THE ARLINGTON—Major W. T. Walball of Mobile, well known as a gentleman of high culture and fine literature attainments, will deliver a lecture before this Association on Monday evening the 18th inst. His subject is "The Bourbon Mystery," and the members of the Arlington have a fine treat in store.

We had a very pleasant call yesterday from Mr. King, agent and correspondent of "Our Freeland Friend," published in Chicago. Mr. King has traveled in the South so long that he has almost acquired the right to be classed as native here and to the manner born, if men born elsewhere could acquire that right. He represents an excellent family newspaper, and we wish him success in spreading its circulation.

Keep your money at home. We have no currency here, because you send North for everything you want and much that you don't want. Neither inflation nor anything else will help a people who can't keep the currency after they get it. Now consider these things with an eye to business and when you want ice, buy it of the Home Protective Ice Company. Their ice is made in Montgomery, and the money paid for it is not sent away to enrich other communities at our expense. This patronizing of home institutions is the Philosopher's stone.

Dr. R. F. Michel delivered an admirable lecture before the Arlington, last evening, on the subject of the "Physician and his Vocation in Society," at the conclusion of which Mr. G. P. Keyes recited his fine poem "The Old Grave-digger." We were not present, but those who were, say that the lecture of Dr. M., was a perfect gem, and that if the Physicians live up to the standard fixed for the profession by the eloquent lecturer, men might point to them as they pass and proclaim them the "perfect and upright men," of whom the sweet singer of Israel once sung.

In introducing Mr. Keyes the President assured the audience that this illustration of the "eternal fitness of things," was wholly accidental, however natural it might seem that "the Physician and his Vocation," should be closely followed by "the old grave-digger."

At a late hour last evening while pondering, weak and weary, over many a quaint and curious item of this morning's store, a friend in need handed us the following note:

Dr. W. W. Keyes:—

Dear Sir:—Please accept the saucer of strawberries as a token of my esteem for you as an editor and a gentleman; and, in connection with the berries (which number only 27), I will state that I had an order filled, by that prince of nurserymen, R. D. Hunley, of Talladega, of two hundred and forty fruit trees, consisting of peaches, pears, apples and cherries, two dozen grapes, four Supperberries, and one thousand strawberry plants—cost, laid down by Express, of only $41.75. The strawberries, trees and grapes I had set out on the day after arrival. From the one thousand strawberry plants, my family have had, up to the present, eight or ten messes, and the vines are still bearing. I feel satisfied that by the 10th of June, twelve months, I shall be able to present you with a few fine peaches, of the above order, as one tree is now bearing.

I write you this merely to show what can be done in the way of fruit in so short a time.

Yours truly, E. G. MAULL.

The twenty-seven strawberries referred to, filled a large saucer heaping full. They averaged two and a half inches in circumference and were as ripe, ruddy and refreshing as—as well, as those soft kisses which cling on Beauty's lips and pouch to leave their kindest nest. Mr. Maull, to whose kindness we were indebted for the treat, is a successful planter, and also one of our leading grocery merchants. Accompanying the berries were sugar, cream, bowl, spoon, and everything else necessary to their proper appreciation. We have dwelt on this matter because Mr. Maull has hit upon one of the best of all plans to make his home cosy, comfortable and inviting—and there is much of the element of happiness in that.

Gas it is said can be lighted by frictional electricity, excited by a lady's ordinary fur muff. Thus: Place four tumblers, upside down, upon the floor or carpet, and upon these place a board or other substance to stand upon, within reach of the burner.

Upon this insulated board let a person stand, and a second person take the muff and rub it a number of times down the back of the coat of the first, by which he or she (if it be a lady with a woollen shawl on) will become charged with electricity sufficient to light the gas with the tip of the finger as effectually as if done with an ignited match.

To perform the experiment it will require three persons, one to turn on and off the gas, for if done by the person insulted and charged, he will not only receive a shock, but discharge the electricity before applying it to the gas.

Upon a number of persons can participate in the amusement at the same time by insulating themselves and joining hands.

Let the person of the muff be applied to the person farthest from the burner until all become charged, and the person at the other extreme can light the gas, all feeling a sensible shock at the time of lighting or discharging of the fluid.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Reported by the Associated Press for the Montgomery Daily Advertiser.

WASHINGTON, May 15.

The Committee on Claims considered the claim of the Southern Methodist Church Publishing Company, of Nashville, for nearly $500,000. No final action.

In the Senate the citizens of Mississippi petitioned the Government to take charge of the levees.

The bill referring the claim of the heirs of Stephen A. Douglass, to the Court of Claims, passed.

The bill for the relief of the Evangelist Churches of West Virginia passed. Edmunds gave notice that on Monday the Senator from New Jersey Frelinghuysen, would ask the Senate to resume the Civil Rights bill and dispose of it before taking up any other measure.

Clayton gave notice that on Monday he would call up the resolutions introduced by him on Tuesday to provide for the appointment of a committee of the Senate to proceed to Arkansas to investigate as to the condition of affairs there. The Senate bill for the relief of Hiram L. Love, was discussed at some length. It directs the Secretary of the Treasury, to pay Love five thousand dollars in full of all claims and demands against the United States for damages growing out of the destruction by the military forces of the United States in 1864 of the crop of cotton growing on the premises in Desha county Arkansas, leased by Love from the United States. Wright moved to amend the bill so as to appropriate twenty thousand dollars instead of five thousand. Chandler moved to recommit the bill. Gordon introduced a bill to remove the political disabilities of John Forsyth of Alabama. Judiciary.

The House Committee, five to three, voted in favor of Eads' jetty for the mouth of the Mississippi.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, a fraudulent and disorderly persons, pretending that Eliza Baxter, the present Executive of Arkansas, was not elected, have combined together with force and arms to resist his authority as such Executive and other authorities of said State; and whereas, the said Eliza Baxter has been declared duly elected by the General Assembly of said State as provided in the Constitution thereof, and has for a long period been exercising the functions of said office into which he was inducted according to the Constitution and laws of said State, and ought by its citizens to be considered as the lawful Executive thereof; and whereas, it is provided in the Constitution of the United States that the United States shall protect every State in the Union, on application of the Legislature, or of the Executive when the Legislature cannot be convened, against domestic violence; and whereas, said Eliza Baxter, under section 4 of article 4, of the Constitution of the United States and the laws passed in pursuance thereof, has heretofore made application to me to protect said State and the persons thereof against domestic violence; and whereas, the General Assembly of said State convened in extra session, at the Capital thereof, on the 11th inst., pursuant to a call made by said Eliza Baxter, and both houses thereof have passed a joint resolution also applying to me to protect the State against domestic violence; and whereas, it is provided in the laws of the United States that in all cases of insurrection in any State, or of obstruction to the laws thereof, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, on application of the Legislature of such State, or of the Executive when the Legislature cannot be convened, to employ such part of the land and naval forces as shall be judged necessary for the purpose of suppressing such insurrection, or causing the laws to be duly executed; and whereas, it states that whenever it may be necessary, in the judgment of the President, to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith, by proclamation, command such insurgents to disperse and retire peacefully to their respective homes within a limited time; now, therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do hereby make proclamation and command all turbulent and disorderly persons to disperse and retire peacefully to their respective abodes within ten days from this date, and hereafter to submit themselves to the lawful authority of said Executive and the other constituted authorities of said State, and invoke the aid and co-operation of all good citizens to uphold law and preserve public peace. In witness whereof, etc.

U. S. GRANT, President.

ATLANTA, May 15.

The Committee on Transportation of the Agricultural Congress to-day, reported that while recognizing the value of railroads and the necessity of a further extension, they deem the cost of transportation the crude products of the field, forest and mines so disproportionate to cost of water carriage as to render it the imperative duty of the United States Congress to improve the rivers in the interior, and connect them with the ocean by artificial ways giving the Mississippi Valley continuous water transit to the seaboard; that it is the duty of the Government to enter at once upon the work of constructing such artificial water ways adequate to the present prospective demands of inland installations of trade, until unrestricted channels of trade have been opened, not only through the Mississippi Valley, but connecting that river with the Atlantic ocean via the lake, via the Ohio and Kanawha and James river, and via the Atlantic and Great Western R. R. The Congress adopted unanimously a resolution that the Agricultural Congress, believes it to be within the power of the people to reform co-operative transportation systems by the same agencies that created them viz: State Legislation controlled by public opinion; that we are opposed to any legislation under the plea of regulating commerce between the States, which interferes with the authority heretofore exercised by the State over railroads. D. W. Yatt, of Aiken South Carolina, was appointed to memorialize Congress on the subject of revising the patent laws. The Committee on Solenoid and Industrial Education has reported, recommending that the Government to appropriate one half of the proceeds of the sale of public lands, to Agricultural Congresses, organized under the act of 1862, was unanimously adopted. Commissioners were appointed to present these subjects to Congress. Gen. Jackson was re-elected President, and C. W. Green Secretary amid enthusiasm. J. L. Trimmell was elected Vice-President for the District of Columbia. Cincinnati is selected as the next place of meeting. The citizens of Atlanta, gave the Congress a complimentary drive to the Fair Grounds, champagne toasts and a good time. The ladies and citizens were out generally. The Congress will adjourn at a late hour to-night.

LATER.—C. W. Green resigned and Geo. E. Morrow, editor of the Wisconsin Farmer, was elected. The next meeting will be held on the second Wednesday in September 1875. Adjourned sine die.
