THE BARBER SHOP and hair dressing establishment of late Henry Hines will be carried on as heretofore at the same place, for the interest of his family. His step-son, Eddie Dickens, whom every body knows and respects, will be in charge and will do his utmost to give satisfaction to patrons, both old and new.

Grover and Baker Sewing Machine Company have removed to Lakin's Photograph building, up stairs 40 Market street, where Machines and attachments can be had. Sewing Machines repaired at short notice.

The tables of the Opelika House are now abundantly supplied, and the convenience of the house to the trains affords travelers every means of getting excellent meals. Trains give ample time.

Get your Photographs taken in the Rembrandt style at Lakin's gallery Market street.

County Warrants bought at the Freedmen's Savings Bank.

The mail for Selma can now reach that city via the S. & N. Road to Calera and thence via the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad.

The steamer Mary carried away large numbers of water-bound passengers last evening. Her well-peopled decks reminded us of old times.

Better understand this matter at once. The Firemen's Parade takes place on the third Wednesday in April—the 15th day of the month.

Call at Joe Scoggins', under the Central Bank building, and get a good shave. Joe is perfect master of his art.

Numerous robberies occurred Thursday night, one or two on a large scale. The business appears to be getting fashionable.

A meeting of the Board of Representatives, of the Fire Department, is called for to-night, at 7 o'clock, at H. and L. rooms.

There is no hotel in the South which can show a better table, all the year round than our old Exchange. Such an institution is something to be proud of—and to sustain liberally.

Geo. H. Patrick, formerly of this city, has been summoned to appear before the Busted investigating committee, in Washington, D. C., as a witness.

Ladies, when they go to LeGrand & Co's should ask for the bargain counter. All goods placed there are sold at rates guaranteeing great bargains to purchasers.

All the freight in the Express office for Selma was shipped via Calera to its destination, and all for Mobile and New Orleans was sent to Decatur and thence to Corinth.

The M. & M. railroad bridges over the Catoma and Pintlala creeks are both safe and sound. The embankments are somewhat washed but the damage will be speedily repaired.

From farmers we understand a considerable amount of land prepared for corn and cotton will have to be bedded over. It is fortunate that the freshet came as early as it did, as there is still ample time in which to prepare.

A few nights ago some negroes went under the residence of Dr. Bellinger, who lives at the southern limit of the city and out open a bag of cotton, which he had stored there, and took out about 250 pounds of it and brought it to town for sale. It is to be hoped that the robbers will be caught and punished.

Mr. Shingle will certainly search for that "barrel of apples" at the Theatre to-night. The high water has "played hot" with Mr. Owens' more proximate calculations. But Greenville has profited by it, and so doubtless has he, except in a pecuniary sense.

"Horse-shoe" begins to pass more freely. This is right. It is a safe investment, and will certainly be paid at maturity or absorbed in dues and taxes. By the way, we hear it said that the "Horse-shoes" on the back of the obligations were placed there in honor of a late citizen of Montgomery—Mr. Ned Hanrick.

If you use the Indian weed, whether as smoker or chewer, call on Mr. W. M. Beall, at LeGrand's tobacco emporium, on Commerce street, and get some of the best cigars and finest plug in the State. Mr. Beall has had so much experience in that fragrant merchandise that he will know just what you want, and from the large and varied stock always on hand, can supply that want to a "T." Retail dealers can make as good bargains with Mr. Beall as they can with any dealer in any Southern city.

The steamer Mary, Capt. Quinn, one of the handsomest crafts on the river, was at the wharf all day yesterday. She generally runs no higher than Selma, but extended her trip this time to the Capital city. As she was making a landing her prow for a few moments was heading up Commerce street and it looked as if she intended to come right along to the Exchange where she was sure of good treatment and hearty welcome. We hope the officers found the trip here pleasant and profitable. All the passengers for Mobile and beyond, who were here water bound got on board of her and proceeded to their destination.

The Catoma Creek bridge on the road leading by Judge Bibb's plantation to Hayneville is safe, and persons were crossing it with teams yesterday. The water was even with the abutments of the bridge, but falling rapidly. The bridge across Pintlala, on the same road, and which separates Lowndes and Montgomery counties, was washed away on Tuesday night. It was comparatively a new bridge. The water in Pintlala was higher than in many years past. A bridge over Steep creek, in Lowndes county, in the Chappell neighborhood, about 14 miles south of this city, was also washed away.

The following is an extract from a letter a friend has kindly written us from the "upper country":

Dear Advertiser:— I have a letter from my Atlanta paper informs me that Nellie Grant is married in April to a mulatto-chopped Englishman. You have no idea how sleepless have been my nights—how ghostly have been my unslumbering pillow since the fatal news has reached me. I got reckless. The demon of jealousy entered my tender heart, and I took out five cents from my plethoric breeches pocket and had a glorious spree on a pile of "goobers." Nothing has been equal to it since the night Alexander got on a bender at Babylon.

Yours, truly,

Western Railroad.

WESTERN R. R., March 21, 1874. The Passenger Trains of this road (Eastern Division), will resume their regular schedule to-day:

Mail and passenger, arriving at Montgomery at..... 6:45 a. m. Mail and passenger leaving Montgomery at..... 9:25 a. m. Accommodation train arriving at Montgomery..... 11:23 p. m. Accommodation train leaving Montgomery at..... 4:50 p. m. C. P. BALL, Supt.

J. W. Shepherd, Esq., solicitor for Montgomery Mutual Building and Loan Association, advertises sale of property on the 20th of April.

Mr. Lou. Coupee and his wife, of this city, were born on the same day of the same month of the same year, and within one hundred yards of each other. Is there another couple in the United States of whom this may be affirmed?

BARGAIN COUNTER.—We have established a bargain counter in our Dry Goods Department, at which counter goods will be sacrificed—look for it when you enter the stores.

LEGRAND & CO. mar20lww Temple Stores.

A train went out on the Montgomery and Bufala Railroad yesterday, with expectation of going as far as Union Springs. No other trains went out on any of the other roads, except the South and North, which has been as regular as clock work, and always on time.

It is said that the investigating committee in the Spencer-Sykes case will hold another meeting to-day or Monday to re-consider their former decision excluding oral testimony. If so it bodes the little fat fellow no good. New Hampshire has given the wire workers a good scare.

And now comes a singular phenomenon. In the yard of Keplinger's Pickery, 100 yards from the river, when the latter is at low water state, there is a well 55 feet deep. Ever since the river has been so high, over the water has been pouring into this well in a stream as large as a man's body, but without producing any appreciable difference in the depth of water in it.

The April number of Lippincott's Magazine has been received. Its table of contents, as usual is rich and varied in all the departments to which it is devoted. Its illustrations are fine and suggestive. This magazine from the first number has continued to improve, and it would be difficult for any magazine in the old or new country to surpass it. Copies can be procured at Offutt's.

A little boy called at this office yesterday with a note for Mr. B.— The senior editor told him to go into the composing room and hand it to the ugliest man he could find. But the little wretch went home and told his Ma that "the ugliest man he saw was the man who told him to give the note to the ugliest man!" If that urchin comes here again he will get his name in the papers.

Perfect crowds of people stand at the foot of Commerce street all day long to muse over the six continuous miles of water spread out before them. As some leave, others take their places, and thus the crowd is kept up. Quite a number of ladies visit the scene every day. It reminds one of the York, just below Yorktown, except that the York is clear as crystal and the Alabama is not.

From passengers who reached the city last evening from Greenville, we learned the following facts: The regular train for this city left Mobile on time last Sunday night. Everything was right until about 8 o'clock Monday morning, when the engine passed over a culvert safely, but the tender was turned up side down, the trucks followed, the trucks being left in the wash and the cars smashed up. The ladies car, fortunately, stopped just on the edge of the wash, the trucks having filled up the wash. The sleeping cars, too, escaped injury. Being thus disabled, there was no chance for further progress. Conductor Howard went back to Greenville for assistance, and while he was gone there was a break between the train and Greenville. The passengers, however, got back to that place as best they could, and remained until Friday morning. Conductor Howard did all he could for the comfort of his passengers. Fortunately not a single person on the train was injured.

Yesterday morning Conductor Howard and his passengers put out from Greenville in wagons, and reached Teat's, seven miles this side of Greenville. Here they met a hand-car, which carried them about one and half miles when they met a car and engine, and which was in that locality, and which took them to Pintlala. They came over Pintlala bridge and trestling, in a hand-car. The bridge is all right, but the trestling is washed, but will be all right to-night. Here they met a train from Montgomery, which went out about noon, and reached this city about six p. m. The Catoma bridge was perfect.

Among the passengers were John B. Owens, and wife, Rev. G. N. Reinbolt, Supervisor of Catholic Seminary, at Dayton, Ohio, Mr. L. Fries, of New York, Mr. J. T. Milner and Dr. H. M. Caldwell, of Greenville.

From all we can learn, trains will run regularly over the M. & M. road after to-day, as the repairs have been going on very rapidly.

John W. Hughes, Esq., Register in Chancery, has a legal notice of importance in this morning's issue.

The New York Herald heads its account of the horse disease, which is interfering with horse-car travel in that city, thusly: "Sick" Transit."

Col. Ball announces, the resumption of travel on the Western road, Atlanta Division. It will probably be resumed to Selma, this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

We learn that the agent of Vivian Vernet, the very popular young actress, has made arrangements for her appearance in this city, sometime in May. Although not known in the South, she is said to be an actress of great talent and beauty.

The Red Cross degree was conferred by Montgomery Commandery last evening on a gentleman (Mr. George F. Moore of Rockford) who had walked twenty-five miles (Shorter's Station on the Western Railroad, to receive it. A man of that much pluck and energy, cannot fail to make a faithful and gallant Sir Knight.

A game of base ball was played at base ball grounds, Perry street yesterday with the following result:

Picked Nine.—John T. Maxwell, M. C. Davis, Thomas Judge Jr., S. Matthews, Stokes, J. Groff, T. Brown, J. Roberts and E. Hogan—Score 52.

Pastimes.—Tom Offutt, D. Young, R. Ware, E. Smithworth, S. Sykes, C. Murphy, P. Smith, G. Harris and W. Dowse—Score 57.

The City Court on yesterday, was engaged chiefly in the trial of several cases of the State vs. Wolfe, charged with carrying on a lottery, or some other of the many devices and contrivances in this city for obtaining money of the unwary and incautious. Rice, Jones & Wiley and Herbert & Murphy represented the Defendant and R. H. Knox, the State. In the first case there was a verdict of "not guilty." Several others the Solicitor not pressed, while at a late hour last night the Jury was out on still another.

We regret that no larger audience attended the performance at the theatre, by the Owens Combination, last evening, because a company so talented deserve better at the hands of an appreciative public. In the "Lady of Lyons" Mr. Pitou sustained the character of "Claude Melnotte." Miss Noe that of "Pauline" and Mr. Pearson that of Gen. Damas, excellently well and were received with much appreciation.

To-night we are to have the veritable "Solon Shingle." Mr. Owens having reached the city last evening. He is said to be in fine spirits—notwithstanding the floods. His "resting spell" has benefited him greatly, and that benefit will be reflected from the stage to-night.

By special request the company will this afternoon repeat Buckstone's great comedy "Married Life." This will give the ladies and little ones, a good opportunity, to see a fine play, by a first rate company.

The adjourned meeting of the Montgomery Industrial Aid Association assembled at the Exchange Hotel last evening, Mr. Holmes in the chair. The Secretary Mr. Foster, read the minutes of the last meeting, which were adopted. Dr. Paul C. Lee from the special committee, reported the By Laws which were ordered prepared by the committee. The Association is to be known as the Montgomery Industrial Aid Association. He also reported that the declaration of incorporation had been filed. A communication was read by the President which was addressed to him by Captain John G. Winter, setting forth that he had examined the copy of the articles of incorporation, and that he did not think the law was fully complied with, in respect to the signing required by the incorporators.

Dr. Lee explained that the original paper on file at the Capitol had been signed by the incorporators, and that the one at the Probate office, to which the objection applied, was a copy. There was considerable discussion over the articles of organization, approaching to a white heat.

The report of the committee was then received, and the stock was transferred to those present who desired.

The by-laws were then adopted, and the following officers elected: President.—Hon. David C. C. Holmes. First Vice-President.—Capt. Geo. B. LeGrand. Second Vice-President.—Dr. M. P. Pollard. Third Vice-President.—Col. Chas. T. Pollard. Fourth Vice-President.—A. Beecher. Fifth Vice-President.—A. A. Janney. Secretary and Treasurer.—T. G. Foster.

An Executive Committee was elected, consisting of the following gentlemen: P. C. Lee, J. A. Norton, M. L. Moses, S. Kirtland and A. Howard.

Mr. DeWilde, of New York, was invited to address the Association, and did so in an earnest and eloquent manner, which was warmly applauded. The meeting then adjourned until Tuesday evening next.

The Late James Dinsmore.

Editors Advertiser: As one of the former comrades of James Dinsmore, the writer of this brief notice desires to say a word more of him than has been said in the announcement of his death. One of the saddest feelings of our time is experienced in watching the quietness with which the soldiers of the Lost Cause are dropping by the wayside, and the apparent little heed that is taken of their departure. It is not that the people for whom they fought are ungrateful or unkind, but in the battle of life left to the survivors in this desolate South, few have time to pause for more than a passing regret for the fallen. As our great leaders in the struggle pass away, justice is done; but the quiet and unobtrusive, yet faithful and earnest soldier, whose deeds live only in the traditions of the campfire, has but too frequently his only requiem in the sighs of those who have been his immediate companions.

James Dinsmore was one of those soldiers. With no hope or ambition for fame; with no personal incoherence or sense of patriotism, he took his place in the ranks. Those who knew him in the march of dust and heat, and rain and cold, in the bivouac of snow and hunger, and in the smoke of battle, from Perryville to Bentonville, say he did his duty well. No more prompt, fearless or unselfish man is numbered among our Confederate dead. Let the flowers fall on his grave along with those strewn for heroes gone before.
