M. Thornton, S.; J. E. Price, G. H. J. B. Applegate, Treasurer; J. V. Stokes, Secretary; J. A. Craven, P. S.; J. B. Grice, R. A.; C. J. Levi Parham, M. 3d V.; Wm. J. Williams, M. 2d V.; E. T. Huddleston, M. 1st V.; Wm. S. Corbitt, Sentinel.

the late G. M. Parker, met with a horrible death last Saturday which is thus described by the Register: Saturday last, in the evening young Parker went to play with some friends in a neighborhood yard, for the purpose of his grandfather, Mr. Geo. W. Russell, on Dauphin way. There was at that time and in that yard a large kettle set over a fire on the ground, in which home-made soup was boiling, and while running to and fro, either by slipping or running against one of his comrades, Little Parker fell backward into the boiling liquid which was running over the poor body back to her home. Medical assistance was soon procured, but nothing could avail, and the little sufferer—who would have been only ten years old in a few months—at once became himself aware of his approaching end, and, amidst the most excruciating tortures, not a cry, not a tear, escaped him, and the only words he spoke were of gentle consolation to his despairing mother and relatives, and, above all, in exhortation of his little companions, whom he excused from any blame or participation in the dreadful calamity.

Capt. Herr, of the Livingston Journal, has accepted a part of his salary in Sumner county of Gen. Joe Johnston's history of his campaigns. Mr. Wiley B. Woods, formerly Treasurer of Pickens county, recently married Miss Jennie Crockett, of DaValls Bluff, near the mouth of the Savannah.

Mr. Joe Hall one of the most successful planters in Greene county, has planted this year twenty acres of wheat more than at any time since the war.

Fresh eggs are selling in Tuscaloosa at 12 cents per dozen, and nice butter at 25 cents per pound. Red-proof cats are giving great satisfaction in the Eutaw section of country.

DIED—At the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Joseph, Esq., at Oakfield, Fla., on the 13th day of February last, Col. RUSSELL P. MCCORD, late of Lowndes county, Ala., in the eighty-second year of his age.

The deceased was born in Richland District, South Carolina, 1792. He served in the war of 1812, and subsequently in the legislatures of both of South Carolina and Alabama, at a time when it was an honor to be a member of the General Assembly. He was a man of a most modest, man, seldom referring to incidents calculated to give prominence to himself, but the appreciation, warm friendship and intimacy of such men as John C. Calhoun, Dixon H. Lewis and William R. King bore witness to his high standing as a citizen while the high esteem in which he was held by Bishop Cobbs was an index to the excellence of his moral worth.

Col. McCord belonged to a generation of men of which there are but few traces left—men of the old school of integrity, gentleness and social and political virtues stand out in marked and prominent contrast with the shortcomings of the public men of these degenerate days, to whom the lives of such men as Col. McCord is too signal a rebuke for their virtue to continue to be given prominence.

Earth never received the body of a nobler spirit. He and his devoted wife lie side by side in their rest in peace. Their labors and their virtues are ended, and the pure example they have left for emulation is a monument to the rising generation. Their highest praise is that they lived and died worthy of each other.

Indigestion Alleviated.

There are many distressing symptoms of disease the cause of which are uncertain. Debility, nervous irritation, mental stupor and headache, for instance, may possibly be symptomatic of chronic diseases in some particular organ; yet, in a large majority of cases at least, they arise from indigestion, and are cured by a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. This is the case in a few cases of indigestion. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will usually effect a complete cure, but should the malady be more complicated, and the patient entirely removed by a brief course of the remedy, let it be continued until every trace of the disease has vanished. Dyspepsia is a wonderful malle. It indicates with startling accuracy the indications of heart disease, brain disease, kidney disease, and half a dozen other trifling ailments, and when the doctors have solemnly announced the existence of one or other of these complaints, half a dozen doses of the Bitters will, in most cases, explode their theories by curing the patient.

Mrs. M. A. Taylor has six furnished rooms for rent.

Joe Robinson received this morning a lot of superior Savannah river Shad. Call early, or you will fail to get one.

The Supreme Court meets to-day, and after reading some opinions, will probably adjourn en die.

Any one having a copy of Appleton's Journal, monthly part, Oct. 1871, can sell it to R. W. Offutt.

Messrs. Herbert & Murphree, attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bankhead advertise sale of valuable property in and near Wetumpka.

Some days ago a statement was made in these columns that Mr. Richards, a well-known Knoxville iron man, would settle at Prattville. He will, however make Briarfield, instead of Prattville, the scene of his operations, as some fine works are already there, and by proper effort can be made valuable and profitable.

Passengers from Selma and West Alabama for Mobile, and those from Mobile to Selma, and other points West of this city, make close connection at the junction near the Mobile road work shops. There is no delay either way, and this statement is made to correct misapprehension arising from former notice of the recent change of schedule.

The Head Notes of Decisions of the Supreme Court, rendered at the present term, will be ready for delivery in a day or two after adjournment. They have been carefully revised by the Judges. In addition to the Head Notes there will be an index of cases, and of subjects treated, properly and conveniently arranged. Price $2.00. Orders sent to the ADVERTISER, will receive prompt attention.

From Mr. Isaac Heyman, just from Washington, we learn that there was no actual collision between Congressmen Pelham, Judge Busted and nephew last Saturday. Pelham was in the Ebbitt House, and as the Judge walked in some words arose between them; but there was no encounter. On Monday there was a little difficulty, which was telegraphed that night, growing out of the hot words of Saturday. The fuss on Monday was entirely between Pelham and young Busted.

A gentleman by the name of Thomas Gilson, of Baltimore, was knocked from the track of the Western Railroad, near the foot of Commerce street, by a switch engine, at a late hour last evening and very badly hurt. He is a man of fair complexion, but the character of his bruises was such that when our reporter saw him he was as black in the face as an Ethiopian. He says that he has relatives here or near, and frequently called upon the name of his sister. He was temporarily conveyed to the City Hospital, where medical assistance was rendered him.

Mr. H. W. Clark, Department Secretary and manager in Alabama for the Southern Life Insurance Company, one of the oldest in the country, has a few words to say to the people this morning. No company deserves greater recognition at the hands of our people than this one. It is a sound institution, safely managed and prompt in payment of any losses that may befall it. The beautiful Masonic Temple in this city is one of the evidences of the means by which some of its capital is utilized, for without its aid that splendid building would most probably not have been greeted. While some other large companies have withdrawn from the field the Southern Life Insurance continues, and is anxious to extend its business. Reliable agents are wanted to whom liberal terms will be granted. Address H. W. Clark, Montgomery, Alabama.

The firm of Harwell, Jackson & Co. is dissolved, by the withdrawal of the veteran auctioneer, Mason Harwell, who has been engaged in the business here for more than a quarter of a century. During all that time his name has been synonymous with fair dealing and prompt attention. He has taken an office on Commerce street, over his successors, where he will conduct a real estate business.

For his successors, Capt. James Jackson, so long and so favorably connected with the Montgomery and Eufaula Railroad, and Mr. A. S. Cowan, formerly of Union Springs, we can only say that they are as reliable and prudent business men as any in our community, and deserve the liberal patronage which they are receiving. Goods placed in their hands are sure to realize the best possible prices, and returns are immediate and satisfactory. Success to them to their utmost expectations.

Montgomery has a most excellent J. P., whose fulfiller of fun than any body's J. P. Not long since he was called upon, so the story goes, to marry a couple and, this was the way he managed the affair. We will call the couple Mr. Smith and Mrs. Jones.

"Mr. Jones," said the J. P., "you do solemnly swear that the contents of this license are just and true to the best of your knowledge and belief?" "I do," was the response. "Miss Jones," continued the J. P., "you are arranged before this honorable court charged with the grave offense of matrimony—are you guilty?" "I do," was the soft and modest reply. "Then join your right hands. Now, what man hath joined together, let not God put asunder. I pronounce you man and wife. Salute your bride!" And the salutation was cordially accomplished. "Now Bill," said the J. P., to his constable "make out the mittimus. These persons must not be released on their own recognizance. Who cares if the county do feed 'em."

MERRY PURIM.

BEAUTY, BRILLIANCY AND BLOOM.

MASQUES AND MASQUERS.

The ladies of the Hebrew Benevolent Society did their work so rapidly and so well that long before nightfall yesterday they had the Theatre decorated and adorned as a bride for her husband. The flooring was already down, so that the chief work to be accomplished was that of adornment. Festoons of cedar and vine, from which brilliant artificial peeped out like stars from a clear blue sky, spanned the entire circumference of the dress circle. On each support of circle and gallery hung comic figures of men and women in grotesque masquerade, and splendid flower-crowned garlands of cedar, bay and magnolia. Chinese lanterns glittered freely from their vernal surroundings, and red, white and blue draperies floated gracefully beneath. The music stand, arranged for the special comfort and convenience of the dancers, filled one section of the dress circle and here was the throne of that incarnation of the dance—Prof. Geo. F. McDonald, master of the ceremonies. At this point, before it escapes our memory, we will state the fact that this is the tenth consecutive Purim ball of the thirteen held in this city, over which Prof. McD., has presided in this all-important capacity. The Committee of Arrangements in whose charge the various preliminaries were confided, consisted of Mrs. J. Hausman, Chairman, Mrs. J. Loeb, Mrs. L. Jonas, Mrs. H. Strassburger, Mrs. A. Moog and Mrs. L. Lemle. Without devoting further time or space to description, therefore, it is only necessary to add that, there is so much genius and fine taste were united in one committee, it was impossible that the arrangements should have been other than perfect. But they had able assistance nevertheless, for when Merry Purim calls there are no laggards in the work of preparation.

The reception committee consisted of David Weil, chairman, and Messrs. J. Hausman, A. Strassburger, J. Roswald, J. Loeb, Jr., H. Moore, E. Liebenstein and Dr. B. E. Jacobs.

The examining committee consisted of Messrs. H. Weil, L. Lemle, L. Waldman and J. Kohn.

The floor managers were Messrs. E. H. Jacob, L. Loeb, L. Marx, F. Marx, W. Sondheim, E. Ezekiel, A. Moog, L. Goldman, A. Hirscher and H. W. Bernheim.

All the members of these various committees were distinguished by suitable badges, and all performed their allotted parts to the complete satisfaction of the hundreds who shared their attentions.

At an early hour vast crowds began to flock towards the brilliantly lighted Theatre from all directions. By nine o'clock the dress circle and boxes were filled—all ages, and sexes being fully represented. The masques numbered about one hundred, and consisted generally of a lion or muslin shield or visor and a fanciful dress made up to suit the whim, fancy or caprice of the wearer. One fellow represented a goblin with horns, pitchfork and tail all complete. Another represented a whiskey bottle corked and sealed. A "carpet bagger," clad in the traditional habiliments of the "down eastern" and plentifully supplied with brass, capered along as carelessly and as happy as such characters generally are. We noticed also a boot-black, a half dozen backwoodsmen, "the commissioner of Industrial Resources," an insurance agent, a modern bankrupt whose assets were his wife's and whose liabilities were his own, a candidate for office, a Highlander, a Turkoman, and a high priest, among the male forms; and a Vivandiere, a princess, a peasant, "Mad. DeGraft," "Maud Muller," Washer-women, Spinsters, Mothers-in-law, a Quakeress, and various other masks among the ladies. At 9:30 Prof. McDonald called the house to order and initiated "the pleasures of the evening," with a grand march, to which the Montgomery Silver Cornet Band furnished the accompanying music, and which was led we believe, by the members of the society. This followed the dancing which consisted of Waltzes, Quadrilles, Polkas, Schottisches, Mazurkas, Galops, Lancers, etc., and lasted until the mystic hour of twelve. At that hour Chief Justice Peters, by request, presented a fan to Mrs. E. Liebenstein, who represented "the school girl," and a cane to Mr. S. Meyer, who represented "the tailor," as the prizes for superior merit in their several and respective parts.

Dr. Jacobs then made a brief but interesting address introductory of the tableau representative of the crowning of Queen Esther in the presence of her Lord and King, Ahasuerus. This was a beautiful conception, and splendidly executed. Miss Sarah Guggenheim, one of the fairest and loveliest of the daughters of Montgomery, represented the Queen, and Mr. Harris Guter, the King. Pending the act of crowning, a Seraph, represented by a little daughter of Mr. George Johnston, descended from above to bless and sanctify the Coronation. This splendid scene received the warmest applause of the large and appreciative audience.

Capt. Cox, of the Delmonico, provided a supper in the usual handsome style of that splendid establishment to which all the hungry did ample justice. After supper the vast throng gradually melted away until all were gone.

"HOUSEKEEPER" OF HEALTH? The liver being the great depurating or blood cleansing organ of the system, it is the most important of our health, and the most corrupt, which grew in the blood, and rot out, as it were, the machinery of life, are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is a small daily dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are pre-eminent in the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimples, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kind heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poison that lurk in the system are by their perserverance and continued use, and the most talented systems may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great purgatives.

DOCTORS COULDN'T HELP HIM. MEIGSVILLE, Morgan Co., March 24th, 1872.

Dear Dr. Pierce:—When I was 12 or 15 years ago I took what is called Golden Medical Discovery, and it cured me of a most distressing kind of skin disease. It would heal in one place and break out in another. It also broke out in my left ear. I first found your name in the Christian Advocate, and sent 10 miles for the first bottle, which did me more good than all other medicines I ever used. I am 28 years old and doctored with five doctors, and not one of them helped me so much as your bottle of Discovery. I have got well and am doing a good deal of work.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Reported by the Associated Press for the Montgomery Daily Advertiser.

WASHINGTON, March 3.

The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections heard the closing argument in the Spencer and Sykes contest. Gen. Morgan spoke two hours for Sykes and Chandler the same for Spencer.

The Howard court of enquiry has adjourned to March 10th. Senate.—Fenton presented a memorial from a large number of leading business men of New York expressing alarm at the unlawful action of the Secretary of the Treasury in issuing the reserves. They say that never before had any civilized government resorted to putting out un redeemable paper currency in times of peace, and ask Congress to immediately prohibit the Secretary from issuing any more of the reserve, and to withdraw at once the amount issued to this date. Referred to Committee on Finance.

Fenton said the signers to the memorial represented at least $500,000,000. West submitted a resolution instructing the Committee on Contingent Expenses to inquire as to the propriety of furnishing each Senator with a copy of the text book, published by W. H. & O. H. Morrison; also, including the national banking laws, and information concerning the public debt.

West moved to postpone the Centennial bill and take up the army appropriation bill. Sherman suggested that the Centennial bill could be disposed of in an hour, and then the finance resolution, which had been postponed until today, should be proceeded with.

Summer advocated proceeding with the appropriation bill, and expressed the belief that if Congress went into the Centennial it would result in an expenditure of $30,000,000.

The motion of West was lost—yes 16, no 30.

Current said that to-morrow, when Senator Morton, who was now detained from the chamber by indisposition, would be present, he would ask to take up his Louisiana bill for the purpose of making his promised remarks.

Hamilton, of Maryland, gave notice of his intention to submit some remarks upon Louisiana affairs.

Centennial business was discussed to adjournment.

House.—Bill to secure homesteads to actual settlers on the public domain, was amended by adding a proviso, that no oath should be required of any one desiring to secure a homestead, except the oath to support the Constitution of the United States. This was mainly for the benefit of the people of the Southern States, who under existing laws requiring the taking of the Iron Clad Oath, cannot avail themselves of the benefit of the pre-emption laws.

The bill also repeals the pre-emption laws. It is further amended by a proviso that all lands granted to railroads for the transportation of freight and passengers, and to be sold to the public, shall be sold in all cases where such roads have failed to comply with the conditions of the grants. The bill was then passed as amended.

The House took under consideration the bill reported from the Committee on Railroads and Canals, to regulate commerce by railroad, among the several States, and which proposes to prevent the imposition of unreasonable rates, and to prohibit discrimination of rates. It provides for a board of commissioners to be appointed by the President, who are to institute a thorough investigation, and inquire into the rates for toll and compensation charged for transporting freight and passengers, and into the reasonableness thereof. The commissioners are to fix for each railroad line a separate schedule, of reasonable maximum rates of charges for the transportation of freight and passengers, and cars loaded and unloaded, and the railroad companies are to be bound by these rates. Speeches were made by McCrary, of Iowa, in support of the bill, and by Aaron of Kentucky, against it. The bill is a special order from day to day.

Among the decisions of the Supreme Court to-day, were the following: In the case of Chaffee and others against the United States, brought to recover the penalty prescribed by the forty eighth section of the Internal Revenue Act, June 30th 1864, against the plaintiff in error for having failed to pay the duties on cigars for the purpose of sale, with design of avoiding duties imposed thereon, the court reversed the judgment of conviction on various grounds of evidence, and for the following error of instruction to the jury. "In this case of cases the Government need only prove the defendants presumptively guilty, and the duty devolves on them to establish their innocence and if not they are guilty beyond any doubt or shadow. On this point it is held that the error is palpable and all the authorities condemn it. It sets at naught established principles, and justifies the criticism of counsel, that it substitutes the opinion of the jury for the opinion of the court. Field, delivered the opinion in the case.

In the case of Bullard, trustee, against the National Eagle Bank, of Boston, the Court held that a National Bank, organized under the act of 1864, cannot be a creditor of the bank, and that its shareholders by virtue of articles of association or by-laws. This reaffirms the decision against Lantz in 11th Wallace, page 363. Mr. Justice Sutherland delivered the opinion, and Mr. Justice Clifford dissented.

Probabilities.—For the south Atlantic and eastern Gulf States, fresh to brisk southerly winds, veering to westerly, partly cloudy weather and probable light rain in the western Gulf States; light rains to-night, but winds veering to west and north on Wednesday, with falling temperature, clearing weather, and in Texas probably a norther.

BUFFALO, March 3.

The Condition of Ex-President Fillmore is unchanged since last night.

NEW YORK, March 3.

At an early hour this morning a murder and suicide occurred in Prince street, between two partners in business named Anthony Borlie, and Peter Taroline. They were formerly in with another named Scarli Borli, who did not attend properly to business which was a source of continual quarrels between him and the other partners who bought him out two months ago. Borli and Taroline met a week ago and quarreled. They did not meet again until to-day. As they were going to work they quarreled, when Borli drew a revolver and shot Taroline in the breast, after which he shot himself in the head, both men being instantly killed.

tion by the people. Democrats profess equal confidence in the success of Mr. Weston.

GRANGERS' COLUMN.

The Rural Carolinian.

The March number of the Rural Carolinian is on our table, with its characteristic promptness. This number, like its predecessors, is replete with information which makes its regular monthly visits so welcome to the home of the farmer. The articles generally emanate from the pens of practical farmers, whose familiarity with the subjects on which they treat is portrayed in every line and word. We give the titles of a few of the leading articles in the number before us: Labor-Saving Machinery on the Farm; Some Methods of Irrigation (Illustrated); Ploughs and Ploughing Again; Dignity of Labor and the Importance of Knowledge; Hints towards Rational Farming; What can be done in North Carolina; Acid Phosphate and Cotton Seed Compost, etc. Besides the several departments of the Magazine are likewise filled with useful information, making the Rural, as we have often said, the most valuable agricultural publication issued in the Southern States. The terms are $2 per annum; or Clubs of six, $10 per year; Clubs of ten, $16; Clubs of twenty, $30. Address the Publishers at Charleston, S. C., who will furnish all information desired, as regards terms for Carriers, Agents and the two beautiful Chromos, which are offered to subscribers at exceedingly low prices—less than one-quarter their cost at retail. The Carolinian and Weekly Advertiser will be furnished for $3.50 per year.

Analyzing Fertilizers.

The following circular letter from Prof. W. C. STUBBS, Professor of Chemistry in the State Agricultural and Mechanical College at Auburn will prove of interest to the planting community:

There has been established, in connection with the Laboratory of this College, an Analytical Department, and I am now prepared to analyze Guano, Fertilizers, Soils, Ashes, Waters, Minerals and Paints; to make assays of Gold, Silver, and other ores; also, to make examination of Wines, Liquors, Adulterations of Food, cases of suspected poisoning, &c.

Being in the employment of an Institution whose main object is the dissemination of such knowledge as will lead to the development of the Agricultural and Mineral resources of our own State, I hereby promise to make any analysis for its citizens at a very moderate charge—especially Soils and Fertilizers, Iron Ores and Coal.

Price list for analyses furnished upon application.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM C. STUBBS,
Professor of Chemistry, &c.

Prof. STUBBS is thoroughly competent to the discharge of the duties set forth above. At various times we expect to give the result of some of his labors to the readers of the ADVERTISER.

The Grange Movement in Russell County.—The Order Prospering.

A correspondent, G. F. A., furnishes the Columbus Enquirer the following, showing how the Grange movement is sweeping over Russell county, Alabama.

"The Patrons of Husbandry are sweeping all over Russell. We have about fourteen Granges, with a membership of between seven and nine hundred, and there is no stop in the great movement."
"Col. S. S. Scott, of the Executive Committee of the Grange, in addition to his heavy duties as chairman of that committee, has been making speeches all over the county." He has, in the last few weeks, addressed the people upon matters pertaining to the agricultural interests of the country, at Society Hill, Traywick's cross-roads, Hartselle, Andrew Chapel, Uchee, Hartselle, &c. This eloquent and accomplished speaker and gentleman is well posted in the work of the Order, and his aid and counsel to the several Granges he has visited have placed them in good trim and thorough working order. He certainly deserves the praise and gratitude of the Patrons in this section."
